

responsibilities in the financial and budgetary field. Their tasks are never easy, but we have an opportunity to facilitate their efforts on our behalf by demonstrating the same sense of responsibility as that which guided the Secretary-General in this difficult period. Let us seize this opportunity to cooperate in the development of an orderly and rationalized programme for the future.