

(V) COAL BENEFICIATION STUDY: CONTRACTS

Electric Power Research Institute, February 6, 1985. Atlantic Coal Institute, May 10, 1985. Coal Mining Research Company, September 1, 1985. SNC, September 23, 1985.

2. The projects funded by CANMET focus on contracts awarded to the private sector, many of which are cost-shared, but CANMET provides technical support to and complements the scope of these projects. In addition, CANMET provides substantial technical support to projects funded directly by the Coal Utilization Program.

The Coal Utilization Program projects are wholly funded by Government, although utilities have provided for some of their own staff services.

3. There are no changes to total funding under the Coal Utilization Program since the program officially terminated on March 31, 1986. There have been changes in cash flow since 1985 and a cost overrun on the Chatham circulating fluid bed project required additional expenditures which have been absorbed by EMR.

The amount of funds spent by CANMET on clean coal R and D has remained relatively constant.

CANADIAN JOBS STRATEGY

Question No. 137—Mr. Grondin:

Order Paper Questions

Did the Department of Employment and Immigration, under employment development programs for youth, for the fiscal year 1985-86, allocate $673,200,000, thus creating 253,400 jobs and, in 1986-87, allocate $720,300,000, thus creating 230,200 jobs and, if so, for what reasons were less jobs created in 1986-87 with a higher allocation of funds?

Hon. Jean J. Charest (Minister of State (Youth)): The Department of Employment and Immigration does not allocate any specific funds for youth under the Canadian Jobs Strategy. In 1985-86, expenditures on youth are estimated at $673.2 million providing work opportunities and training to approximately 253,400 participants.

In 1986-87, based on budget allocation, youth expenditures are estimated at $736.3 million and will provide work experience and training to approximately 230,200 participants.

The 1985-86 figure is based on expenditures whereas 1986-87 figure is based on budget allocation. There are two reasons why less jobs were created with more money. Allowances and wages paid to participants have increased. In addition, the average days duration of Canadian Jobs Strategy activities is longer in 1986-87 than it was in 1985-86.
