ALL HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO BE OF SERVICE NOW

Strong Patriotic Appeal Made in Hamilton Road Church by Officer.

A special patriotic service was held at the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening. The pastor, Dr. McCrae, read a number of letters that had been received in answer to the letters of Christmas and New Year's greetings sent by the church to all its members who have gone overseas. The letters voiced the appreciation of the boys.

Special music of a patriotic character was rendered by the choir, assisted by Sgt. Griffiths, A.S.C., who contributed a pleasing solo.

That the war offered unequalled opportunities for patriotism, civility, sacrifice and service, was the statement of Capt. W. E. Hindsman, who, in an excellent sermon, made plain to his hearers the need for a realization of their opportunities at the present time.

Taking his text from Esther, iv, 14, Capt. Hindsman said that, as when Queen Esther was on the throne, there came an opportunity of doing great service to her people, so to every man and woman in Canada today, there has come an unexampled opportunity of being of service to Canada, to the Empire, and to the cause of liberty throughout the world.

We were citizens of Canada and of the Empire, born under the Union Jack, breathing all our lives the atmosphere of liberty, and sheltered behind British institutions and behind the British army and navy.

"Do we owe anything for all these things?" asked the speaker.

Regarding the Canadians who are already in khaki, he stated that the cream of Canadian young manhood is in the Canadian expeditionary force.

In conclusion he drew attention to the need of strong resolution and the spirit of courage to prosecute the war to a successful termination.

At the First Methodist Church a patriotic service was also held, patriotic music was a pleasing feature of the service. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Captain H. B. Kenny, who also spoke at the Majestic Theatre later in the evening.

EIGHT WOUNDED MEN WARMLY WELCOMED IN SUNDAY'S STORM

Only One Londoner Was in Party Arriving Yesterday.

BIG CROWD AT STATION

Some of the Men May Be Able to Return to France.

Eight wounded and invalided soldiers who arrived at 4:50 Sunday afternoon, received a true Canadian welcome amid falling snow which almost hid the cars from sight.

The train was nearly six hours late, but in spite of this, one of the largest crowds that has yet met soldiers returning here was at the station.

The best turnout of officials of the Soldiers' Aid Commission since its organization also characterized the reception.

Nothing daunted by the blinding snow the bandmen of the 14th Battalion did their share in making the home-coming a success, although it was necessary for them to turn out twice during the day owing to the train being delayed.

Because of the storm they did not accompany the automobiles which transported the men to the Central Military Convalescent Hospital, where supper awaited them.

Many members of the Returned Soldiers' Association were at the station.

Met by Officials.

At the hospital the men were addressed by James Gray, who was in charge of the reception. C. T. Brown, of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, and Corp. Stroud, of the Returned Soldiers' Association.

Only one member of the party was a resident of London before his enlistment, Pte. R. W. Wray, 84 Bruce street, enlisted here with the 70th Battalion, going overseas with it. In England he was transferred and went to France with a draft of the 58th Battalion. He was wounded twice during the battle of Courcellette.

Pte. H. Robottom trained in London with the 34th Battalion, in which he enlisted at Woodstock, his home town. Transferred to the 2nd Battalion, he was wounded in the right arm necessitating his coming to Canada.

Pte. P. J. Driscoll, invalided back because of a wound in his right leg, was a member of the R. C. I. C. and was stationed in London for several months in 1914. He was moved to Toronto because of the outbreak of war, and it was there he met his company.

For the front. He remained with it until the time of receiving his wound.

Pte. W. J. Varney and Pte. William Bertram were invalided from England and Pte. J. Slater from France. Pte. Varney enlisted at Galt with the 34th Battalion and in England was transferred to another London district battalion, the 18th, Pte. Bertram enlisted with the 71st Battalion from France. Pte. Slater was with the 10th Battalion in France from whence he was invalided. He enlisted at Galt with the 34th.

Pte. A. Gedge also trained in London, being a member of the 71st Battalion, which he joined at Palmerston. He was transferred to the 3rd Battalion and was wounded in the shoulder.

Pte. W. B. Sinclair is from Warton, Ont. He was a member of the 52nd Battalion and was wounded in the right arm.

UP TO CIVILIANS TO SEE THAT RANKS ARE KEPT WELL FILLED

Rousing Addresses at Recruiting Rally Held Sunday.

APPEAL MADE TO WOMEN

Would Be Rush to the Colors if They Willed It.

A recruiting meeting under the auspices of the Overseas Chapter, I. O. D. E., was held at the Majestic Theatre last evening. The meeting was called for the purpose of securing recruits for the 14th Battalion, which needs 300 men in order to bring the unit up to strength.

None were secured at the meeting, but it is expected some will offer themselves in a few days.

Least-Col. W. J. Brown acted as chairman.

Musical was furnished by the 14th Battalion band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Martin William Devlin.

This is the sixth consecutive Sunday evening that the 14th band has played at the regular weekly recruiting meeting at the Majestic.

Songs were given by Miss Edith McBride and Pte. W. Neale. Both were encouraged.

Ideas Changed.

Capt. Kenny of the permanent staff of Ottawa spoke for ten minutes. In part he said:

"Since this war began I have revolutionized my ideas on war."

"I did not believe in war, but as British subjects, we are fighting a war for freedom, in which we are justified to fight and should fight."

"What did the German Kaiser say he would give to Poland? He has made them pay taxes, work for him and fight in his army."

He would do the same thing if the Germans were to take Canada.

"Are our Canadian boys cowards? No; they are not. At some of the fiercest-fought engagements in this great war they have demonstrated that they possess true courage."

"War is the supreme test of loyalty. I hope all eligible young men will obey the call."

N. P. Davidson, K.C., of Toronto, the principal speaker of the evening, made a strong appeal for recruits in his address in outlining the situation as it stands today.

He mentioned the fact that for the first time he had been given the opportunity of addressing a gathering under the auspices of the I. O. D. E.

Was Unnecessary.

"For a long time it was unnecessary to appeal for recruits, but conditions have changed since then. The time has come when the balance of the 500,000 men which we pledged to Great Britain must be got and must be sent."

The civilian population must take it upon themselves to see that the men they are sending to the front are of exceptional quality. There are deterrents to enlisting.

"The war is becoming more commonplace and many are not realizing the seriousness of the situation."

"There would be a great rush to the colors if the wounded end of this country would let it go. Every eligible man in Canada today is dominated to some extent by a woman, either mother, sister, wife or sweetheart, and if the women could see the matter right into their hands they could find the solution I think, to the recruiting problem."

"I sometimes think some of us don't want this war to end. Times are so good that many men think they cannot afford to enlist. The man who hides behind any excuse today is missing his life-time."

Sergeant Lee Talke, returned soldier and a member of the 14th Battalion, gave a brief outline of his experiences on the western front while he was in charge of a sniping platoon connected with the "Fighting 14th."

Describing the methods utilized by the snipers, he said each sharpshooter was accompanied by a man with a telescope, whose business it was to detect the slightest movement on the part of the enemy. When one of the enemy was discovered the sniper did the rest.

"When a German in the front of our trench put up his head it meant off went his block," said Sergeant Lee. In closing Sergeant Lee made a strong appeal for recruits.

Major Monteth of the 14th Battalion explained the need of men for his battalion. He spoke only a few minutes owing to the lateness of the hour.

"We need 300 men for our battalion, and there are plenty of eligible young men in London to supply our need in a few hours if only they would realize the seriousness of the situation," said Major Monteth.

ELDER TELLS ABOUT MORMON MYSTERIES

Many Things Misunderstood He Says by Public at Large.

"There is no mystery in Mormonism," declared Elder Charles Montebard speaking at the People's Forum on "Mormon Mysteries" Sunday afternoon.

He spoke with the authority of a quarter of a century's acquaintance with the doctrine.

He pointed out that Mormonism as he knew it and Mormonism as the average person knows it are entirely different things. Polygamy, he claimed, was not Mormonism, but purely Brighamism.

Outlining the creed he showed that the foundation of the church was laid on four phases of life, the mental, the physical, the spiritual and the economical. The laws of the Mormons, he said, demanded that all good books should be studied and that history, languages and similar branches of education be developed. They were the first to establish a university in Ohio, and in other places that they had settled. For their physical well-being it was demanded that they partake temperately of all things and abstain from liquor and tobacco. They eat meat sparingly, he said, and during summer do not partake of it at all.

They maintain that a man cannot be happy and reach the true heights of religious existence unless properly cared for. Each member of the church, he said, gave one-tenth of his income to the church, and the church was used to send out missionaries, to buy stewardships and for similar purposes.

The three great books of the Mormons are the Bible, the Book of Mormon and the Book of Doctrine and Covenants. The Bible, they consider, as the history of God's dealings with the Jews, the Book of Mormon as God's dealings with the inhabitants of this continent—the forefathers of the Indians—and the Book of Doctrine and Covenants as God's dealings with the present day generation through Joseph Smith, his son Joseph and his son Frederick.

WILSON IS UNTRUE TO FIRST PRINCIPLES OF REAL DEMOCRACY

Fattening on Wealth Gained Through Wrongs to Others.

CRIMINAL INDIFFERENCE

Looks Idly on at Wrongs Perpetrated Against Belgians.

Preaching on the subject of "Democracy" in the First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, the minister, Rev. W. J. Knox, declared democracy to be not a form of government, but a spirit. In support of this statement, he pointed to the United States as an outstanding example at the present time of a country having the form of democracy without the essence, a country in this world-wide crisis of war not led by the will of the people or the leading press but by the Wilson administration, an administration which has proved itself untrue to the essential principles of democracy.

Looked Idly On.

When the neutrality of Belgium was violated, the Wilson administration was content to fold its hands and look on. The Wilson administration satisfied itself with writing notes in regard to the submarine warfare in which United States citizens suffered. The Wilson administration held itself wholly unaccountable for the enslavement of Belgians. A note from the Wilson administration following the peace proposals caused a falling in stocks, which enriched by millions some people very close to the president.

"This so-called democracy," said the preacher, "in assuming an attitude of criminal indifference to world suffering while fattening itself with wealth gained through wrongs of others, has proved itself a form of democracy without the essence."

Ideal Democracy.

A contrasting picture was to be found in Great Britain, a monarchial form of government, a scattered empire, bound together not by a mailed fist, but by devotion to a moral ideal. In Great Britain, Mr. Knox declared, was to be found the nearest approach to the ideal democracy the world has known. Four things were named by him in conclusion as absolutely essential to democracy: (1) Faith in the moral instincts of men; (2) a universal educational system to train the people to do their own thinking; (3) radical free enterprise free from race prejudice; (4) men must be animated by the Christ-spirit of service and sacrifice in the interests of the common welfare.

A Fine Program.

An enjoyable musical feature of the service was a solo, "Was There Ever Sorrow" from Maunders' cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," sung by Sgt. W. T. Hays, of the C. A. M. C. Sgt. Hays has a pure lyric tenor voice of exceptional liquid quality, unusually clear and sweet in the upper notes, and of surprising volume in the lower tones. He sings with ease, and his interpretation of his number was most sympathetic.

Mr. Hays, as announced by Rev. Mr. Knox, last evening, will be one of the assisting artists at the organ recital which George C. Lethbridge is giving in the First Presbyterian Church next Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Women's Music Club, for the benefit of the Children's Aid Society.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

There are many ways in which little economies may be made on the necessities of a family. It is a matter of intellectual effort to select different things and discard superfluous things. Drop in some time when you are passing, and we will show you an opportunity to save on your shoe requirements. It will be worth your while. Casselman Bros., 171 Dundas street.

WON THE CUP.

Shortwire, owned by W. H. Short, 723 Queen's avenue, was awarded the cup for the best pup under six months old, of any breed, at the puppy show held on Thursday in Detroit. The cup was donated by J. T. Scholtehouse of Detroit. Shortwire is 4½ months old.

The puppy show was held at the Hotel Addison, under the auspices of the Detroit Kennel Club, and was open to all terrier puppies over 2½ months and under 1 year old.

Wounded Soldier Wants Light Work

A member of the 1st Battalion, who received a bullet wound in the left arm, with the result that the bone and nerve was shattered, has recovered only partial use of his arm. He is a machinist before enlisting, but is unable to return to his former vocation. He requires light work that will enable him to develop strength in his injured arm. If you need such a man, phone 965, the Soldiers' Aid Commission, City Hall.

SOLDIERS' CHILDREN BEING LOOKED AFTER

Aid Society Has Had Many Calls for Assistance.

A meeting of the finance committee of the Children's Aid Society was held in Sheriff Cameron's office Saturday.

The financial statement upon the society has been exceptionally severe the past few months, due principally to so many children being taken from the homes of soldiers.

The committee will present its findings at the monthly meeting of the society on Monday, and will then decide what action may be necessary to replenish the funds in order to carry on its work successfully.

F. G. JEWELL TO BE NAMED SUPERVISING CITY AUDITOR

Utilities Commission and No. 1 Committee Decide This is Advisable for 1917.

Frank G. Jewell will be named supervising city auditor as the result of a conference on Saturday afternoon between the utilities commission, and a deputation from the No. 1 committee of the city council.

Ald. J. J. Dyer will interview him and get his terms. It is expected that he will give 100 hours of his time for $500 for overseeing the work.

The utilities commission agreed to grant $2,000 towards the expense of the audit. Of this $500 will go to Mr. Jewell, and the balance to Arch Seratton and Andrew Dale, for their work, and to pay assistants.

A tabulation of the time spent by the auditors in doing the work of each department will be kept, so that an idea of the relative expenditure to be met by each department can be employed of Mr. Jewell was made by Chairman Philip Fosick of the utilities commission, who stated that the approval of a man of Mr. Jewell's standing was necessary to sell the city's bonds to the best advantage.

FIREMEN AND RAILWAY WORKED THEIR HARDEST

Not a Moment Was Lost in Answering Strathroy's Call for Help.

In less than twenty minutes after Mayor Stevenson received the call from Strathroy Saturday at midnight for help to fight the big fire which was threatening the business district, the city steam fire engine, a wagon loaded with hose, Chief Alken and ten of his best men were ready to leave. Not a second was lost after the call came, and the fire-fighters as well as the Grand Trunk did great work.

One of the fast Delaware, Lackawanna and Western locomotives, which have been loaned to the G. T. R., was rushed down with a freight car and a caboose.

The outfit was at the Wellington street platform of the sheds for loading a few minutes after the fire apparatus arrived, and all was ready for the train to pull out when word came that the fire was under control.

NOMINATION PAPERS FILED.

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—The nomination papers for both candidates in the Dorchester County by-election—Hon. Albert Savigny, minister of inland revenue, and Lucien Cannon, the nominee of the Liberal party organization in the county—were formally filed Saturday afternoon at St. Helene.

The filing of the papers was a mere formality, and there was no demonstration of any kind.

DUCKS FOR MILITARY HOSPITALS.

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—At the last session of the Ontario Legislature, legislation was passed prohibiting the export of wild duck for sale from Ontario, and a hunting club at Port Rowan has, as a result, found that it has something like 1,400 ducks in cold storage which it cannot get rid of. The club has applied to Hon. F. Macdonald for permission to send the ducks to the different military hospitals throughout Ontario. This will be done, and a man is now at Port Rowan looking after the shipments.

Who Pays Your Wages?

You may be able to tell by giving the name of the man you work for. That may do when you are among plain people, but be careful if there are college professors around.

Learned men have written many books trying to settle whether wages are paid from capital or from the products of labor, but you need not bother about that.

What means most to you is that your wages shall continue to be paid. Food, shelter and clothing for yourself and family depend on that.
