CARDSTON DISTRICT FALL FAIR

As intimated in our previous issue this district is to have a big fair in the late summer. The dates obtained by our representative were the best possible under the circumstances, and we are all well satisfied as to that point. However the 16th and 17th, of August will be too early for any threshed grain exhibits under ordinary conditions, so that our farmers ought to keep sufficient quantities of their wheat, oats, barley, rye or flax to make the required quantity for exhibition. Some splendid samples of wheat were grown last year—see that these get a place in the fair.

Provision should now be made for the vegetables, flowers, and live stock that it is intended to exhibit, as by having this object in view and working and planning for it, we can surprise ourselves as to the showing made. This is the proper time to do the necessary thinking and outlining for our future efforts. DO NOT NEGLECT IT—is the advice of THE GLOBE.

The School Fair was a great success last year largely from the early planning and interesting of the pupils in the project, as well as by the hearty co-operation of the Dept of Agriculture in furnishing the seeds. Doubtless the teachers have already sent in their requisitions for supplies of seed. What have "ye farmers" done? Are you too preparing as are the schools?

In competition with the World at the sessions of the Dry Farming Congress several years back, this part of Alberta gained many splendid winnings. The fine exhibit of trophies won by Mr. Arthur Perry, to be seen in the Caboon Hotel lobby, is tangible evidence of our agricultural greatness. But we should not rest satisfied with another able man's winnings. Every farmer should aspire to do something for his locality and for himself, and should feel that the Fair in his home district is distinctly his own creation. This feeling of interest in, and decision to work for, our own Fair, is what will make for the Big Success of the undertaking. We have shown a most commendable community spirit this winter and spring in relation to our Town affairs, and that same spirit of kindly interest and of work manifested by our surrounding citizens upon the farms and ranches can cause this year's Fair to be the best ever.

The Prize List is being worked out for the School Fair and it's early issue will go along way toward encouraging the boys and girls to do something. We hope this matter may also receive early attention from the Agricultural Society, as if in the hands of the farmers in good time it will greatly aid in stimulating interest and determining the lines in which each one wishes to compete. If left too late, Prize List does not aid in producing the large exhibit that it might do, nor is it of the same value to the advertisers who may wish to use it. Get out the Prize List early.

Our district is one of the best in Alberta and we should be proud to do all in our power to make known its greatness by means of our own productions from the farm the ranch and the home. Every body boost for the Fall Fair.

TELEPHONE NEEDS

Our new telephone directories do not show the new rural number at Leavitt, Beazer and Mt View nor do we know the local numbers at Hill Spring and Glenwood. There is an exchange at Glenwood now and Mr. Edwin Leavitt is the local manager. The Globe will be pleased to publish a list of these in the paper as soon as obtainable from the Cardston office and then this list can be added to the present directory. It is a long time to wait until next July for the official publishing of this much needed local information. We are informed that the delay was occasioned by the contracts not being completed and the work received by the government. There are a number of new phones in town also we understand. These numbers we shall be pleased to publish if the local telephone exchange will supply the necessary information.

Another matter that should be agitated is the placing of the Kimbal, Taylorville, and Fareham people on the rural phones, as these are old settled portions of the district and there are plenty of subscribers to make it worth while. The toll lines are already there and we hope for this further extension of this great public utility the coming season.

The advent of spring-like weather is causing many good citizens to set about tidying up their residence environment. This is an edifying spectacle and speaks well for the pride-of-Community spirit which is becoming more more apparent in Cardston.

Many farm leases have been drawn during the past ten days—probably a dozen in all—speaking for the faith of outsiders in Cardston district as a farming community—involving as they do in most cases outsiders leasing farm lands in this district for the season of 1921.

NEXT SUNDAY

at the Churches

St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Cardston

MINISTER—Rev. Robt. Aylward, B. A.
SERVICES—Every Sunday morning at 11
and every Sunday evening at 7:30.
Sunday School and Bible Class at 12:15

Mr. Aylward is preaching a series of sermons just now on the "Resurrection and the Future Life". Last Sunday evening he dealt with the various appearances of our Lord subsequent to his resurrection from the grave and showed that He had definite and personal design in each one of them. Next Sunday evening he proposes to answer the question: "How are the dead raised up and with what Body do they come?" This is sure to be a very interesting sermon and everybody should try to hear it. The new church is now opened for public worship and offers a warm welcome to all who would like to attend its services.

Columbia Grafonola and Records

Hear Sweet Hymns and Sacred Songs at Home

Rain or shine, sleet and snow, or bitter cold, even if you can't go to church you need never be without the sacred music that soothes and comforts you. Columbia Records played on the Columbia Grafonola reproduce so realistically all of your favorite sacred songs right in your own home that you can close your eyes and see the church. On Columbia Records you will find the hymns that your mother and her mother sang, the hymns that you've heard on happy Sundays throughout the greater part of your life.

Let us play these and many others for you:
