

ing to practice dentistry in this province. Dr. Jones has been president of the board since its inauguration. He is also president of the British Columbia Dental Association. As an operating dentist, Dr. Jones stands at the head of the profession in Canada. He is thoroughly informed on all matters pertaining to dentistry, and keeps fully abreast of the times. In his office can be found the very latest apparatus known to the profession. We may mention the "Dental Electric Vibrator," which enables the operator to extract the largest tooth without the slightest pain. He has by far the largest practice in Victoria, and is, without doubt, the most expert dentist in this city. Providence has been kind to Dr. Jones, and he is now well off in this world's goods. He is of a speculative nature, and has made a great deal of money by judicious investments. He is interested in some of the largest mining enterprises in British Columbia, and is vice-president of the National Electric Tramway and Lighting Co. of this city. In politics Dr. Jones is a strong Liberal, but does not take an active part in political strife. He is ably assisted in his practice by his son, T. H. Jones, D.D.S., who is a graduate of the celebrated Philadelphia Dental College, and now twenty-five years of age.
