Centralia Girl. Roy Simpson, a demonstrator with the Ford Automobile Company on Dundas street, is receiving congratulations on his wedding. Mr. Simp-son is much concerned over the congratulations as he is not a married man. Last week a Roy Simpson, of Centralia, was married, and the fact duly published. Since then all Mr. Simpson's friends in this city have been congratulating him. Both of the Simpsons are from Centralia, and it was the Simpson who stayed there who got married, and not the Simpson who left there, which is the one with the Ford Motor Company.

"I suppose by denying that I am married I will be congratulated again," said Mr. Simpson last night.

nounced Liberals had no reason to be ashamed of the showing made by Dr. Stevenson. He entered the fight at the last moment and was successful in making a showing that reflected great credit on himself and those who supported him. At the time he accepted the nomination the doctor referred to the local conditions, but voiced his determination to make a fight in London for Rowell and temperance. He did, and it was a good one.

Surprise to Conservatives.

As a matter of fact the election returns came as a surprise to the Conservatives. A Beck majority of 3,000 was figured on, and many of the Tory workers were laying odds on that figure. One of the features of the local campaign was its quietness. No public meetings were held by either candidate. Both parties relied on personal canvas, that was supplemented in the case of the Conservatives by the work of its machine, running at full blast, and the liquor in-

Dr. Stevenson Thanks Electors. After the result of the local election was known, Dr. W. J. Stevenson addressed the crowd outside The Advertiser office from one of the windows. He was given a rousing reception. He said:

"I want to thank you for the support you have given me in this election. When you consider the handicap against us, we should all feel proud of the result. When you analyze the figures and realize that the present position is just what it was six years ago, that they have made absolutely no progress, I think you will agree with me that we have every reason to feel pleased.

Praise for Clean Fight.

"I am extremely thankful for one thing; thank the newspapers especially for the fairness with which they have treat 1 me. We can all go back to work tomo 'row as though nothing has happened. "In this kind of an election there always should be a candidate in the field on either side, because under no other conditions do you have an opportunity to voice your sentiments at the polls. A fourteen hundred majority is nothing when you consider the strength of the forces opposed to us, and I, for one, am very pleased to have done so well. At least, I have put up a good fight, and you have stood by me loyally. I thank you. "One feature of the election result is especially gratifying. In my own subdivision I was given a good majority. Where I am best known the people gave me the preference.' Adam Beck Speaks.

Speaking from the window of the local Tory organ, Sir Adam' Beck referred to Sir James Whitney's return to power as an expression of gratitude of the divine Providence to the man who has given nine years in the service of his country. He stated that the abolition of the bar would never be an issue again in a political campaign, and that the people could do no better than leave the temperance policy to Sir James Whitney. . Says Tempenareemfwytaoizfletaoinoin Says Temperance People Will Crawl. Sir Adam insinuated that the temperance people would now come crawling to the Government, fearful that it would do away with the three-fifths clause. After expressing his own and Sir James Whitney's thanks to the electors he fervently expressed the hope that the bilingual issue would soon be a thing of the past.

In these days of Christian Science, erums, anti-toxins and New Thought, it takes a bold man to announce an entirely different yet very successful cure for suffering humanity. Not a cureall, however, be it understood, any more than the above-named. For instance, the new remedy is of no avail for broken bones, smallpox, rheumatism or even toothache; not to mention few hundred other disagreeable items.

But it is a fact that if only the mind can be agreeably diverted, many a suffering man or woman can be relieved and Nature allowed to do the work of rehabilitation without the disadvantage of worry and mental anxiety. And doctors and scientists both agree that in many cases, even of apparently serious diseases, if only the mind can be so diverted, even temporarily, that cures will naturally result.

At any rate, our cure can do you no harm, so if you are nervous or worried about anything, no matter how blue the prospect, just join our happy family of contestants in the Summer Pastime. Care will break away and the sun of peace and contentment shine forth for you 54 once more. It is open to all, young and 69 old, rich and poor, male and female; 32 and the daily results are fine with the 53 glorious future prospect. Come on in
