

THE BROADWAY TABERNACLE

FURTHER INSTALMENT OF THE PROCEEDINGS AT THE MEETING.

The Reverend Chairman, Amid Many Contentions, Adheres Firmly to the Maintenance of the Discipline of the Church—The Widely Meeting Turns on That Point—Efforts Towards Reconciliation.

Subjoined is a further instalment of the report of the meeting in Broadway Tabernacle on the 10th inst. The World had expected to be able to finish its publication in to-day's double edition, but pressure of advertisements and news has made it impossible to give up so much of our space. It will be finished to-morrow. It is perhaps necessary to say that the sub-heads throughout have been inserted by the editor.

C. P. Parkinson rose and asked: Have I permission to move a resolution? If I am in order I should be very glad to do so.

Rev. Mr. Philip: I suppose you have. I do not know what his character may be, I cannot tell.

Mr. Parkinson: If it is out of order when I move it I presume you will rule it out; I shall be satisfied, if I have permission.

Rev. Mr. Philip: We will hear it, at all events.

Mr. Parkinson: Beyond reading the resolution I will say nothing with the exception that no one knows the contents of this paper, the pastor least of all. It has been prepared in anticipation of it being in order, and being in keeping with the character of the statement we have here to-night. It has been done with the intention to, if possible, so justify to our pastor. I will read this, and have it to the meeting. I have asked no one to second this; it is in the hands of the meeting to second it, or to do with it just as they please.

Proposed by C. P. Parkinson. The society meeting of the Methodist Church, Broadway Tabernacle, Toronto, held Oct. 5, 1891, resolves: That the local and impartial statement presented by the Rev. John Philip, M.A., pastor, touching his connection with the certain members of the church, is entirely satisfactory, and that this meeting approves the wisdom and courtesy displayed in this taking the church membership at large into its consideration.

And that the membership deeply sympathizing with the pastor in the resolution of the meeting, and that the church is in a position to do so.

Resolved: That the church is in a position to do so.
