

he made for himself a clear 250*l*. That was a big sum for a man in Colin Churchill's position ; but it was only the beginning of a great artist's successful career. Commissions began to pour in upon him freely ; and before Gwen Howard-Russell returned to Rome, Colin was already making far more money than in his wildest anticipation he had ever dreamt of. He must save up, now, to repay Sam ; and when Sam's debt was fairly cancelled, then he must save up again for little Minna.

END OF THE SECOND VOLUME.

PRINTED BY
SPOTTISWOODE AND CO., NEW-STREET SQUARE
LONDON

69