Dr. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Here and There

The total landings at the new international government elevator in Edmonton, Alta., since its opening last fall, amount to 2,350,000 bushels. Of this quantity of grain handled, more than 2,000,000 bushels was wheat.

With the completion of the 1926 assessment for Toronto, the Chief Assessor announced that the city's population is now 549,429, or 7.012 per cent greater than last year. The total assessment for 1926 is $891,673,797, which is $16,259,443 higher than for 1925.

A new high-water mark for the 1925 season of navigation in regard to number of passengers landed at Quebec over a week-end, was established during the week-end of September 8th when six boats docked with nearly 5,000 passengers. The three Canadian Pacific steamers, the Montroyal, Marloch and Melita, brought 2,524 of the total passengers landed.

Between four and five hundred travelling passenger agents, representing railway, steamship, and other lines, met in the United States and Mexico, united with representatives of the Canadian railways and steamship companies in Montreal during the week ending September 10th, for the fifteenth annual convention of the American Association of Travelling Passenger Agents.

In succession to Captain James Gillies, who was recently appointed general manager Canadian Pacific steamships in London, Captain R. G. Latta has been appointed to the command of the Empress of Scotland, flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet. Captain Latta was previously on the bridge of the "Montroyal" and other vessels of the same line.

Arrangements are being made for the holding of the western annual meeting in Winnipeg from November 3rd to 5th of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. The meetings will be held in the Royal Alexandra Hotel. Delegates from all points in the West, as well as from Eastern Canada, are expected to attend.

A memorial known as "The Altar of Peace" has recently been unveiled in Stanley Park, Vancouver, to symbolize the spirit of international good-will existing between the United States and Canada. The memorial was raised by joint subscription of United States and Canadian Kiwanis Clubs, and stands on the spot where the late President Harding delivered the last speech of his life while visiting Canada, in July, 1923.

One of the largest shipments of live foxes for export ever to leave Prince Edward Island, left recently for New York for transshipment to Norway. The shipment comprised 200 foxes in all, with a gross value of $40,000. Several small shipments of animals were consigned to Norway last year and this large order was the success which the Norwegian breeders have had with those animals previously sent from this country.

As illustrating the volume of grain delivered by the Port of Montreal compared with that of Vancouver, figures given by the Pacific coast port for the crop year ending July 31 last, show Montreal deliveries were six and three-quarters times those from the Pacific coast.

The new Fawcett Furnace, pipe and Pipeless, offers advantages where quick heat counts that no church, school, public building can ignore. Its radiator, for example, instead of being steel (excellent radiation, but poor durability) or cast iron (durable, but inferior from the radiating standpoint) alone among Canadian furnaces its radiator is of Taconite Metal—pure iron, for durability, fused with copper for finest radiation.

Well, well, men are now wearing longer skirts than women on the bathing beaches.

HOW MODERN WOMAN IS SPOILED

By Anthony Wynne

Is our attitude to our womenfolk changing? American visitors to Great Britain this year declare that it is, and that we in England are gradually adopting the idea and customs in vogue on the other side of the Atlantic. "You may not notice it," a charming American woman told me a few days ago, "but I do. I know your country well, and I can assure you that your men are growing more like our men where girls are concerned."

"For women are spoiled in America, and being spoiled is so tiresome." "Naturally I was anxious to know the symptoms of the change, which, to a foreign visitor, is the newest phase of our social life. She gave me them in her crisp and decided way.

"You spend too much money on girls now. If you take a girl out it means cake and dinner, sometimes supper, too, as well as the 'show.' Ten years ago your girls would not have allowed you to do that. You would have despised them nearly if they had allowed you."

"I agreed that there was truth in that. "And, the young women themselves, especially the young wives, spend more than they used to do. They want excitement all day and every day, dances, theatres, parties, to go here and there, everywhere. Someone has to work to make that money. Ten years ago no Englishman would have accepted married life on such terms."

"But that," I said, "applies to only a few couples. Tomorrow there will be a few more. What one wife has the other wives demand. Once you allow women to run away with you, you can't tell where you may arrive."

She mentioned other signs, signs which I confessed I had not noticed, but which were obvious enough once they had been pointed out. Our ways of treating women are changing. We are spoiling women in a manner which our fathers and grandfathers would have regarded as quite reprehensible.

Worse still, as my American friend pointed out, we are turning happy-unhappy girls into little creatures, whose only thought is the next entertainment they may be able to secure. "What do you suppose women want in their hearts?" she asked me. She did not answer that question in so many words. But she told me that the tragedy of the American woman is that she is positively not allowed to give anything in exchange for what she gets. Her husband, so she hinted, is at her feet that he has for gotten how to ask for her gifts.

"And when a woman can give nothing to a man she is tired of him." Our fathers expected a great deal of their wives. Getting married twenty years ago was, for a woman, the preliminary to a very busy, very responsible, often very self-sacrificing life.

Yet our mothers were very happy people. Boredom was a disease they knew little about. The present-day husband—now that my eyes have been opened I see it quite clearly—is much too lax in the matter of his rights. He expects far too little of the girl he marries. Because he is afraid to seem harsh or unkind, he gives instead of asking. And so the spirit of romance, the spirit of going grandly in the face of difficulties and troubles, ebbs away out of his wife's heart. She becomes a woman with nothing to do.

That is the most miserable lot which can fall to any woman in this world. The modern notion that women exist to be petted and spoiled is unnatural and absurd.

It is we men who are at fault. It is we men who have drifted into the bad habit of measuring our love by the number and costliness of our gifts instead of by the warmth of response it is capable of calling forth. Bad habits can be broken, but it takes time, and then we must have the courage and determination to break them. There is no reason, except weakness, why this spoiling of women should be carried to the present extreme.

"This cheque is doubtless all right," said the merchant, politely, but have you anything about you by which you could be indemnified?" The pretty young thing faltered: "I have a mole on my left knee."

"One thing we would like to see is to have all the people who think the country would get together, get together, and then see what would happen after they were together."

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

THE BAND STAND—by Arthur Chapman in Ladies' Home Journal.

Many small towns are installing radios in their bandstands, thus eliminating the village band.

How dear to this heart is the hand of my childhood.

The band that could never play anything new.

The cornet, the tuba, the flute carved from wildwood.

And the drummer, as proudly his drumsticks he threw;

The cymbals, and likewise the artist who played 'em.

The cross-eyed troubadour, whose tones were a dark brown;

Our leader, the barber, who, after he had shaved 'em,

Charmed all of the suffering men of the town;

And even the bandstand, the paint-lacking bandstand.

The jackknife-carved bandstand, the pride of the town.

Now to base use has descended this treasure.

A radio hangs from its rafters so bare;

Far-scattered the players who once gave us pleasure;

Our program now comes over miles of thin air.

We get the jazz hits just as soon as the notes are written.

A tune that's a week old we greet with a frown;

But sometimes with grief o'er the past are we smitten.

When we meet our radio stand in the town.

The once so-called bandstand, the knothole-filled bandstand,

The now bandless bandstand that graces our town.

CAMPERS GUILTY

"Campers and anchors," states the Chief Forester of the United States, "were directly responsible for about 64,000 forest fires, or more than 16 per cent of the total number during the last eight years. 25 per cent of the fires were credited to miscellaneous and unknown causes. More than 90 per cent are theoretically preventable, and it is safe to assume, I think that it is possible to save at least three-fourths of our present average annual timber-fire loss. And when we accomplish this saving, we shall have gone far, at least 75 per cent of the entire way, in solving our problem of national timber supply for the future."

WORSE OFF THAN BEFORE

A gentleman bought a dog. His wife did not like dogs, and she specially detested a dog that always sits whining at the door waiting for an opportunity to get into the house and set under the stove. Finally the good man surrendered to his wife, and agreed to get rid of the dog. But he didn't want to kill it, so he thought he would try to sell it. When he came back without the dog his wife was delighted. She said: "Where is the dog?" "I have sold him," "You dear man," she said, "how much did you get for him?" "Ten dollars." "Visions of new bonnets in her head, she put her arms around his neck and said: 'Have you got the money?'" "No," said he, "I took five pups at two dollars apiece."

The Minister Says:

"After having given it a trial during the hardest part of the winter, I am pleased to say that the furnace is giving entire satisfaction. We have saved fuel, in comparison with other years: besides the heating is easier and more prompt than that of the hot water furnace." A Bourassa, Fire Cure, St. Alexandre, P. Q.

The Merchant Says:

"We thought if we got sufficient heat from it to heat our store we would be well pleased with it, but to our surprise we found that we were getting too much heat for store requirement and found it necessary to find some escape for approximately 40 per cent of our supply. This we did by making an opening in our store ceiling and inserting a grating on the second story flat, which is occupied as a dwelling, and the escape heat from the store makes quite comfortable the second story living and bedrooms." J. A. Leslie, Port Morien, C.B.

The Fawcett is not an assembled but a finished product, made throughout in our plant which is so complete that other furnace manufacturers have work done here.

The Doctor Says:

"I must congratulate you on the heating system you have sold me. The heat is sufficiently moist and hygienic. It is a blessing in the house, which is always comfortable for the women folk. If I had had this system ten years ago, I would have had less trouble and I strongly recommend working on its installation in all homes." Doctor J. L. Landry, Kamouraska Co., P. Q.

Hot air heating of the Fawcett type is the most healthful in the world. By merely keeping the vapor tanks (conveniently placed under the fire door) filled daily, the air in your home is changed twice an hour, replaced by moist, fresh, sterilized air.
