jesty's birthday was, as usual, held on 24th May, and the management of the amateur races was again entrusted to this association. It is gratifying to be able to report-that all the prizes in the amateur events were secured by members of this association. An unusual amount of interest was taken in the senior four coared race owing to the fact that the Burrard Inlet Rowing Club (which has not been represented here for two or three seasons) sent down a very formidable crew, who were confident of taking the handsome cup back to Vancouver, and who are entitled to every praise for their magnificent performance: but they found in a number of the senior four coared race owing to the fact that the Burrard Inlet Rowing Club (which has not been represented here for two or off the outer wharf and awaited the arrival high order, and excelled in the manufacture of a senior four of the outer wharf and awaited the arrival high order, and excelled in the manufacture of a senior four or five outer wharf and awaited the arrival high order, and excelled in the manufacture of a senior four or five outer wharf and awaited the arrival high order, and excelled in the manufacture of a senior four or five outer wharf and awaited the arrival high order, and excelled in the manufacture of a senior four or five outer wharf and awaited the arrival high order, and excelled in the manufacture of a senior four or five outer wharf and awaited the arrival high order, and excelled in the manufacture of a senior of five outer wharf and awaited the arrival high order, and excelled in the manufacture of same drums and other musical instructions. In these several capacities Mr. Beeton has rendered British Columbia and Canada generally ungrudging service, as is shown by the nominal allowance he willingly took from his government for the office of Agent. General. A decade ago British Columbia was little more than a name on the map-Captain Kanconver, the discoverer of the Psoific coast; and in recognition of such efforts, and the presentation of portraits of the gallant English explorer, and of the Marquis of Ripon, the present Colonial Sec-retary, Mr. Beeton was last year unanimous-of the province. Thus, when in 1883 it was felt that the growing importance of British Columbia demanded a fuller representation in England than had before existed, It will have been seen from our report of the province and experience gave him exceptional opportunities of advancing the interests of the province, and he was in that year by order-in-council of the Robson Ministry appointed first Agent-General. This position he filled until the close of 1894, when, to the expressed regret of the Lieut. Governor and government of the province, he resigned office. benefit to the province, and regrets your determination, as apart from personal considerations your disinterested efforts to advance the interests of British Columbia have been more particularly effective on account of the intimate knowledge of the province possessed by you, coupled with a zealous desire for its welfare. I must request that you will be pleased to accept, on my so count and on behalf of my colleagues, the thanks of the government, inadequate as they may be, for your many services as Agent-General. You have our best wishes for your future career, and we trust that it may be blessed with long life and happiness."

These appreciative expressions will find an echo among all who have been brought into contact with Mr. Beeton in his official capacity. He never failed to give kindly and sound advice to these searing a home.
