power.

Premier Nitti considered that the resignation of the cabinet would be an admission either of culpability or weakness, which would make the situation worse. He added that he "naturally was ready and desirous to be relieved of the tremendous responsibility of anyone who would suggest a man better fitted to cope with a terrible crisis."

Workmen numbering approximately 1,000,000 are now on strike, and dissatisfaction is growing everywhere at the postantly increasing cost of living. It is impossible for the government to call any man to the colors, especially after having recently pardoned all descripts with the colors of the strip increasing cost of living. Strike leaders are prepared for any alleged attempts of the companies to make a breach in the ranks of the strikers, mass meetings were planned for late this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow in a number of places in the expectation of holding the men already out and persuading wavering workers to join the strikers.

Men Renew Efforts.

There has been a great concentration of organizers in this district to spread the strike, and every effort will be made to shut down the big plants of the Carnegie Steel Company that are still in operation in this section. Renewed efforts to bring out the Jones & Laughlin men in the district is also to be made. Chief interest about strike headquarters today was the meeting of the steel workers' national committee. The meeting was called to take action on the proposed strike against the Beth. lehem Steel Company, called for Monday, but it is expected the committee will also consider questions that have arisen in connection with the strike in this part of the state since it last met. age of 13. After a tour through the West Indies, she withdrew to prepare for a greater career.

At the age of 16 she appeared in the Academy of Music. New York, in her first opera role, "Lucia Di Lammermoor." Her wonderful soprano roused the audience to the wildest enthusiasm and her fame swept the country. At this time she was earning $100 a week. She repeated her conquest as Amina in "La Sonnombula." in Covent Garden, London, in 1861. Her salary had increased to $750 a month.

It was the beginning of a dazzling conquest of all Europe. Royalty entertained her and courted her favors. The populace besieged her hotels and theatres. Men in all stations of life wooed her, but she brushed them aside with a laugh and trill.

Made Many Tougs.

She finally capitulated at the age of 25 to Henri. Marquis de Cauz, equerry to Napoleon III. They separated after a few years, Mme. Patti finally securing a divorce in 1885 to marry Signor Ernesto Nicotini, an Italian singer.

Signor Ernesto Nicotini, an Italian singer.

Her first American tour began in 1881. She was greeted by a magnificent ovation when she made her first appearance in opera in the New York Academy of Music, the scene of her girlish triumphs of 20 years before. She was at the height of her career, and became the musical sensation of the winter. The following year she sang at the newly-opened Metropolitan Opera. House, Her guaranteed salary was $5,000 a night—and it was paid, for Mme. Patti invariably refused to appear until the money was in her possession.

She made her final professional appearance at the age of 65 in London. Her last days were passed in Wales, at her beautiful castle, "Graig-y-Nos," with her third husband, Baron of Céderstrom, whom she married in 1899, a year after the death of Nicotini.

Mme. Patti is reputed to have left an estate valued at more than $3,000.000.

No Reason to Strike.

The Daily News, which is always sympathetic to labor, says "there was no shadow or semblance of excuse for the strike," adding: "The disproportion between the deadliness of the weapon which has been unsheathed and the magnitude of the issue in dispute is such that even now there is ground for hope that a sense of their wantonness of wrong to the nation may bring a swift end to the strike."

J. H.
