

one may walk in a room used for the Ladies Department.

Here, visitors should carefully examine the articles of this department as no one will be allowed to walk back on the walks.

It is also well to bear in mind that it is also strickly forbidden to trample on platforms and to handle things exhibited.

Among articles which draw the attention most are the magnificent pianos of the celebrated manufactory of Knabe & Co., for whose firm Mr. A. Lavigno is agent for this city.

The skilled clockworks of Messrs. Duquette & Co., jewellers, Quebec.

The splendid furs of Messrs. Renfrew & Marcou, Furriers, Quebec.

The tasty household and office furniture of Wm. Drum, Esq., Quebec.

In carriage making, that of Messrs. Hough & Son, Quebec, stands equal to any in the country.

In cooperage, L. N. Allaire, Esq., Quebec, shows barrels and hogsheads of perfect make.

In gilding, Mr. A. Bélanger, of this city, exhibits articles worth attention.

In furniture, Mr. F. Gourdeau, of this city, presents to the sight of visitors really fine pieces of his manufacture.

In saddlery, the bright harnesses, elegant and solid leather trunks and fine saddles of Messrs. Fisher & Blouin, of this city, draw the attention of visitors.

In the fur department, Mr. G. Malouin, Quebec, exhibits a collection of fur goods which may be ranged amongst the best in the country.

In the horticultural department, Mr. A. Watters, leading grocer, of this city, has a fine orange tree bearing fruit, which he offers for sale.

Mr. L. P. Vallée, Photographer, shows a collection of views which rival with the best of other artists.
