Some time ago the defendants in the London West suit filed a notice for a jury trial, and yesterday the motion to set aside the notice was argued before Justice Street, at Toronto, who decided in favor of the moion, saying the jury notice was for the purpose of delaying the trial. The trial will be held before Justice Robertson on Nov. 16. NOT THE RIGHT MAN.

EVELYN GORDON IN "LADY AUD-LEY'S SECRET.

At the Music Hall last night a large audience, in spite of the stormy weather, greeted Evelyn Gordon as Lady Audley, the title role in a dramatized version of Miss Braddon's novel, "Lady Audley's Secret." Miss Gordon as Lady Audley, one of the most despicable of characters in the standard drama, showed a careful and deep study of this role, both from her facial expressions and the reading of the lines. The support was competent, notably Mr. Sign as Robert Audley. The bill for ly's coat, and the burglar must have Rigg, as Robert Audley. The bill for tonight is the Irish comedy-drama, done some searching before finding it. "Kathleen Mavourneen," and Thursday evening, which is newsboys' night, when the newsboys from the various city papers will attend in a body, "Miss Smith of California" will be presented.

W. C. T. U. The regular meeting of the W. C. T. | self up in a safe over night. U. was largely attended, Mrs. J. W. Jones in the chair. After devotional exercises, Rev. Mr. Gilmore gave a very profitable Bible reading on reverence for God's word, founding his remarks on Micah ii. After the usual routine business, the election of officers for the ensuing year was proceeded with, when Mrs. May R. Thornley was elected honorary president; Mrs. Gordon Wright, president; Mrs. Darch, treasurer; Miss Cosford, recording secretary, and Mrs. Wright, corresponding secretary, and the same vice-presidents as the preceding year, with the addition of Mrs. (Rev.) T. S. Johnson as vice-president at large. Mrs. Saunby and Mrs. Williams gave exhaustive reports of the provincial convention at Pembroke, the latter giving also an epitome of Miss Slack's address. On motion to adjourn the meeting was closed by Mrs. Evans leading in the Lord's Prayer. "IN OLD KENTUCKY" TOMORROW

NIGHT. "In Old Kentucky" will be the attraction at the Grand tomorrow night. Its success has been little less than phenomenal. In the face of the most serious business depression known in years, it filled the theaters last season to their utmost capacity. It is given this season with a complete new outfit of scenery, and many new and attractive features. The play is a true and stirring picture of Kentucky life, beginning in the mountains and shifting to the blue grass country. Naturally a story of this kind presents many excellent opportunities for scenic display, and the author has, it make pipe organ work a specialty.

—Mr. Charles Currie, manager of the animated, refreshing and true to the life of the scenes and characters to which he has devoted his talents. His characters are of the simple and homely styles, types rarely seen upon the stage, but which can be found in abundance in Kentucky. The band of youthful darkies is an odd and catching feature, and there are many scenes and incidents characteristic of life in the State where the story of the play is laid.

The street railway conductor is a marked man among the light-fingered gentry. Not content with robbing him on his car, they now go to his house. Conductor Wm. Hatherly, of 891 Dufferin avenue, was awakened this morning by a sound of footsteps in the rear part of his house. He sprang out of bed, and reached the back door in time to see the shadowy figure of a man disappear in the gloom. It was too dark to get a dis-

To Promote Reciprocity.

The G. T. R. General Manager Thinks There Is Good Prospect for a Treaty.

Hays, general manager of the G. T. R., speaking of the United States election yesterday, said: "I think the McKinley Administration will be a strictly business one, and will be fully alive to any advantages to be obtained from a reciprocity treaty between the two countries, and, as is in fact evidenced in their platform, willing to negotiate such a treaty. It seems to me there must be many directions in which this would be mutually advantageous. The Canadian would have a wider market for his agricutural products, poultry, eggs, butter and cheese. The American coal miners should be afforded more ready access to Canadian railroad, and manufacturing interests, and especially in Ontario, owing to the long haul, the Nova Scotia and Cape Breton mines cannot compete even with the protective tariff. As it is today, coal from the last named mines goes into the New England States with a tariff of but 40 cents a ton against it, while batch of car tickets and 45 cents in the Canadian tariff is 60 cents per ton.
