The town of Middleton was visited by a destructive fire on Friday morning of last week. Fire broke out about 3 o'clock in the store of F. E. Bentley & Co., and before its progress was stayed the business houses of the place were practically wiped out. The loss is placed at $100,000 with half that amount of insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wheaton were summoned to Sackville, N. B., on Friday last in consequence of the death of Mr. Wheaton's father, Mr. James Wheaton, which took place the evening before. The deceased, who was one of the best known and most highly esteemed residents of Upper Sackville, had been in poor health for more than two years. He had several strokes of paralysis on different occasions the last coming the Saturday before his death, after which he gradually grew worse until the end came. He was 50 years of age and leaves a widow, one daughter and four sons.

Superior quality throughout is a characteristic of our production. Not the smallest detail is overlooked. BOATES & CO.

Mr. W. M. Black is making active arrangements for the erection of his new hall and opera house. The building will be modern in every respect and will supply a long felt need in Wolfville. It will be furnished with steam heat, stage and scenery and will have special doors for exit in case of fire. The floor will be sloping and the seating capacity will accommodate five hundred persons. The building being on the ground floor will be absolutely safe for large gatherings and will be available for any legitimate amusement or public gathering. We congratulate Mr. Black on his enterprise and the town on the prospect of having this want supplied at an early date.

I aim to be always a little better than the best. Not how cheap, but how good; garments that look beautiful and are even better than they look. BOATES & CO.

C. H. BORDEN

WOLFVILLE.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

Editor of Chronicle.—I notice in your last issue, Mr. H. H. Wickwire speaking at Port Williams is reported to have said that "the New Experimental Station at Kentville was largely due to the fact that the electors of Kings county had the good sense to send to Ottawa a man like Sir Frederick Borden who could accomplish things." On this occasion, as on others Mr. Wickwire seems to be talking "through his hat" or of something he knows nothing about. As Secretary of the Fruit Growers' Association it has been my official duty to carry on the correspondence and negotiations connected with the location of this very valuable institution, and therefore can speak of the matter from personal knowledge. First, let me say that to Mr. R. S. Eaton, of Kentville, more than to any or perhaps all others the credit of Nova Scotia is indebted for the fulfilment of this long cherished project. With this statement I am convinced J. W. Bigelow, R. W. Starr, G. C. Miller, P. Innes and many other stalwart workers will readily agree. Furthermore, if Mr. Wickwire, some ten years ago when in the Provincial Legislature, had exhibited the tenacity of purpose and bull dog determination, that he shows about election time, in standing by the Fruit Growers' Association who were striving to locate the agricultural college in this county, that great institution might have come to Kentville rather than to Truro, and the present station would not have been needed. In considerable correspondence, several personal interviews and two delegations to Ottawa in connection with the proposed station, personally, and I am sure I can again speak for my colleagues, we have always found Sir Frederick Borden courteous, attentive, and always ready to give any assistance in his power to further the interests of his constituency, but I am equally as convinced that the Hon. Minister of Militia would not for one moment take to himself the credit of proposing or locating the station. The Fruit Station is established by the joint action of the Provincial and Federal governments on the repeated demands of the Fruit Growers of Nova Scotia. It has not come because H. H. Wickwire was defeated at the polls in 1906, or because the Provincial Legislature particularly needs him in 1911. The station was located in Kentville on the recommendation of the Executive of the Association, not to satisfy political partisans, not as party pap, but because they thought this the most suitable place for the development of the fruit interests. The speaker at Port Williams shows decidedly poor taste in seeking to make party capital of a public institution which has come this way in response to the just demands of a non-political organization. When the fruit growers of Kings county learn, as they are learning, to stand for themselves and their vested rights they will no longer need Mr. Wickwire to stand between them and the Federal Government, or blow his horn for a Federal minister. The Late George Johnson.

A PERSONAL APPRECIATION BY REV. R. A. DIXON. The death of Dr. George Johnson, of Grand Pre, while depriving the nation of one of its most prominent, useful and valued publicists, also robbed me of a dear personal friend. Seldom, indeed, does it fall to the lot of anyone, at a comparatively advanced period of life, to form a friendship so improving, so stimulating and so inspiring as that which it was my happy fortune and highly prized privilege to contract with the late distinguished and genial "sage of Grand Pre."

For George Johnson was in every sense of the word a truly remarkable man. He was remarkable for a wonderfully omnivorous, tenacious memory, for close and accurate powers of observation, for a keen and unerring insight into character, for an exceptional faculty for the collecting, arranging and application of statistics, and for patient, laborious, painstaking application. Added to all this was great natural kindness of disposition, an even, well balanced temperament, unswerving honesty and rectitude of purpose, and moral courage of a high order. Religiously, as his beautiful and edifying end testified, he was a man of deep and unaffected piety and a firm believer in the verities of the Christian faith. He had, few, if any, marked denominational preferences, with perhaps the single exception of a deep admiration for the tenets and practices of the Society of Friends, whose spirituality and simplicity of profound faith profoundly appealed to him. This is not to say that he had no sympathy with the work and belief of the various churches in the community in which he lived. Very far from it. He was a regular attendant at public worship, and generously responded to every appeal.

It was stated in a Halifax paper at the time of his death that Dr. Johnson was probably the best informed man in the Dominion. With this I am inclined to agree. He certainly was, to the best of my knowledge and recollection, quite the best informed man I ever met. It seemed impossible to start a subject upon which he could not intelligently and profitably converse. Politics, literature, horticulture, law, chemistry, (he had begun life as a chemist) journalism, divinity and a score of other branches of knowledge were equally familiar to him. And he was no mere "walking encyclopedia." He had not only acquired but he had assimilated. The information he so liberally dispensed was not the mere mechanical reproduction of dry facts, but the well matured fruit of his own marvellous powers of memory and observation. Few, if any, living men to day equal him in his knowledge of the inner history of the Dominion from the time of Confederation up to 1896. He had lived on terms of the closest personal intimacy with Sir John A. MacDonalld, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Eliezer Cartier, Sir John Thompson and other great leaders and makers of Canadian history, and he has also been closely associated with many of the Governor-Generals, and had been admitted into the innermost circles of the Conservative party. His greatest achievement and life's work was the establishment of the Statistical Department at Ottawa, though exclusive of this he has a record of solid work of which any man might be justly proud.

The many happy and profitable hours spent in his company will always remain to me a precious memory. My life is poorer for his departure, and my experience is that of every one who was favored by his close and intimate acquaintance. When shall we look upon his like again.

As Good as Having a Doctor in the House.

That is what thousands of mothers say of Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets promptly and surely cure all the minor ills of boyhood and childhood, and what is more they are absolutely safe—they have never been known to harm the youngest baby—they never will harm anyone—they are good for babies of all ages. Concerning them Mrs. Wm. Higgins, Karn, Ont., writes:—"I shall never be without Baby's Own Tablets in the house as long as my children are small. They are a wonderful medicine and are as good as having a doctor in the house. I gave them to my little boy for colic and they quickly cured him. I am always glad to recommend them to other mothers. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

A Happy Family.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN. At the recent convention of the liberal party at Kentville a spirit of brotherly love seems to have prevailed. H. H. Wickwire and W. H. Ross, Dr. Covert and F. J. Porter, A. E. McMahon and Willard Illsley, and many other leaders, all seem to have had sweet intercourse together.

The absence of Hon. Wm. Ross, ex-Minister of Militia, and Hon. G. H. Murray arouses some comment. The one is known as a great admirer of the man in which Sir Frederick Borden administers the Militia Department. The other is a great personal friend of H. H. Wickwire, and awfully anxious, so rumor has it, to have Mr. Wickwire back in the legislative halls of Halifax. The absence of those two gentlemen was, no doubt, an oversight on the part of the one who arranged the festivities. A. B. C.

Children Had Eczema

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT made thorough cures. Mrs. Oscar Vaneot, St. Antoine, Sask., writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment to be a permanent cure for Eczema and other skin diseases. One son, while nursing, broke out with running watery sores all over his head and around the ears. Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child was cured of eczema by this Ointment and we hope more people will learn about it so that their little ones may be saved from suffering."
