City Council Wants to Get Full Report-Opposition to Salary Bonuses.

Not because of any hostility toward the proposal to annex West Toronto, but for the reason that the aldermen felt their dignity suffered thru their being asked to pass upon so important a matter at short notice, the city council decided at the special meeting yesterday afternoon to get a full report on conditions, financial and otherwise, before voting to take in new territory.

Ald. Church started the objections complaining that there were no reports of civic officials showing how annexation would affect the city; also he didn't like the idea of West Toronto being a separate ward. Controller Harrison thought the proposal reasonable, however, West Toronto being now a separate city. As to officials' reports, it was well known that city officials were opposed to annexing the territory, altho this was the city councilled reports.

Ald. Ald. Saunderson thought such bonuses would mean discrimination against workmen employed by the city, and was accused by Ald. Robertson's Case.

Citing a couple of cases in which the guild had apparently been trying to dic-tate to George Robertson, the inde-pendent Scotchman in Kingston, who fought them for so long, asked Crosse and Blackwell, as to what methods they should adopt in conducting their business. Mr. Blackstock wanted to know if the guild had not been at-tempting to force business out of its legitimate channels. Witness started in on a long explanation, but the there was a limit to that kind of thing. and when he put the question again, the witness answered "No." "Very well, sir, then I'll not examine you any further," said Mr. Blackstock.

He told Mr. Johnstone that the staples, sugar, salt, etc., constituted fully 60 per cent. of his total business, while in some men's trade it ran up as high as 75 or 80 per cent. Others again, like Mr. Kinnear, for example only sold about 40 per cent. He made very little profit as the prices were so close. He knew of one wholesale house with a turnover of $2,000,000, while the actual profit was only $5000. That finished the evidence.
