PLACES RESTRICTIONS ON PARIS AMUSEMENTS

Government Officially Acts on the Matter of Costumes to Be Worn in Theatres.

The under-secretary of state for public instruction and fine arts, in agreement with the directors of the four subsidized theatres in Paris, has decided that until the end of the war the public will not be admitted, whatever the nature of the performance, except in ordinary day dress.

kinemas have decided to close their places of amusement for one day each week. The theatres will close on Fridays, concert-halls on Wednesdays, and kinemas on Tuesdays.

THE HUN HYPOCRITE BEMOANS AIR VICTIMS

Would Persuade French People That German Helpless Innocents Have Been Slaughtered.

BRITISH BARBARITY

Whines That English Are Responsible for Reprisals by Zepps on French Towns.

German hypocrisy can go no further than a recent attempt to persuade the French people by means of circulars dropped by airmen that French aviators are engaged in the pastime of murdering German innocents.

In a Berlin circular which has just come into our hands printed in French appear the following passages: "Frenchmen! Your airmen with their bombs have killed during the last few weeks a great number of civilians, men, women and children, far behind the front in Germany. At Karlsruhe 48 killed included 30 children. In attacks on Mülheim, Frick, Kander, Holsen, Mappach and Heltersheim there were as many killed and wounded. None of these places are of the slightest military importance."

These Base British. "Frenchmen! We know now without any doubt whatever that these crimes have been committed by the express order of your government. President Poincaré himself has given the order at the base investigation of the British. "Germany makes war upon the French armed forces, not on the civil population of women and children. We hope that there will be no more barbarous attacks of this kind by French aviators, but if there is a repetition Germany will be compelled to take similar measures in defence. "But you will know the Frenchmen, that that slave of England, M. Poincaré, will be responsible for the blood of innocent victims, and that it will be British barbarity which will have compelled us to plunge your towns, far away from the front, into mourning."

When one recalls the unprovoked zeppelin attacks upon centres of population both near Paris and in England which are not of the slightest military value, and the hundreds of non-combatant victims of all ages and sexes, the colossal effrontery of this circular is self-evident.

The people of Toronto deserve credit for two things—their love of fair-play, shown by their helpful orders for bread sent in to support my bread-price-reduction plan, and secondly, their love of good bread as shown by their appreciation of the loaves turned out by Toronto's largest bread bakery.

GIFTS TO THE WOMEN WHO GAVE

A Suggestion to Translate Non-Essential Gifts into Essential Ones.

The time for giving is coming. But to tens of thousands of Canadian families it came long ago, and they gave of their best, without thought of cost, full measure pressed down and running over. They gave their breadwinners—the sons, the husbands who were the strong arm of their support, the fathers upon who they leaned.

These sons, husbands and fathers are today facing death for our sake, but their arms are strengthened by the confidence that those they have left behind are in the care of a loving and a grateful country.

Are we seeing to it that the confidence is rightly based? Are we, as individuals, making sacrifices in order that the Patriotic Fund may be able to expend the six million dollars that will have to be spent in Ontario next year if the dependents of the soldiers are to be properly cared for?

Christmas time is here—the time of giving—the time that commemorates the greatest gift the world ever received. Why not this year dedicate our gifts to those who have dedicated their dearest and their best to our service and the service of humanity? Why not hold our hand from the useless gift, the gift that is not indispensable to the recipient, and translate that gift into the imperative one—the one that we must make to keep our faith with those men in yonder trenches.

And if we withhold from wife, or sweetheart, or child, the present that would have been theirs, let them know that what they have lost the dependents of these men have gained—and wife, sweetheart and child will be the richer from the knowledge, and the prouder for the sacrifice they have made.

WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP IS OWNED IN ITALY

An Oil Steamer With Wonderful Contrivances for the Speedy Shifting of Cargoes.

CARRIES A RAILWAY
Can Unload Fourteen Thousand Tons of Freight in Forty-Eight Hours.

The largest steamer ever built for cargo carrying is the Milazzo, a new Italian merchant ship. She is built as no other ship has ever been built in the history of the world. The prime idea of her construction was that she should be able to carry 14,000 tons of cargo and 4,500 tons of oil-fuel and discharge the cargo in forty-eight hours without manual labor. This she has actually accomplished.

On each side of the bottom of the vessel there runs a railway with two sets of lines in a tunnel with an inverted V-shaped roof. This leaves room for similar tunnels at the sides of the ship, into which the oil-fuel is poured, to be pumped out as required; and in the centre is a further tunnel, which contains the propeller shaft.

A Miniature Railway.
The greatest novelty, however, is the inverted V-roofed railways, and other compartments mentioned. Doors, or hatches, open at regular intervals on the inside of the railway roofs, and as each is opened the cargo tumbles into a little railway car, until it is filled.

The deck of the Milazzo is covered with a series of tall discharging towers. Each has a well that goes right down to the railway line. The loaded car is run to the neck of these wells, where its body is snatched off the wheels and hoisted up the well to a platform. Here it tips its contents into a monster chute, which conveys the coal or corn to a barge or railway truck for transport wherever necessary.

A BLOW TO THE ENEMY.
Major Morant, in The Berliner Tageblatt, tries to explain the allies' success at Mons by their better means of communication. He considers the success on the whole of no strategic importance. He continues: "Without doubt the bending back of our front is not pleasant for us, and the brilliant attack of November 17 by General von Buscov proved that we endeavored to delay this."

To Ward Off Winter Complexion Ills

To keep the face smooth, white and beautiful all winter, there's nothing quite so good as our new Skin Cream. Rough, chapped or discolored skin, inevitable in this weather, is gently absorbed by the wax and tanned by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, the latter being applied at bed-time and washed off mornings. Creams, powders and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear conspicuous at this season, because of alternating expansion and contraction of the skin, due to changing temperatures. You are advised to try this simple treatment. Get an ounce of morozol wax at any drug store and use 1/20 cold cream. This will help any skin at once, and in a week or so the complexion will look remarkably youthful and healthy. Winds and flying dust often cause squinting and other contortions, which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every wrinkle, however produced, by using a harmless face bath made by dissolving one ounce powdered vasoline in one-half pint witch hazel.
