

Miscellaneous.

A Black Forest Sanatorium. CURIOUS CONSUMPTION BY FRESH AIR AND SUNLIGHT.

From the moment of arrival until leaving Nordrach the patient never breathes one breath of air but the purest air, as Nordrach is in the Black Forest, at an elevation of 1,600 feet, surrounded by trees, and a long way from a town or even a village.

The patient is kept in the sanatorium for a long time, and the treatment is continued for a long time, and the patient is kept in the sanatorium for a long time, and the treatment is continued for a long time.

From the moment of arrival until leaving Nordrach the patient never breathes one breath of air but the purest air, as Nordrach is in the Black Forest, at an elevation of 1,600 feet, surrounded by trees, and a long way from a town or even a village.

The patient is kept in the sanatorium for a long time, and the treatment is continued for a long time, and the patient is kept in the sanatorium for a long time, and the treatment is continued for a long time.

From the moment of arrival until leaving Nordrach the patient never breathes one breath of air but the purest air, as Nordrach is in the Black Forest, at an elevation of 1,600 feet, surrounded by trees, and a long way from a town or even a village.

The patient is kept in the sanatorium for a long time, and the treatment is continued for a long time, and the patient is kept in the sanatorium for a long time, and the treatment is continued for a long time.

Cult Training.

The late A. J. Fek, one of the most successful developers of young stock of the past ten years, believed in giving the colts first lessons in the stable with an older horse, especially near the colts of high mettle and spirit, putting him first on the ground near and the next day on the off side.

The advantage in this is that it keeps the mouth straight, better accustoms him to the bit and makes him familiar with the pole on either side. After colts have been driven double for say, ten days or two weeks, and has become "wayward" and handy in turning, backing, standing and knowing the meaning of "Whoa," which singly to a colt, and for the first few times at least use a kicking strap for safety, bring careful that the strap is properly adjusted—that is, about half way between the roots of the tail and coupling—and fastened in the proper position to prevent slipping either way, thus preventing tightening the colt and possibly doing more harm than good.

Do not attempt to long a drive at first. Overdrive one mile the first day, and better than two. Judgment must be used here as well as all the other stages of a colt's development. However, it may be safe to assume that better results will be obtained by hitching a colt up three times a day for one mile drive than to hitch him up (at least at this stage of the development) once a day and drive three miles before un hitching.

Do not attempt to long a drive at first. Overdrive one mile the first day, and better than two. Judgment must be used here as well as all the other stages of a colt's development. However, it may be safe to assume that better results will be obtained by hitching a colt up three times a day for one mile drive than to hitch him up (at least at this stage of the development) once a day and drive three miles before un hitching.

Do not attempt to long a drive at first. Overdrive one mile the first day, and better than two. Judgment must be used here as well as all the other stages of a colt's development. However, it may be safe to assume that better results will be obtained by hitching a colt up three times a day for one mile drive than to hitch him up (at least at this stage of the development) once a day and drive three miles before un hitching.

Do not attempt to long a drive at first. Overdrive one mile the first day, and better than two. Judgment must be used here as well as all the other stages of a colt's development. However, it may be safe to assume that better results will be obtained by hitching a colt up three times a day for one mile drive than to hitch him up (at least at this stage of the development) once a day and drive three miles before un hitching.

Do not attempt to long a drive at first. Overdrive one mile the first day, and better than two. Judgment must be used here as well as all the other stages of a colt's development. However, it may be safe to assume that better results will be obtained by hitching a colt up three times a day for one mile drive than to hitch him up (at least at this stage of the development) once a day and drive three miles before un hitching.

Agricultural.

Some Practical Points. Remember, remember, is the cheapest of all insecticides. Therefore, don't be afraid to use it liberally on the hen-roosts to prevent lice. Apply some now, for lice do damage even in weather.

As the weather grows colder, and the hens have to be confined, it is advisable to place a rusty nail in their drinking fountain. Corn and much is an excellent fattener, and especially if fed warm. In case it takes away the fowl's appetite, feed some fruit and vegetables, such as apples and cabbage. These will cause any loss of the fattening foods to be devoured.

Construct nests so that hens must get down into them, if you don't want them to eat their eggs. A hen expending most of her energy on the nest can't get at her eggs unless she can get to them conveniently, and generally she requires abundance of room for this purpose.

If you cannot obtain meat for your fowls by your own cottaged meat. Feed it daily in proportion of one pint to a meal of soft food, and in the evening give them as much as possible to give your hens a change of ration.

Be sure to provide a scratching place. Concentrate the dust on the feet, and to the depth of the nest has this foot. Among this sooter daily a handful of wheat (and millet seeds are preferred if obtainable) and let the fowls work it up into their feathers, the more they are induced to scratch the better they will look, the happier they will be, and the more eggs they will lay. Just try it and see.

Do not forget to examine your hen cubs and see if it is in good condition. If there are any cracks stop them at once, for they will not mend and will cause a serious cause of loss. Also, clean out the henhouse at least once a week, and sprinkle the floor and roosts with crude carbolic acid (from the drug store) and far enough away and every fortnight put a few drops in the drinking water. See that the drinking water is kept fresh at all times, and the weather is quite cold never fail to warm it.

The Farm Garden. The garden should never contain less than half an acre, and better to be two acres. A garden of this size can easily be worked with a horse having much hand, which is required for some near-by market, or for a neighbor who will not have a garden. On the area can be devoted to potatoes, or roots for stock will be increased. Being near the house, it is of easy access, and the farmer can spend many half hours working his garden, when he would not do so if he had to go to the field for that length of time.

DON'T TAKE MEDICINE. Putner's Emulsion. Always get Putner's, it is the Original and Best.

UNION BANK OF HALIFAX. Incorporated 1906. Head Office, Halifax, N. S. CAPITAL $500,000. REST $225,000.

Savings Bank Department. Interest at the rate of 3 1/2 PER CENT. allowed on deposits of four dollars and upwards.

AGENTS: North Sydney, C.R.-C.W. France, agent. Little River Bay, C.R.-J.W. Ryan, agent. Barrington Passage-C. Robertson, agent. Clark's Harbor, Scot. to Barrington Passage.

COOPERATORS: London and Westminster Bank, London. Bank of Montreal, Montreal. Bank of Toronto, Toronto. Bank of Nova Scotia, Halifax. Bank of New Brunswick, St. John, N. B. National Bank of Commerce, New York. Merchants' Bank, Boston.

R. ALLEN CROWE is still to the front with his usual large assortment of Ranges, Cook Stoves, Parlor, Hall and Office Heaters.

Furnaces and Heating a specialty. Handsome Residence for Sale.

GRAND DISPLAY OF WINTER MILLINERY. Special show days THURSDAY and FRIDAY of this week.

MISS A. L. LECHE'S. Pattern Hats and Bonnets. Also a large assortment of Sailors and Walking Hats.

WALTER FORD, Fruit Broker, BOROUGH MARKET, LONDON, S. E. All Fruit sold by Private Sale.

WALTER FORD, Fruit Broker, BOROUGH MARKET, LONDON, S. E. All Fruit sold by Private Sale.

WALTER FORD, Fruit Broker, BOROUGH MARKET, LONDON, S. E. All Fruit sold by Private Sale.

WALTER FORD, Fruit Broker, BOROUGH MARKET, LONDON, S. E. All Fruit sold by Private Sale.

DOMINION ATLANTIC RAILWAY. "Land of Evangeline" Route. Trains will arrive at Bridgetown: Express from Halifax, 11:06 a.m. Express from Yarmouth, 1:17 p.m. Express from Richmond, 4:35 p.m. Express from Annapolis, 6:20 a.m.

S. S. "Prince George". BOSTON SERVICE. by far the finest and fastest steamer plying out to the West Indies, Central America, and the Isthmus of Panama.

Royal Mail S.S. "Prince Edward". ST. JOHN AND DIGBY. Monday, Thursday and Saturday.

Yarmouth S. S. Co., Limited. The Shortest and Best Route between Nova Scotia and United States.

"BOSTON". Two Trips a Week. The finest and most popular Steamer.

FREE. We give this free with each order. It is a valuable and useful book, and is given to you absolutely free.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS! We will pay you to place your order with us for fruit trees, fruit bushes, berries, etc., early in the season.

STONE & WELLINGTON. 35 Dundas Street, Toronto, Ont.

PALFREY'S CARRIAGE SHOP AND REPAIR ROOMS. Corner Queen and Water Sts. BRIDGE TOWN, N. S.

EXECUTORS NOTICE. All persons having legal demands against the estate of Robert Fitzhugh, late of Lawrencetown, in the County of Annapolis, deceased, are requested to render the same daily at the office of the undersigned.

EXECUTORS NOTICE. All persons having legal demands against the estate of Robert Fitzhugh, late of Lawrencetown, in the County of Annapolis, deceased, are requested to render the same daily at the office of the undersigned.

EXECUTORS NOTICE. All persons having legal demands against the estate of Robert Fitzhugh, late of Lawrencetown, in the County of Annapolis, deceased, are requested to render the same daily at the office of the undersigned.

EXECUTORS NOTICE. All persons having legal demands against the estate of Robert Fitzhugh, late of Lawrencetown, in the County of Annapolis, deceased, are requested to render the same daily at the office of the undersigned.

"Probably no single drug is employed in nervous diseases with effects so markedly beneficial as those of cod-liver oil." These are the words of an eminent medical teacher.

Furniture! Furniture! GRAND Mark Down Sale! BARGAINS! BARGAINS!

Parlor, Dining Room, Hall, Bedroom and Kitchen Furniture in great variety.

H. S. REED. N. B.—Have one Sewing Machine in stock which will be sold at a great bargain.

EDDY'S Indurated Fibre Ware, TUBS, PAILS, Etc., have become household necessities.

The E. B. EDDY COY., Limited. JNO. PETERS & CO. Agents, Halifax. BRIDGETOWN, N. S.

Monuments, Tablets, Headstones, &c. All orders promptly attended to.

Just Received. SCREEN DOORS, WINDOW SCREENS, POULTRY NETTING, ICE CREAM FREEZERS, CROQUET SETS, GARDEN TROWELS, HAMMOCKS, BICYCLE SUNDRIES, TERRA COTTA PIPE, PORTLAND CEMENT, CALCINED PLASTER.

HAYING TOOLS! 200 boxes of Glass (assorted sizes) at a very low price.

GLASS! GLASS! 200 boxes of Glass (assorted sizes) at a very low price.

GLASS! GLASS! 200 boxes of Glass (assorted sizes) at a very low price.

GLASS! GLASS! 200 boxes of Glass (assorted sizes) at a very low price.

GLASS! GLASS! 200 boxes of Glass (assorted sizes) at a very low price.

The Household.

Night Terrors. In childhood the sleep is somewhat disturbed by what are called night terrors. A child that has gone to bed apparently well and for an hour or two has suddenly awoken, or perhaps been slightly restless, suddenly starts with a piercing cry.

After a time, lasting from a few minutes to an hour, or even longer, the child rouses himself, and gradually falls into a sleep from which he does not awake until morning. The conditions which cause them are sometimes easily discovered, but frequently no immediate cause can be found. As a rule, however, night terrors occur in children who are delicate and excitable.

One of the most embarrassing blunders, however, happened to a dainty little lady when she was on her way to a party. She was picking up a book from the table, and would not do it without first looking at the title. A young lady took an ice cream soda, and took the long spoon away with her, discovering her mistake when she undertook to fan herself with the spoon. She was so embarrassed that she could not say a word.

Perfectly sober and perfectly sane even when he has been drinking for several days. These errors of hand, eye and ear would afford a valuable study to the psychologist, and they serve a better purpose perhaps in giving occasion for laughter as we jog on our hunt the hills.

"I informed him that it was customary for guests to register upon their arrival, and as I had succeeded in convincing him that it was not trying to get a name for any purpose. He took the pen gingerly, and he had labored for some time before getting half of his name down, when he suddenly dropped the pen and demanded what the tax would be. I answered, '81 up.' He then looked at the bill, and said, 'I have never seen a bill like this, and as for ascertaining if there were three or four, he drew out his trousers pocket an ancient looking wallet, extracted a great 81 and handed it over with the remark that it was pretty steep.

"After prevailing upon him to finish writing his name on the register I handed him over to the baggage man, and he went on his way. I then returned to my room, and found that the old man was still in his room and refused to come out until he had seen me. I went up to see what the matter was, and found the old man sitting on his carpeting.

"See here, mister," said he. "Ye said that yer name was 81 up." "Yes, I answered, "I was, mister." "Waal, said he, as he clutched his pocketbook, "how much is it ter come down?"

"I assured him that it wouldn't charge him anything, seeing that he was in, and he departed with the promise that he would look up the next time he came to town."

"Annie—When I was your age, I never said a lie. Tommy—When did you begin, Annie?"

"A small boy, writing a composition on Quakers, wound up by saying that the Quakers were a very good people, and never had a quarrel with anybody."

"I've got just pure pure and I think I'll get my brother William's and your sister's, and if I only had your I think I'd be happy."

John's Corner.

Punny Failures. "Jog on, jog on, the footpath way, And surely beat the sillage." "A merry heart goes all the day, Your sad tires in a mile."

When a college professor gravely apologizes to the cow he has stumbled against, or a literary woman repeatedly runs against one of her own shade trees while discussing metaphysics, the trifling blunders are often attributed to some peculiar constitution of mind supposed to belong to genius; but these tricks of mind and muscle are common to many of our common footpath way. The lack of coordination between brain and muscle thinking is many a laughable mistake, a few instances of which are here given.

A woman recently went to purchase some Hamburg trimming, and wishing to put on her glasses opened her umbrella instead, and having a merry bear as well as a tricycle, she hurried away from the counter convulsed with laughter—the saleswoman no doubt thinking her would be contented: was something of a fanatic.

A teacher in a well known academy has a habit of carrying his umbrella over his shoulder like a cowboy. One day he was picking up a book from the table, and would not do it without first looking at the title. A young lady took an ice cream soda, and took the long spoon away with her, discovering her mistake when she undertook to fan herself with the spoon. She was so embarrassed that she could not say a word.

Perfectly sober and perfectly sane even when he has been drinking for several days. These errors of hand, eye and ear would afford a valuable study to the psychologist, and they serve a better purpose perhaps in giving occasion for laughter as we jog on our hunt the hills.

"I informed him that it was customary for guests to register upon their arrival, and as I had succeeded in convincing him that it was not trying to get a name for any purpose. He took the pen gingerly, and he had labored for some time before getting half of his name down, when he suddenly dropped the pen and demanded what the tax would be. I answered, '81 up.' He then looked at the bill, and said, 'I have never seen a bill like this, and as for ascertaining if there were three or four, he drew out his trousers pocket an ancient looking wallet, extracted a great 81 and handed it over with the remark that it was pretty steep.

"After prevailing upon him to finish writing his name on the register I handed him over to the baggage man, and he went on his way. I then returned to my room, and found that the old man was still in his room and refused to come out until he had seen me. I went up to see what the matter was, and found the old man sitting on his carpeting.

"See here, mister," said he. "Ye said that yer name was 81 up." "Yes, I answered, "I was, mister." "Waal, said he, as he clutched his pocketbook, "how much is it ter come down?"

"I assured him that it wouldn't charge him anything, seeing that he was in, and he departed with the promise that he would look up the next time he came to town."

"Annie—When I was your age, I never said a lie. Tommy—When did you begin, Annie?"

"A small boy, writing a composition on Quakers, wound up by saying that the Quakers were a very good people, and never had a quarrel with anybody."

"I've got just pure pure and I think I'll get my brother William's and your sister's, and if I only had your I think I'd be happy."

"I've got just pure pure and I think I'll get my brother William's and your sister's, and if I only had your I think I'd be happy."