actively working in the interest of Mr. An-glin withouts word of explanation as to his meaning in this unceremoniously dropping Mr. Cullerton. Sensible men who value a decent consistency of conduct cannot but be shocked at this eccentric behavior. The voters of St. An-drew's owe it to themselves to resent in a way that will not be misunderstood a piece of busi-ness which is little better than trifling with their intelligence. It was, it seems, consider-ed wholly unnecessary in the case of the super-ceded candidate to consult the wishes of the taxpayers. A different set of tactics have been made use of in regard to Mr. Anglin. Constitutional methods have, been employed and a meeting called, nobody knows how, which proceeds to formulate a requisition in the name of the electors of St. Andrews, though forming but a bare eleventh of the voting strength of that ward. That the exact course the meeting should take was pre-arranged goes without saying. If the meeting were free and unfettered its decision would be entitled to the utmost re-spect. As it was the meeting had no more to do with the selection of the candidate than had the man in the moon. The ballot move-ment has been considerably strengthened by this charge of from. The coming meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club will be the most successful ever held at Toronto, judging from the large number of berses now quartered here. There have never before been so many thoroughbreds in training bere at this time of year. The horses are of a higher class than have heretofore been seen at bigher class than have heretofore been seen at margé fields make good raciuz. A Clerical Change of Tactics. Editor World: The report of the meeting held in the parsonage of St. Mary's Thursday evening conveys a very instructive lesson to the voters of St. Andrew's. Mr. Cullerton has been endorsed by His Grace the Arch-bishop, having been selected, I ibelieve, from three names presented for consideration. Father Rooney, in reading this endorsation from the pulpit of St. Mary's, advised the voters to admit Mr. Cullerton to their homes The Typewriter in Public Schools. There is a growing desire on the part of parents to have their ohidren learn that which will be most directly spruceable in after life. Nothing meets this requirement as well as the Nothing meets this requirement as well as the typewriter. As an aid to English composition and correct writing and spelling it has no equal; and in obtaining employment in business houses and law offices it is becoming absolutely essential. The Hamilton Central School has been the first in Canada to adopt the type-writer in its classes, and the satisfaction of scholars and perents is beyond all anticipation. It can be safely predicted that within a very few years not a high school in this country will be without the typewriter.
