

Happenings

St. Dunstan's Theatre presents You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown the Broadway musical comedy based on the comic strip "Peanuts," from November 27-30 with a special matinee on Saturday at 2pm, at the Monsignor Boyd Family Centre, Regent Street. The show chronicles an "average day in the life of Charlie Brown." The cast is made up of six students whose drama and musical experiences are broad and varied. This young cast from ages 14 - 20 shows it's versatility in the portrayal of the "Peanuts" gang with lively songs and quick-paced action. Be sure not to miss this pre-holiday entirely family show. Tickets are available at Mazzucas, the St. Dunstan's Rectory Office, and from cast members. Admission is $7.50 for adults, $5.50 for students and seniors, and $3.00 for children under 12. For more information please call 452-7626.

Gallery 78 presents works by eighteen contemporary Quebec painters, printmakers, and sculptors, to be presented to the art community in New Brunswick in a special group exhibition from November 22 to December 7. Considered a vital part of good relationships between the provinces, in artists as well as in public relations, these exhibitions are also important to the artists for the exposure to different communities. "Artists of Quebec" features works by Catherine Bates, John Ballantyne, Ghitta Calsman-Roth, Liz Davidson, Helmut Gransow, H.W. ones, Kay Kinsman, Bruce LeDain, Ann McCall, Richard Montpetit, Louis Muhlstack, Rachael Muhlstack, Carl Mulvey, Frank Mulvey, Jeannette Perrault, Earl Preston, Antoine Prevost and Lyne Robichaud.

Theatre Saint Thomas opens its fall season with a new work by Fredericton playwright David Peterson, The Boy Who Built the Hill, a disturbing view of society's resistance to change. The Boy Who Built the Hill opens on Wednesday, November 27 in the Ted Dalgie Auditorium, Edmund Casey Hall. The play runs to Saturday, November 30, with curtain time at 8pm. Tickets are $5 or $4 with a Student ID. There will be a special matinee at 3pm on Saturday the 30th. For more information please contact Dana Bangay, Theatre St. Thomas, at 459-3742 or Mark Giberson, director of university relations and alumni affairs, at 452-0521.

The National Exhibition Centre is the site of a gala opening of the works of two award-winning New Brunswick Artists, Yvon Gallant and Margot Cormier Spiane, at 2pm on Sunday, December 1. The artists will be in attendance, and throughout the afternoon, live music will be performed by the Hans Martini Duo. Refreshments will be served and admission is free.

Sheldon Sheep Says: "Do Your Homework Every Night!"

brought to you by: Take a Lang, Hard, Look Inc.

TEN-PENNY ALE. THE TASTE OF INDEPENDENCE.