

Dean Barton

- 2 -

financial sacrifice in order to help a Maritime school and the only way in which the Maritimes can respond is by having a kindly feeling for McGill and in sending students to this institution.

(d) This association between Truro and Macdonald College would emphasize and confirm more than ever our position as the leading Agricultural degree and postgraduate school in Canada.

(e) We would probably be unable to undertake this work unless we had a junior instructor in each of the Departments of Botany and Entomology. This ought to permit more research work being done in these departments.

All of this should add to our prestige and increase our usefulness to those whom we serve. The only disadvantage to us is the extra cost involved.

You will remember that our idea was to pay each Professor who went to Truro for the month of February the sum of $275.00 each, extra to their ordinary salary, on the understanding that they would pay their own expenses to and from and at Truro. I think there should be some correspondence with Truro which would indicate our mutual understanding and obligation. There is no need of a formal agreement as an exchange of letters will be quite sufficient.

Yours faithfully,

Principal.