THE GIRL AT THE HALF-WAY HOUSE.

By E. HOUGH. The fight between the gigantic Mexican and the Indian chief is most Homeric. Paper, 75c. Cloth, $1.25.

"Fresh, breezy and inspiring, 'The Girl at the Half-Way House' is intensely interesting reading. The author gained great popularity by his book 'The Story of the Cowboy,' a very original and interesting book."—Toronto Globe.

"'The Girl at the Half-Way House' is a book of exceptional vitality. . . . It is a broad canvas that Mr. Hough has chosen for his pictures, and he draws them with bold, unfaltering strokes that stand out in clear relief."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Clever Tale by a Clever Canadian.

A DAUGHTER OF WITCHES.

By JOANNA E. WOOD. Throughout these pages we have lively gossip and clever dialogue, by a rising Canadian author who has already attracted a considerable circle of readers in the Canadian Magazine, where this story had a successful run as a serial. Paper, 50c. Cloth, $1.00.

"One of the best productions of modern fiction."

—Toronto Star.

THE GATELESS BARRIER.

By LUCAS MALET. Paper, 75c. Cloth, $1.25.

"There is much to praise in the book. The portrait of the remorseless materialist, old Mr. Rivers, is drawn with sympathy and genuine power; and Lawrence's young American wife, Virginia, * * * is also a brilliant sketch."—The Academy.

"The daughter of Chas. Kingsley achieved a great reputation by her former work 'The Wages of Sin.' In point of literary grace and artistic finish this book is in no way inferior."—Montreal Herald.
