

Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and New Brunswick; and one boat for fifty inhabitants in Upper and Lower Canada, including those engaged in the fisheries of the district of Gaspé, pilot boats, &c.

The following statement will exhibit the increase of emigrations from the United Kingdom to British North America, taken from official returns, and colonial estimates:—

In 1800	-	-	-	-	2,480
1810	-	-	-	-	8,750
1820	-	-	-	-	9,381
1825	-	-	-	-	11,276
1826	-	-	-	-	12,818
1827	-	-	-	-	19,749
1828	-	-	-	-	13,907
1829	-	-	-	-	17,212
1830	-	-	-	-	29,783
1831	-	-	-	-	58,317
1832	-	-	-	-	54,711

The provincial revenues of the British North American colonies may be estimated, taking the average of three years ending 1st January, 1833, at, for

Lower Canada, total net amount, after deducting 37,400*l.* the proportion allowed of the impost duties to Upper Canada £149,468 0 0

Upper Canada (very uncertain, but estimated at) - - - - 140,000 0 0

Nova Scotia, about - - - - 60,000 0 0

New Brunswick (nearly correct) - - 57,000 0 0

Prince Edward Island (correct) - - 9,000 0 0

Newfoundland (no revenue for the present year, in consequence of the Council negating the Ways and Means Bill of the Legislative Assembly.)

£145,487 0 0

Being about 6*s.* 8*d.* paid into the colonial treasuries for each individual.