Who wins? A READER OF BOTH PAPERS.

To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-I read your account of the S. S. teachers' meeting at Upham. I hope you have not correctly reported the young clergyman. "He didn't see the use of it, etc., said it relied on the inspiration of scripture, which no scholar now defended." Is it the Anglo-Israel question no scholar defends, or the in-spiration of scripture? I wish the ambiguity didn't exist.

CHARLO, Restigouche Co., Oct. 10, 1902. To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-Some of the most nonsensical stateents I ever saw appeared over the signa ments I ever saw appeared over the signature of one John Dickie in the Telegraph of the 8th inst. In reference to the Muskoka lumber lands matter.

Were it not that someone who does not know the rights of this affair, or who is not acquainted with the lumber business, might be misled by Mr. Dickie's statements and feel inclined to excuse the government's action in the matter, the letter would not be worth notice, but for this reason perhaps a few words in refutation may be in order. I am rather surprised that the Telegraph published the letter, for it only shows what straws the friends of the government are grasping to try to excuse its action in one of the worst deals the province has ever had to put up with. I think, however, before long something will come to light which may throw some further light on the reasons why this transfer was made, or rather allowed to be made.

But as regards the foolish statements

WE GIVE IT UP. To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-Kindly decide the following bet n your next issue:

in among the trees it would have materially increased the value of the limits, as the trees would have had more room and a better chance to grow. If Mr. Dickie thinks he or any of his friends can hold timber lands by simply paying the mileage from this time out, just let him try it. I venture to say the government realizes by this time what a mistake it made, and if they had a chance of cancelling every one of these licenses today they would gladly do it. No person is blaming Mr. Safves and his friends for getting the lands in the best way they could, and as things are at present I have no doubt it is the best thing that could have happened. The trouble is that the government should have insisted on the Muskoka lands being operated to the extent of the minimum quantity, say ten thousand feet per mile, all these years, or have cancelled the leases and let the other operators go on the lands and put their value in circulation. If this had been done I venture to say that the lands would not have deteriorated one dollar in value and the people would have been so much more in pocket, not to say anything of what the government would have secured in stumpage.

I would suggest to the Telegraph that unless it can find some one who knows more about this matter than Mr. Dickie it had better let the government do its own extilating. Men like that only do more harm a good.

Yours truly, WHY THE POLTRAIT WAS VALU-ABLE. There is a "story" to accompany alnost any famous picture, whether incient or modern, and many a paint ing has a history; but the history de vised for a certain portrait of himself painted by W. P. t; perficial feet of lumber per square mile could have been taken off them annually, and would not have hurt the lands. If this had been allowed it would mean the sum of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars or more expended in Restigouche each year since the lands have been idle, and a revenue to the government of about twelve thousand dollars per year for the many years since the Muskoka people held the lands. What a question therefore to ask!

Again Mr. Dickie asks, in a cute kind of way, what would be the good of the lands after the lumber was cut off them; that is, what use they would be to the lumbermen. Only a fool would ask such a question. If Mr. Dickie was a lumberman he would know that as the lumbermen of the North Shore operate their lands there will be just to as much lumber on these blocks in twenty years as there is now. No lumberman is long as they cut nothing smaller than ten inches and under to a fit size to be cut every ten years. If instead of operating to the extent of twenty thousand superficial feet on each square mile annually, these lands were operated for fifty thousand feet on each square mile annually, these lands were operated for fifty thousand feet on each square mile annually, these lands were operated for fifty thousand feet on each square mile annually, these lands were operated for fifty thousand feet on each square mile annually, these lands were operated for fifty thousand feet on each square mile annually, these lands were operated for fifty thousand feet of the shopkeeper explained, without moving a muscle.
