NEW TEMPERANCE HALL

DEDICATED ON MAIN ST. Handsome New Quarters of Alexandra Temple of Honor Opened With Interesting and Impressive Service. Impressive was the service held last night at the Alexandra Temple of Honor in Main street, North End, when the new hall was dedicated by Grand Worshipful Templar Blawie and the Grand Worshipful Chaplain, Rev. D. Hutchinson. The evening opened by an orchestral selection, which was given to a crowd of well-wishers. The chairman, Dr. Roberts, opened with an address, in which he eulogized the strenuous work being carried on by the Templars. It is according to our rights that when we build new premises," he said, "that we dedicate them to the work we are carrying on so successfully. The Oration Males Quartette were loudly applauded and rendered two selections most harmoniously. Grand Worshipful Templar Blawie then read the dedication ceremony, which was very impressive and was followed by an expert prayer from the Grand Worshipful Chaplain, who also read a lesson from 1st Cor., 13th verse. G. W. T. Blawie asked all the Templars present if they would be true to their pledge and do all they could to further the cause of temperance and assist each other in the good work before them. They answered with one accord that they would. The Doxology was then sung by all present. The Grand Worshipful Templar, in an eloquent and lusty address, explained the chief aims and objects of their society. He said: It was for the saving of fellow men from the clutches of the evil habit of drinking that we have been established here. We are not here to do anything but to help the unfortunate, by freeing the drunkard, succoring him in all sorrow or distress. The entire audience arose and lustily sang the ode, "All Hail, All Hail," at the end of which the Rev. David Hutchinson spoke in measured terms of the good and others derived from being members of the Temple of Honor. "Give us the boys and we will make the men of them. There are many here tonight who owe their moral condition to the influence of the Temple of Honor." Alluding to the finances, he stated that they wanted $7,000 to clear the indebtedness, $3,000 of which was needed almost at once. As time was flying, he would give place to other items on the programme, but would back his speech up with $10. Dr. Roberts in a brief and telling discourse, urged all to assist in lessening the liabilities by contributing according to their ability. The male quartette again won laurels by their masterly selections. The orchestra, which consisted of musicians of exceptional merit, rendered in finely executed style some chosen pieces from their extensive repertoire. After singing the National Anthem refreshments were served. The two principal halls were lighted, heated and aired. The main one on the ground floor is 60 x 31 x 20, the hall above being a little smaller, centrally and has a steel ceiling. The cloakroom is 21 x 12 1/2 ft., while a large cloakroom, lavatory and a commodious kitchen make the members of the Alexandra Temple of Honor justly proud of their new home.

FASCINATION OF SEARCH FOR WEALTH AT GOWGANDA

The Veriest Greenhorn is as Likely to Turn Up Something Good as the Veteran—Lots of Tenderfeet About—Plenty of Adventure to be Had.

GOWGANDA, April 15.—The winter rush into the silver fields is over; the spring rush will commence in about six weeks from now, when the canoes are clear of ice. The last of the army of teams that has been pouring in supplies from both ways has left on its homeward trip out, and the quadruple pay and a big bonus besides could tempt the owners to risk their horses again over the dangerous roads or the chances of having their horses left at the wrong end of the route where they are 1000 a ton, and where the only thing for the unfortunates to do would be to shoot his horses and work his way out as best he could. There were nearly a thousand teams at work on the Charlottetown route, and probably half as many on the Bellevue and St. John's routes. Quantities of supplies were left at both terminals, and many companies and merchants got in but a part of their goods. There are loads and loads of machinery and supplies stalled at every roadhouse or dumped by the roadside in the bush. The teams gone and the prospectors scattered or scattering fast into the country, the town is quiet again. WAS THE LAST IN. Surely never such a gathering of men of all kinds and conditions has ever been seen in the bush or at any straggled here by the lure of the silver fields up in the spruce bush of Ontario. It took me four days to get up to them and I had to walk the last forty miles. Over this distance prospectors were strung along every few hundred yards at places, and never a mile of bush road but some are coming on it, but there are only three hundred prospectors. They are of all sorts and conditions, from the seasoned veteran, who knows his business, to the tenderfoot, ignorant of everything, but bound to find a bit of open country somewhere on which to stake his claim. You meet them, packing their supplies, tramping it on snowshoes over the wet snow of the bush or along the lakes, or dragging their load on toboggans. Weary, weary men, many of them are, but they are eagerly forward. Very little of the snow is gone from the bush, it lies three and four feet deep all over, and the sun cannot reach it through the evergreens. The staking goes on just the same, and it is not likely to be time enough to get into the bush after the snow were apt to be left. I have seen a man get stuck in a hole in the snow and never a shovel-full of the snow disturbed, but they swear the earth is hard and they are ready to start afterwards, before the inspector can possibly examine the ground. It is said that the gold is in the north, a tenth part there, there will be doing there later on.

Leading Dealer of United States Draws Attention to Lumber Supply and Great Danger That Confronts the Americans.

PARIS, April 12.—Twenty years from now the probability of how where to obtain a sufficient supply of lumber will bother the people of the United States," said Mr. M. A. Robertson, of St. Paul, Minn., one of the leading lumber dealers in the northwest. Mr. Robertson, who is stopping at the Hotel Bristol, was talking on the lumber supply, which gives evidence of failing to meet the demand sooner or later. He said: "Our properties are located in Canada. We ship to the United States. Therefore considering the tariff legislation, the show may pinch us on the other foot. We want to see the tariff reduced." Continuing on the topic of the future scarcity of lumber in the United States, Mr. Robertson said: "The great fault of the present, and which is not according to authoritative information here, in any way due to the fact that King Leopold, as reported, is acting in the interest of British subjects who desire to block the German loan. King Leopold's motives in the matter appear to be purely personal. When the American-China development company was formed Leopold secured a large share of the Ontario and Ontario Railway Company bonds at 90. Instead of trying to place them into the 'Fond de Garantie' of the Congo State loan fund at par, making thereby for himself about 1,000,000 francs. M. De Lathouze, then president of the committee of surveillance of this fund, now governor of the National Bank of Belgium, protested earnestly against the transaction and subsequently resigned. Before he did so a written contract was executed from the King, whereby the latter guaranteed the difference between the price he paid for the bonds and the sum at which they were turned into the Congo State loan fund at par. King Leopold's present interest in the matter seems to be to find a way to get rid of the bonds, 'at least at par, in order to avoid being compelled to restore the million to the Congo treasury. It is said the King expects to see J. Pierpont Morgan, who was in Brussels shortly and this interview is expected to have an influence on the King's ultimate decision.

THE LURE OF IT ALL

The prospectors you meet in the bush are hungry for information; you don't require a formal introduction to get talking to them. Thousands of men already tramping the trails who would not know a piece of hungry quartz from the richest appetite, and are dead anxious to learn where to go and how to look for the veins—and that's the lure of it all—these men are just about as high as the clouds, and consequently they regard as anybody else. At this time of year the experienced man takes a grub-hob and raises a trail who would not know a piece of hungry quartz from the richest appetite, and are dead anxious to learn where to go and how to look for the veins—and that's the lure of it all—these men are just about as high as the clouds, and consequently they regard as anybody else.
