LONGUE POINTE

Scene of the Late Conflagration.

The Number of the Dead Unknown.

Nothing remains of the great asylum but a mass of mouldering debris. The Sisters are anxions to have the ruins of the fatal western wing searched for the remains of the victims, and as seon as the debris is cool enough a search will be made. It is thought extremely improbable, however, that any traces of the bodies will be found, as with the intense heat of the configgration they must have been wholly oremated. Ooroner Jones and High Constable Bissonnette, after examining the ruins from a distance, gave orders to have the ruins searched as soon as possible. The coroner states that if as much as a human bone or part of a human bone is found in the building he will be enabled to hold an inquest, the law specifying that inquests shall be held on the remains of people dying under exceptional oircnmstances. Sister Therese told the two officials that the sisters had a list who they had thought had perished in the fames, but on being asked for the list declined to furnish it as the list was based largely on supposition. They stated that they were working as hard as possible to complete lists of the patients now in their care throughout the village of Longue Pointe and the city. This task is more difficult than it seems, as, in addition to the large bodies of the homeless unfertunates in the saved outbuildings and public institutions, most of the private houses in the village of Longue Points and the surrounding country have taken in one or two of the more harmless lunatics. When this list is complete a comparison with the list of the original inmates will show exactly who are missing. The Sisters expect large numbers of those who are still missing and wandering about the country to turn up, and no less than twenty of the bewildered wanderers were recovered yesterday. Some of them when found were in a very bad state, owing to the exposure through the night, which was very severe, as several of them were barefoo'el, base caded and only lightly clad at the time of their escape. Serious alarm is felt at the continued absence of reveral patients who were afflicted with suicidal mania. Among those who made their escape was Sugrue, the Grand Trunk workman, was shot at his foreman. Yesterday he present. ed himself at his mother's house, Point St. Charles. She was alarmed, and notified Police Sergt. Murphy, and he was removed to the St. Benoit Asylum last night. Rev. J. H. Dixon, rector of St. Jude's Church. was last evening called to the bedeide of Miss Hannah Hickson, who was supposed to be dylog.

TWENTY SEVEN PERSONS

Was

IMPOSSIBLE TO HOLD THEM LONGER. There was 3,6000 feet of hose in the building sltogether. Sister Therease having got through the height of the excitement, under, the influence of which she was enabled to leave a sick bed and perform duties which would test the constitution of an average man, has relapsed into a state of serious sickness again, and is unable to leave her bed or worry about business. The Sisters have received expressions of sympathy from all parts of the continent. Sister Therese lust night received a telegram from C. R. Koch, president of the Ottoman Cabinet Company, of Chicago, instructing her to draw on him at sight for $500, to assist the community in their distress. The Sisters are making efforts to relieve most of the village and country people from the insane, who have been ac-commodated in their heuses since the fire. The nuns report that patients are occommodated in Longue Pointo institutions as follows :- St. Bonoit Asylum, 142 men ; school house, 60; Mr. Thibaudeau's house, 17 boys; St. Isidore Convent, 150 private patients and infirm ; asylum laundry, 100 women ; asylum barns, 300 men ; Jesuits' country house 52 children.

INQUIRIES.

The nuns have been receiving a great many erquiries as to the safety and whereabouts of parents. The Sisters have been able to answer all satisfactorily, with the exception of two, Mrs. Mary A. Shahan, of Millbury, Vermont, who was an inmate of the furious ward, is missing, and it is feared died in the fames. She belonged to one of the best known families in Vermont, and was a private patient. A Mr. Lanthier, a pro-prietor, formerly of St. Pulscarpe, was conducted out of the ward in which he was confined but disappeared before he could be re-moved to any place of detention. One of the attendert + stopped him while trying to run back to the burning building on one occasion, and it is feared that on a second attempt he may have succeeded in reaching the door without being seen. Mrs. James Mulball, daughter of John Sutton, chief clerk of the Intercelonial Railway mechanical super-intendent's office at Moncton, and who, according to a report from that place, perish-ed, is saved and doing nicely, being quartered in the St. Isidore Convent. Mr. Cornell, of Longue Point, who assisted the O'Rourkes and Higgins in rescuing the occupants of the women's infirm ward, states that he could only see four women at the windows of the furious ward, three at one window and one at another.

mass. As a result the water was almost, if inmates, possibly more, were burned. The not quite, boiling by the time it reached the buildings destroyed were the asylum, in nozzles and they were only drepped when it which there were about eighty inmates, and the pauper, house and idlet ward, in which there were about forty inmates. Both were three storey wooden buildings in good repair having wings of two storeys in height. They stood side by side, a driveway separating them. They were valued at $25,000 and in-sured for $19,000 and are a total less.

JUST LIKE LONGUE POINTE,

The turrible part of the disaster was the burning of ten idiote who were penned in their cells and were roasted alive. The fire started in this portion of the main building and as the inmates were aslesp and no sounds were heard it is probable that the smoke and gases smothered them before they felt the pain of the fire. The origin of the fire was probably toe smouldering sparks of a slight fire which occurred Wednesday afternoon. Deborah Dibtle, a feeble minded eld woman, was smoking a pipe and set her clothing and bedding on fire, and was burned fatally before the flames could be extinguished. Her corpse was buried last night. It is supposed that the fire started from some undiscovered smouldering sparks from this event. The keeper was awakened by a pauper and at-tempted to release the idiots, but was drivez back by the fire. He then ran through the other buildings in his night clothes arousing the inmates and turning them out of doors,

BEFUGE FOUND IN CHURCHES.

The insame had some of them to be forced out, and fought against release, but all were saved. Most of them were taken under guard to the Methodist and Universalist churches till other quarters were provided, and such a gibbering, motley congregation was never seen in churches before. Some escaped and took to the woods, where the sheriff and a large number of deputies are hunting for them. Keeper Mainwaring rescued several at the peril of his life. The scene at the burning was indescribable and the horrors of Longue Pointe were re-enacted on a smaller scale. Demented and terror-stricken inmates wandered around the burning piles in a hopeless manner. The great wooden buildings lit up the hills for miles around. The coroner will hold an icquest.

BOASTED LIKE BEASTS.

NORWISH, N.Y., May S .- The excitoment here over the destruction of the peor house and county insano asylum is intense. All who had friends among the unfortunate have eagerly sought information of their fate. A procession of all sorts of vehicles has been going to Preston all day. The smoke and stonch from the holocaust are preceptible here. At the scene of the disaster it was sickening. The idiots were locked in and roasted like beasts. Their unearthly screams first aroused a pauper, Edward Francis, who slept near them. Francis says he arose and alled Koeper Mainwaring, who came down

IRISH AFFAIRS.

Parnell Handicapped-Irish Prisoners at Chatham Treated Worte Than Siberian Extles-Government Has No Desire to Pass the Land - Purchase Bill-Mrs. O'Shea Changes Her Lawyer.

LONDON, May 10 -In every way sensation-I is the Bluebook report issued to day by the special committee appeinted to inquire into the cruel treatment of American dynamiters confined at Obstham Prison. The Tory newspapers ignore it of course, but the Irish party intend to raise a vigorous debate in the House of Commons upon it and get the details before the putlic in that way. The report admits that the complaints of the dynamiters being treated with special severity have been sustained, although the action of the prison authorities so treating them is justified by the committee on the ground that the offense for which they were set tanced deserves it. The evidence shows that John Daly, Esgan and Dr. Gallagher have experienced the atmost brutality at the hands of the prison warders. They have been punished severely for trivial breaches of prison discipline. In the case of Daly in particular. After his refusal to perjure himself at the instigation of Pigett and the Time's collector, he was subjected to greater harshness than before. He was nearly poisoned with a dose of belladonna on three occasions, but the Committee have reported that this was purely the result of accident. They have recommended, however that the men who were convicted in Soctland should be changed to a Scotch prison, so they may receive the visits of their friends, to which they are entitled under the rules, and which distance and the poverty of their re-Is tives have prevented them from receiving. The report on the whole shows that confinement in an English prison for an offense connected with Irish politics in any way is far worse than an immediate sentence to death or banishment to the mines Siberia.

The Tories are talking loudly about Parnell not insisting on a select committee to in-quire into the forgery conspiracy, and the attempt of the Government to suborn the evidence of dynamiters and other prisoners against him. Parnoll on his part is most anxious for the inquiry, as he has important evidence to produce, but I learn from a lead-ing official in the Home Office that obstruction comes from the English Opposition leaders. Permanent officials in the Government Departments concerned have brought pressure to bear on ex-Ministers which has been effectual. Until the formation of a Home Rule Cabinst, the policy of these departments, whether Liberal or Tory, will always be the same toward the Irish party. The cflicials in effect have threatened that if what they did for the Times and the present Government is exposed through the instrumentality of the Liberal ex-Ministers they will also disclose inconvenient facts relating to the period from 1880 to 1885, when the Liberals were in office. The present Government, if an inquiry were forced upon them, would of course extend its scope so us to include that period. So here we have the ex-traordinary state of silairs that Parnell is debarred, investigation into the infamous plot against him by the necessity of shielding the leaders of both English parties from the ruinous consequences of exposing their utilization of State resources for the purpose of destroying the Irish party. The source from which my information comes is unimpeachable and can be absolutely relied upon as being the true explanation of Parnell's silence on the subject of the threatened inquiry. The opinion is gaining ground that Government has no real desire to pass the Land Parchase bill this session. They must choose beteen it and the licensing bill, as the publicans are vastly more influential body than than the Irish landlords. There is every likelihood of the interests of the latter being sacrificed. The Government can reintroduce the Purchase bill next session and use it for starving of Irish local government. That is thought to be their plan at present. John D llon will act as best man at Willam U'Brien's wedding, The ceremony will very likely be performed by Archhiehep Croke.

The following is a corrected list of those known to have perished in the flymes :-Delphine Archambault, patient; Victorine Beaudry, patient; Sister Bouthillier, nun; Obristine Demers, patient; Louise Gravel, nun; Marie Gravel, nun; Sister Gilbert, nun; Mrs. Huor, patient; Camille Lachance patient; Augustine Lacroix, patient; Miss Letournay, patient; Miss Lehala, patient; Victoria MacNicholls, nun; Eusebe Marchart, patient; Bridget Malene, patient; Eliza Richard, patient; Mrs. Scullen, patient; Marle St. Denis, patient; Elie St. Louis, patient; Miss Therriault, patient; Mrs. Williams, patient.

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT WILL DO.

"The Government will do all in their pewer to scoure to the Sisters as favorable a centract as possible, to begin after the lapse of the present contract, which still runs five said Hen. Premier Mercler, this years." morning, when asked whether the Government would renew its contract with the Sisters of Previdence for an insane asylum. "But," remarked the Premier, "I cannot yst say exactly what we can do or will do. At any rats, we shall try to serve the good nuns, and at the same time see that the interest: of the province are properly secured. We shall hold a meeting at my residence this afternoon to decide upon something definite, as the Sisters will not rebuild unless they are sure of a continuation of the contract so as te make it worth their while to incur so heavy an expense.'

"It is suggested on the street that the Government utilize the Military School Buildings at St. Johns for the hespital, and locate the school here !"

"The Government have no such intention. In fact, I shall always insist on having both the Insane Asylum and the gael on the Island of Montreal and in the vicinity of the alty."

THE FIRE APPARATUS.

Mr. O'Rourke, the engineer of the asylum, states that no less than eight streams of water from the asylum fire protection service were playing on the fismes before the fire had spread from the wing in which it originated. The water service of the hespital consisted of a Worthington pump on the river front, which, through a five inch pipe, forced the water into a snaken tank in the asylum yard, whence the water was pumped by a Blake pump with four inch suction into tan iron tanks on the roofs of the highest wings. There was a fire plug, coil of here and branch in the cerridor of each flat in every wing, the hose being always kept screwed on to the plug. All the streams used on the fire were serviceable as far as they went, and were kept directed on to the fiames until the nessies and hose actually burned the hands of those Taking Leave of the World.

An Impressive Ceremony at the Villa Maria Convent-Five Nuns Take Their Last Yows.

There was an unsually impressive and interesting religious ceremony Saturday morn-ing at the Vilia Marie Convent, which attracted many people from the city, the occa-sion being the taking of the vell and final vows by five of the religieuses of the Con-gregation of Notre Dame. The ceremony was presided over by His Grace Archbiahop Fabre and took place in the large chapel of the Institution. All the nuns of the institution, numbering over two hundred were presert as well as numerous friends and rela-tives of the pottlant; nums. The siter of the Blessed Virgin was completely covered with flowers and ornaments of various kinds. Through a plate glass in the body of the main alter could be seen the wax-cevered remains of a Christian martyr from the Catacombs in Rome, richly attired in silk, satin and gold, with a crown at the fest.

After Mass, which was celebrated by one of the obsplains of the institution. Rev. Abté Ouellette, Superior of the Seminary of St. Hysolnthe, delivered an allocation to the nuns who were about to take their final leave of the world, dwelling especially upon the mystic mysteries of religious life. Though they were making a great sacrifice in the eyes of the world by roneuncing riches and other worldly attractions and pleasure, they would find consolution in the quiet and peaceful abode which they had extered. After the sermon the five nuns, who had partaken of Holy Communion, approached the main altar, each carrying a lighted taper, surrounded by a crown of white flowers, emblematic of a pure life, and knilt down in presence of the Archbishop, who was attired in his sacerdotal vestments and wore a golden-colored mitre on his head. Here each of the five in return, speaking in loud tones, took the perpetual vows of poverty, chastity and obedidence, according to the constitution of the congregation of Notre Dame de Montreal, and invoked the aid of heaven, the Blessed Virgin, St. Joseph and their guardian angels in the step they were taking. Then as each arose in turp, a black viel was thrown over their heads and this was blessed by the Arch-bishop. When this ceremony was done the nuns retired to Pris-Dieus near the chancel and the Archbishop intened the impressive chant of Te Laudamus, alter which he offered up prayers sloud for the new nuns, who have been praying and fasting for several days past. Among the new nuns are Sisters Mo-Kenna, Cionthier and Tremblay.
