POLICE COURT'S

Street railway cases continue to clog the police court, and the end is not yet in sight. Several more persons charged with stone-throwing and rioting on July 8 were this morning committed for trial. There was an unusually large crowd of spectators this morning, a number of women being among them. The street railway cases were of a monotonous character. Fred Goodacre was up on three charges—rioting, turning a switch and refusing to disperse when ordered to do so by Chief of Police Williams. The hearing was on the former two. P. C. Downs testified to having seen Good-acre pick up a stone and throw it, striking a car near the door. Later he had seen Goodacre get on a car and help Motorman Nelson take it into the barn. This was the car upon which Motorman Rigney was hurt. It was after Rigney was hurt that Good-helped take the car in. P. C. Woolway also testified to having seen Goodacre throw a stone at a

P. C. Egelton testified that he had seen Goodacre turn the point on a switch at Dundas and Lyle streets, causing the car to overrun the switch and giving the crowd a better chance to stone it while it was backing up. This was before the car upon which Rigney was injured came along. Goodacre was standing only a few feet from the witness and turned the switch with his foot. Witness had not tried to prevent him from turning the switch. He did not know why. Later he had seen defendant on one of the cars going into the barn. Witness had made a memorandum of the day's occurre res the next day.

Goodacre was committed for trial and released on bail. The post-proclama-tion case was enlarged for a week. The most serious case was that against John Sherlock, charged with rioting and throwing stones. Upon a former examination on another charge Sherlock swore positively that he had thrown no stones during the day. Superintendent Potter, of the street railway company, testified that he had seen Sherlock pick up something, and throw it at car No. 60. Witness was looking out of Dr. McDonald's office window at the time, which was about the witnesses.

Three cases were postponed till tomorrow, and several post-proclamation cases were enlarged for a week.
William T. Lobb, foreman at the Canada Chemical Company's works, was charged with assaulting and inflicting induce Great Britain to support the bodily harm upon Mrs. Jane Stinson, who keeps a grocery store on Rectory street. Mrs. Stinson testified that while she was standing in front of her place of business talking to a Mr. Davidson, Lobb came by on his wheel, and, overhearing a remark she made to Davidson, about a matter that did not in any way refer to Lobb, had got off his wheel, and, coming over, said: "Mrs. Stinson, I don't want you to insult me." Then he said she had called him a "scab," which she had denied, upon which he had struck her twice with his clinched fist-once on the temple and again on the nose. She would have fallen but for the support of the veranda post. Her temple was medical attendance, and her nose had bled freely from the force of the blow. Dark Picture of the Prospects in the Philippines-A War Correspondent's Letter.

London, July 25 .- A private letter received here today from a war correspondent at Manila, and dated, June 17, says: "There seems to be no end of the war in sight. The censorship is constantly becoming more troublesome. Gen. Otis recently established a rule that any matter relating to the navy must be taken to the commander of the fleet for his approval, and afterwards submitted to the military censor, thus adding to our difficulties. "For some reason which the censor would not explain, Gen. Otis refused to allow us to send the death of Monadnock's captain (Nicholas), for two days after its occurrence. The general also refused to let us send news of the disappearance of Capt. Rockefeller (April 28), on the ground that it would worry nis family, or the killing of Capt. Tilley, of the signal corps, until the next day.

The correspondents are all very tired of this arrangement, which simply means that they must go out and run large chances of getting shot, several times a week, with no chance of making reputations, because their stories must always reflect Otis' views.

"It is impossible to write the truth about the situation. The resources and fighting qualities of the natives are quite misunderstood by the American papers, and we cannot write the facts without being accused of treason; nor can we tell of the practically unani-Ottawa, Ont., July 25.—In the House war among the American troops. Some $130,000 Worth Reaches Skag way-A Nugget Waighing Nearly a Pound.

Skagway, Alaska, July 19, via Seattle, Wash., July 25.-Gold dust, amounting to $130,000 came in by train from Atlin. The shipment was made by the Atlin branch of the Merchants' Bank of Halifax. Mr. Botsford, traveling auditor of the bank, had with him an assortment of nuggets, the largest of which was over 16 ounces of pure gold. Hundreds of claims are idle owing to disputes, and hundreds of others are idle because their owners did not care to go on them while the close season lasted. It is believed, however, that the season will be opened Aug. 1, and during the next two months the output will be a surprise.
