

THE BALLAD OF YAADA

(A Legend of the Pacific Coast) Said to be One of the Last Poems Written by the Late E. PAULINE JOHNSON—Tahkionwaka

THERE are fires on Lulu Island, and the sky is opalescent With the pearl and purple tinting from the smouldering peat.

There are fires on Lulu Island, and the smoke, uplifting, lingers In a faded scarf of fragrance as it creeps across the day.

But the sun its face is veiling like a cloistered nun at vespers, As towards the altar candles of the night a censer swings.

He was Yaada, lovely Yaada, who first taught the stream its sighing, For 'twas silent till her coming, and 'twas voiceless at the shore.

He was chief of all the Squamish, and he ruled the coastal waters— And he warred upon her people, the distant Charlotte Isles.

Till his hands forgot to have, and his weapons lost their lust, Till his stormy eyes allured her from the land of Totem Poles.

And the women of the Haidas plied in vain their magic power, Wailed for many moons her absence, wailed for many moons their prayer.

But the men were swift to battle, swift to cross the coastal water, Swift to war and swift of weapon, swift to paddle trackless miles.

But she faded, ever faded, and her eyes were ever turning Southward toward the Capilano, while her voice had hushed its song.

Give me back my Squamish lover, though you hate, I still must love him: Give me back the rugged canyon where my heart must ever be—

But though long-forgotten seasons, moons too many to be numbered— He yet wept by the canyon—she yet called across the years.

For a little, lonely spirit sought the Capilano canyon, When she died among the Haidas in the land of Totem Poles.

But 'tis only when the pearl and purple smoke is idly swinging From the fires on Lulu Island to the hazy Mountain crest,

MURDER OF JEWS GETTING COMMON

French Stories of Attacks Still Continue to Be Printed.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—For the last fortnight the press in Russia has been full of accounts of murders of Jews and attacks in various parts of this country.

Superstitions of Woman. At Vinnitza the wife of a secret police officer created a sensation in the town by her threat to shoot every Jew who looked at her son whilst he was in the streets.

The defence of the authorities is that they are faced with a vast and widespread outbreak of hooliganism, but matters are hardly taken a different turn whilst the life of the Jew is held so cheaply in Russia.

As M. Shingarioff recently stated in the Duma, the anti-Jewish restrictions flatly contradicted the tenets of the Christian faith; they were samples of vice psychology, and the division of the citizens into children and step-children by the state were responsible for the monstrous libels in which the authors themselves did not believe.

It has become known that the real Russian organizations in the provinces of Smolensk and Oryol have concluded an agreement to commemorate the day of the opening of the trial of Belis by demonstrations affirming the truth of the charge that Jews use the blood of Christians for ritual purposes.

Dead Boy Discovered. The discovery of a dead boy at Lubartov and of a skeleton at Ekaterinoslav likewise led to blood libels, but they, too, have failed.

Not a single line, he said, in any of the religious books of Judaism, not a single established scientific fact lent the slightest foundation to this abominable legend, which long ago helped Christians and condemn them to corporal punishment.

Mr. Hugh Livingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Livingston, Brant Avenue, leaves early in October to take up an art course in France.

THE NEW SKATING HAT IN MILITARY STYLE

A well-known young Russian lady of high rank wore a skating cap exactly like this at a famous health resort, high in the Swiss mountains, early in the spring season, and now the forerunners Paris milliners are coming out with these becoming turbans for autumn wear.

Dowling of Brantford took possession of the cottage the same day.

Nuptial Notes

AMOS—WRIGHT. St. Jude's Church was the scene of a very pretty little wedding on Saturday afternoon of last week, when Miss Susanna Agatha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright of this city was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to James Robert Amos of the Barber-Elles Co. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in cream silk, and wore the customary "bridal veil" and "orange blossoms"—Miss Daisy Wright and Miss Emily Wright, sisters of the bride, acted as bridesmaids, attired in dainty white lingerie gowns, lace hats with touches of blue. Each wearing the brooms gift, a pretty gold brooch. Mr. Herbert Amos, was best man, and the Rev. H. A. Wright officiated.

Following the ceremony, an adjournment was made to the home of the bride's parents, 1 Aberdeen Ave., where a wedding breakfast and reception was held, and next week the young couple will take up their residence on Rawden Street. Numerous presents testify to the high esteem Mr. and Mrs. Amos are held in by their many friends.

DEPEW—PEACHEY. On Wednesday, Aug. 20th, a delightful home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Peachey, Simcoe. The parties to this happy contract were Mr. Eber W. Depew, Oakville, Man., and Miss Evelyn Peachey, of Simcoe's most estimable young ladies. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. P. K. Dayton, in the presence of relatives and near friends from Brantford, Chatham, Philadelphia, Port Huron, Toronto, Denver and other places.

The best man and bridesmaid were Mr. Vernon Green of Chatham and Miss Mary Peachey, Simcoe, sister of the bride.

The bride was gowned in ivory satin, with shadow lace and pearl trimmings, and wore a veil with orange blossoms. The bouquet was white and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid wore white embroidered marquisette over pink satin, with hat and bouquet to match.

After the luncheon the newly-married couple left by motor for Waterford, en route for Chicago, after which they will make their home in Oakville, Man. The going-away gown was a navy blue tailored suit.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Moyle-Tranquility Women's Institute, held their August meeting on Wednesday the 14th, at the home of Mrs. Warren Turnbull. The program was given and arranged by the young ladies of the Institute and was indeed a very interesting one.

President, Mrs. J. J. Hurley in the chair. Minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. G. T. Good (acting secretary) in Miss Good's absence. The program was then rendered as follows: Opening music, motto and roll call was responded to by giving early reminiscences, which caused much amusement. Miss Barnie gave a splendid paper on simple entertaining.

Miss A. Cox and Miss E. Eddy also gave excellent ideas on this subject. A delightful piano solo was given by Miss Dora Arnold. Miss Marjorie Osborne recited in her usual pleasing manner.

Miss Cecyl Good delighted all present with her address "On matrimony," which was very instructive and imparted to all many splendid ideas on this pleasing study. Miss Dora Arnold again gave a piano number—a beautiful rendition of one of the many classic numbers she has rendered before appreciative audiences at the Conservative of Music. Miss Ruth Cox gave a very good reading. The hostess served dainty refreshments and the meeting closed (with 45 present) by singing God Save the King.
