AS TO TARIFF LEGISLATION

What Senators and Representatives are Saying.

A DIVERSITY OF OPINIONS.

Senator Brice Thinks Free Silver Men Will Vote With Republicans.

Mr. Sherman Will Express No Opinion—Mr. Allison Hopes Enough Revenue Will Be Raised—Hawley Expresses Doubts—Walthall Does Not Expect Important Legislation at the Coming Session—Dingley is Non-Committal—Other Notes From Washington.

Washington, Nov. 16.—With a view of ascertaining the views of the leading men in Congress as to the probability of tariff legislation in the next session of Congress, and as to the likelihood of an extra session, the Washington bureau of the United Associated Presses has sought the written opinions of a number of prominent Senators and representatives. The replies received show quite a diversity of views and are exceedingly interesting. A few of them are as follows:

SENATOR BRICE.

Senator Calvin C. Bryce of Ohio says: "While some of the free silver senators, who have heretofore prevented the passage of the Dingley bill with such amendments as may make certain a sufficient revenue, will, in view of the result of the election, probably vote with their Republican brethren, it is immaterial whether they do or not, as in my opinion a sufficient number of sound money Democratic Senators will assist the Republicans to pass the necessary tariff legislation in the 54th Congress to supply the existing deficit in the revenue. I at least shall vote and I understand that Senator Gorman and a number of others occupy the same position."

SHERMAN IS MUM.

Senator Brice's colleague, Senator Sherman, says: "In the present condition of affairs I do not care to express my opinion as to the proper tariff and financial legislation of this or the next Congress."

ALLISON'S HOPE.

Senator W. B. Allison of Iowa says: "I hope the Dingley bill will pass with such modifications as may be necessary to secure sufficient revenue to carry on the government. If this can not be done during the 51th it seems to me an extra session of the 55th Congress is inevitable."

HAWLEY IS DOUBTFUL.

Senator Hawley of Connecticut says: "The possibility of adopting a satisfactory revision of the tariff such as might be expected to remain undisturbed at the last session of the 54th Congress seems to me very doubtful."

WALTHALL IS SKEPTICAL.

Senator Walthall of Mississippi says: "I see no reason to justify the expectation that there will be any important tariff or financial legislation at the approaching session of Congress."

DINGLEY IS NON-COMMITTAL.

Mr. Dingley of Maine, chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means and leader of the House, refers to his recently published interview, in which he expresses the opinion that there was not the slightest hope of the passage of the so-called Dingley bill by the Senate at the next session of Congress, and that the House would not propose anything further in this direction at the approaching short session. Governor Dingley adds: 'This covers all I have to say at present.'"

GROSVENOR IS PESSIMISTIC.

General Grosvenor of Ohio says: "I do not believe it possible that any material legislation for the benefit of the country can be passed in the 54th Congress, I do believe that the Republican party will be in a position in the 55th Congress to save the country from bankruptcy and the industries of the country from destruction."

THE PATRIOTIC DUTY.

Representative Charles H. Russell of Connecticut, a member of the Committee of Ways and Means, says: "The patriotic and businesslike duty of the coming session of the 54th Congress is to provide revenue for the needs of the government. That should be done by a proper and reasonable increase of customs duties. It could be effected by the adoption of a revenue measure which the House passed at the last session, or some measure on the same lines."

A FREE SHIP BILL.

Despite the fact that there is no probability of either this Congress or the next passing a free ship bill the Commissioner of Navigation in his annual report refers prominently to the subject, and urges the necessity for the passage of such a measure.

ON THE SILVER QUESTION.

Although the official figures of the recent election have not in all cases reached Republican Congressional headquarters, the result of the contests in the various congressional districts is known with sufficient exactness to warrant the announcement of a summary of the political divisions in the House of Representatives in the 55th Congress. This shows 207 Republicans 127 Democrats and 12 Populists.

Upon the question of silver the division is said to be, for free silver, 153; against free silver, 204.

Ministerial Association.

The fortnightly meeting of the Ministerial Association was well attended yesterday. Most of the time at the morning session was taken up by the reading of a paper by Rev. W. Johnstone on "The Larger Salvation." The paper said that the salvation of society should be through the church.

A long discussion followed the paper. Rev. J. C. Speer said it was a mistake to call Canada a Christian nation, when we had the bar room under legislative roofs and when the Bible and the prayer book had no place among them.

Dr. Sims said he thought the ministry might be making a mistake in not emphasizing more the relation of Christ's teaching to the politics and commerce of the world.

During his remarks Rev. S. D. Chown said that whilst we preached conversion we ought to preach it with a sociological outlook. Rev. W. J. Lhamon said he didn't believe that there was enough Christianity in any of the nations of the world to make them lay down their arms.

Rev. Dr. Milligan said he never took part in party politics. When he had anything to say about party politics, as in the case of East Toronto, he went to the Pavilion, where people could talk back to him.

Ontario Division Courts.

John Mackintosh of Webbwood, clerk of the Fourth Division Court of Algoma, died unexpectedly at his residence on Sunday last. Mr. Kehoe, the District Crown Attorney, becomes ex-officio clerk, until a regular successor shall have been appointed.

Tuesday, the 24th inst., has been fixed for the investigation into the conduct of Henry Thornton, bailiff of the court at St. Thomas.

The inspector has not yet reported the result of the Crossley inquiry.

TO PROTECT NEW ORLEANS

Mayor Quinn Convinces the Authorities That the Place Must Have Costly Forts Built.

New Orleans, Nov. 16.—Several weeks ago Major Quinn, U.S.A., recognizing the comparatively defenceless position of this city against a foreign foe, evolved an elaborate plan for the building of a series of forts 12 miles below the city. The plans of Major Quinn will require the expenditure of nearly $5,000,000. The importance of the suggestions was recognized by the United States authorities having in charge the work of erecting the fortifications along the Gulf coast, and this morning the Board of Fortifications proceeded down the river to make the necessary examinations in connection with the project. Fort Phillip and Fort Jackson are at present the only protection to this city. The Government has recently made many improvements at these forts and equipped them with two large guns each.

FAST STEAMSHIP SERVICE.

The Allans Discuss the Steamship Canada —Faster Boats Wanted.

The following letter is from The Montreal Herald:

Editor Herald:

Sir,—In an article in yesterday's Herald headed, "The Canada," it is stated that "a vessel of the same type, differing in shape of its keel and in the speed of its engines, can be built, it is claimed, so as to develop a speed of 19 knots." If this were done, the result would be that these features which you claim as so desirable, viz., the capacity for carrying cargo and passengers, would be, to a large extent, wiped out. Such a vessel would only carry a moderate cargo, and would not have sufficient speed to compete successfully with the fast lines to New York for passenger traffic.

The deduction you draw from the very creditable time made by the Canada, namely, that vessels of this class are preferable for the Canadian route to 20-knot steamers, is unsupported in other trades, but you have probably reached this conclusion because you apparently overlook the fact that 20-knot steamers, such as we have offered to supply, would have ample carrying capacity to accommodate all the perishable cargo, requiring rapid transportation, that is likely to offer from Canada during the next ten years. It is evident, therefore, that agriculturists and shippers would be better served by a 20-knot service than by steamers of less speed, no matter what their type. In addition to this, however, we put forward as part of our scheme an undertaking to provide a fleet of modern freight steamers fitted with every requisite for the carriage of cattle, sheep, horses and cargo of all descriptions, including perishable cargo requiring refrigerated space. A weekly sailing of 20-knot steamers supplemented by more frequent sailings of large modern freight steamers, would not only greatly benefit the export and import trade of the Dominion, but would enable the Canadian merchant to better compete with the New York route than any other class of service.

You say that Mr. Fleming "has very clearly shown that a fast rate of speed cannot with safety be demanded of vessels using the St. Lawrence route," etc. Mr. Fleming's apparent purpose is to favor an Atlantic terminal port and to discredit the St. Lawrence route. His argument is, however, unsupported by facts, and until these are advanced it may be passed unanswered. But how is it with you? Do you desire your readers to infer that on accasions when a 20-knot vessel must lie-to, such a vessel as the Canada may safely continue on her way? The truth, of course, is that all vessels, fast and slow alike, have to be guided by the same rules of safety, and that when fog or ice or other causes of detention are encountered they have to be handled in the same manner. Yours truly,

H. & A. Allan.

Montreal, Nov. 10, 1896.

SIGHT FOR THE BLIND.

By the Aid of X Rays a Totally Blind Boy Can See.

San Francisco, Nov. 16.—Lucien Bacigalupi, the totally blind son of the keeper of a public "X" ray display, has discovered that by the aid of the Roentgen ray he can see sufficiently to distinguish objects. While with Dr. G. Waverley Clark in the laboratory yesterday the physician gave the lad the fluoroscope, and he at once said he could see light. Keys, nails and other metallic objects were placed behind blocks of wood and in purses, and the lad distinguished the forms readily. The test was made complete, and such a stir it has made among medical and scientific men that a number of experiments will be made at once with persons who are blind.

Trouble Over a Road Allowance.

Mr. Frank Prosser of Bracebridge, Muskoka, has been indicted on a charge of trespassing on a colonization road, which is owned and controlled by the Crown. Mr. Prosser has property of considerable extent lying along the Skeleton Lake road, which runs between Windermere and Dee Banks and Skeleton Lake, and the county authorities claim that he is encroaching upon the 66 feet allowable for road width. Mr. Prosser holds that 66 feet is too great an allowance for the purpose, and the case is to be decided to-day at Bracebridge. Mr. Aubrey White, Assistant Commissioner of Crown Lands, has been subpoenaed to produce papers and give evidence, but Mr. Henry Smith of the Crown Lands will act as his proxy.

Where's Jimmy Noble?

Jimmie Noble lives at 30 Baldwin-street with his parents. James does not love school and plays truant frequently, and sometimes remains away from his home for a few days at a time. He is missing now, and his father was making inquiries at the Union Station for him yesterday morning.

Fifty Years Ago.

Grandfather's hat! And within it you see,
Grandfather's favorite cough remedy.
Whether 'twas Asthma, Bronchitis or Croup,
Or baby at night waked the house with a whoop,
With Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Gran'ther was sure
That no cold or cough would e'er fail of a cure.
In hats the styles change, but the records will show
Coughs are cured as they were 50 years ago.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

has no equal as a remedy for coughs, colds, and lung diseases. Where other soothing elixirs palliate, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral heals. It is not a cheap cough syrup, which soothes but does not strengthen; it is a physician's cough remedy, and it cures. It is put up in large bottles, only, for household use. It was awarded the medal at the World's Fair of ninety-three. It has a record of Woman's Historical Society.

The first annual meeting of the Woman's Historical Society was held yesterday afternoon in the Canadian Institute, Richmond-street east. Mrs. Curzon presided. November 16 was chosen as the day on which to hold the society's annual meeting, being the anniversary of the birthday of Col. Fitzgibbon.

The president, Mrs. Curzon, in her opening address, explained the aims of the society, and said that an immense amount of the history of our country had never been touched upon. She advised the members to be diligent throughout the coming year in gathering records of the past. Not only had a number of dormant societies been aroused to greater action through its influence, she said, but a number of new societies had been formed throughout Canada.

The society is composed of 164 members at present, 132 active and 32 honorary, which speaks well for a society which has only been in existence a year.

The treasurer's report shows a balance on hand of $12.45.

The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Curzon; vice-presidents, Mrs. Forsyth Grant and Mrs. James Bain; treasurer, Mrs. C. M. Merritt; secretary, Miss Fitzgibbon.

The Catholic Almanac for Ontario.

The Catholic Almanac for Ontario, for 1897, has made its appearance, and is greatly improved, both in matter and illustrations. The publishers have succeeded in gathering together into this work an amount of information much of which will be new to the general reader. For Catholics the character of the information supplied would appear to be indispensable to all who desire to keep "posted" on the principal feasts and fasts of the year and the ritual observance of each day. To the calendar and general contents are added a directory of the Church in Ontario, lists of parishes and missions, clergy list, Separate schools, lists of religious orders, etc., all conveniently arranged for reference. A readable biographical sketch of V. G. Laurent and a short story by Mr. O'Hagan enhance the interest of this year's almanac.

Look Out for Pickpockets.

Pickpockets are getting in their work in Toronto. Although no heavy losses are reported, the work done by them goes to show that they know their business. They are working around the principal corners, and in the vicinity of departmental stores, churches, places of entertainment and where crowds usually gather. Mrs. Strauss, 121 Edward-street, lost her pocketbook at Queen and Yonge-streets. She felt a tug at her dress, and when she looked for her purse it was gone. Mrs. Speerin, 882 Queen-street west, went to the Crawford-street Church Sunday night. When collection was being taken up she felt for her purse and it was missing. Mrs. Bell-Smith, 326 Jarvis-street, attended the Northern Congregational Church. In coming out with the crowd after the service her purse was taken.

R. R. Men Call at Kents'.

Of the many firms competing to obtain the inspectorship of the C. P. R. they have officially appointed the expert watch house of Kents', 144 Yonge-street, near Temperance-street, as their watch inspectors, and the Waltham or Elgin watches made especially for them are adjusted purposely for railroad use, and all C. P. R. railroad men are requested to call upon them and have their watches tested.

THE MASTERSTROKE OF MODERN MERCHANDISING

There is no woman, man or child in this country who is not interested in the money saving power of this announcement. Is there a man or woman who wants to pay more than is necessary for what they need? No! The marvelous success of the John Eaton store proves beyond a doubt that it has since its opening day done more to reduce the cost of living than has ever been done before in Toronto. Twelve months ago we held a "Harvest Home"—it was the talk of the land—the people came from the north—from the south—from the east and from the west. We shall hold another!

"A SHOPPER'S HARVEST HOME!"

At every counter will resound the jubilant anthem of praise. The hosts of "Honest merchandising" have overwhelmingly prevailed. This matchless victory lightens the heart and rifts all the hanging clouds, and floods us with the golden sunshine of hope and promise. In honor and in thanksgiving, "we shall celebrate it" by a royal distribution of merchandise beyond the power of description. Then

TO-MORROW, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18th, 8.30 a.m.
