

Hr. Grace Notes.

At the request of a number of citizens a meeting of the townspeople was called for at the Court House last night to make arrangements for a reception to the Governor on the occasion of his next visit, which will no doubt be his last visit to Harbor Grace. The meeting was poorly attended, but a committee was appointed.

Mayor Ellis of St. John's, paid this town a visit last week in company with Mr. W. A. Munn. The Mayor was well pleased with our city and will no doubt visit us again soon.

Mr. A. Murray, the popular letter-carrier at the post office here, met with an accident on Friday evening, while on his rounds that corner near proving serious. He was coming down Harvey Street on his wheel at a good clip, and Mr. Chas. Ash's setter dog, who was taking him for a bird, fell full tilt into the bicycle, throwing the rider to the ground and injuring him, but we are glad to say not seriously. All Alf's friends will be glad to hear he was not much hurt. He's one of the most obliging letter-carriers ever we had here. It shows plainly the speed he was going when that dog took him for a bird.

Yesterday, Oct. 21st, Trafalgar Day, was fittingly celebrated by our brigades here. The C. C. met in their Armoury at 7 p.m. and forming up marched to the Cathedral and attended evening prayers, after which they took a tramp through the principal streets.

The K. E. B. also met at their armoury and under Colonel Rogers, proceeded up Harvey Street to Wood St., where they formed two parties. Major Downey leading his men up Harvey Street to Pipe Track Road, while Capt. Pike took another company up Witer Street. The engagement took place near Capt. Stevenson's and for a time things looked lively. About four or five hundred citizens were present to witness the mock battle. With grim determination both companies faced each other, but the Colonel with great wisdom despatched 2nd Lieut. Watts with a few troops to go in a round about way and endeavor to corner the attacking party. This was successfully accomplished and Lieut. Watts succeeded in capturing Captain Pike. The signal men then flashed the messages along, and one on being handed to the Colonel was read by him, "rant—England expects every man to do his duty." The evening was delightful and both citizens and brigades enjoyed the turn out.

Trafalgar Day Celebration.

There was a large gathering at Victoria Hall last night of the Sons of England connected with Dudley and Empire Lodges to celebrate Trafalgar Day. Stirring patriotic addresses were made by Brothers S. G. Collier, G. B. Lloyd, Thompson, Squires, Andrews, Williams and Goodland. Quite a number of songs were sung, including the "Death of Nelson," the Veteran's Song, and "Britons rally round the Flag." These latter were given by Bro. C. E. Hunt, Lloyd Noonan, McCoubrey and Tucker, while later several gramophone selections were rendered. All present thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The singing of the National Anthem brought the affair to a close at midnight.

Taking it one season with another, Ben Davies are plentiful and apples scarce.

"The Only Cure for Piles"

Writes Mr. Taylor in Telling His Experience With Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. M. Taylor.

Because Dr. Chase's Ointment brings almost immediate relief from the dreadful itching, burning, stinging sensations of piles, it is well worth the attention of everyone suffering from this annoying disease. In most cases, even after years of standing, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes a thorough and lasting cure of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. Mr. Maxwell Taylor, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes: "To all sufferers from piles in any form I would recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only cure. Over a year ago while in Boston I became afflicted with a dreadful itching. I went to a doctor, who gave me some ointment, which made me no better. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and by the use of two boxes I was entirely cured. You may publish this statement, as I am not a doctor, and I can better prove its value by the relief it affords than by all the words we could use in its praise. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto."

End of the Season

I'm glad the baseball season's ended until next Spring comes down the pike. My bosom will no more be rendered by goose egg stories and the like. I'll clean the stove of soot and clinker and keep my mind on what I'm at, and not be guessing what Joe Tinker will do when he comes up to bat. I'll swat my harp to beat Alf Austin and put up songs till you can't rest, nor waste time wondering whether Boston will knock the Giants galley west. Now I can curdy down old Dobbin and all him with nutritious hay nor care if umpires be a-robin the home team in the good old way. I've fooled around for months together, neglecting all my household chores, and if I cared about was whether this team or that had higher scores. I've stood around and talked of pitchers who seem like jugglers on the mound, while plowmen, gardeners and ditchers were doing things that really count. I've talked of catchers and pinch hitters, of sacrifices, slides and bunts, while other thrifty human critters were doing sane and useful stunts. And now disbanded are the forces of baseball, laid aside the bats, and I can now dehorn my horgies, and shear my cows and herd my cats.

Klark-Urban Co.

In the reproduction of "Northern Lights" last night another crowded house greeted the Klark Urban Co. The piece is of great interest dealing as it does with the story of the great Custer massacre by Sitting Bull and his braves, and the company gave it a rendition which in every particular was excellent. The audience expressed their satisfaction by frequent applause. The specialties were of the usual high order. To-night the Dairy Farm, a splendid drama, will be staged for the first time in St. John's and should the house Raffles will be the bill for to-morrow's matinee.

In Bad State.

Those who had to work in or do any kind of business on the wharves near the city coves in the West End yesterday forenoon were disgusted with the condition of affairs up there. The water was low and the coves, which are rapidly filling with refuse of all kinds, vomited out by the sewers which run into them, emitted a fearful stench. The effluvia out of one of the coves positively sickened the men working on the wharves nearby; and at another cove where there is a fresh fish market matters were, if possible, worse. Unless these coves are soon attended to and dredged, cleaned and disinfected there will be in this city an outbreak of some malignant disease.

Poultry Exhibition.

The meeting held last night re the prospective poultry exhibition was largely attended, and all present evinced much enthusiasm. It is a foregone conclusion that the exhibition will be a great success. Besides the cup to be given by Hon. W. C. Esq., will also offer a prize.

Brought Home.

The body of the late Charles Murphy arrived here by the train last night. Undertaker J. T. Martin removed the remains to his late home Goodview Street, and the hearse was followed by a large number of the friends of the deceased. When the news reached the city Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan informed the family of the sad happening.

What About the Ramea Cable?

We understand that there is trouble in the Government dove cot over the Ramea cable. Like the Government which installed it we designated the cable at the time it was sent down to Ramea in the Portia, a "bum" cable, and we are now in a position to reiterate the designation which has more force now than two years ago, for now it has been demonstrated that like the Government which bought it second-hand the cable is "N. G." in date "all in" to use a localism. When we say "all in" for part of it lies behind the post office a testimony to the incompetency and stupidity of the Premier and his minions, while the remainder of it lies on the bottom between Burgeo and Ramea, and may never be recovered. When the cable was purchased Editor McGrath tried to make it appear that it was a fine thing, in fact he was enthusiastic over its merits that readers of the Chronicle imagined it was superior to the cables of the Western Union or any other of the large lines connecting the old and new worlds. Now it would seem that it must be relegated to the old junk heap, a fate destined for the Picnic Party which when the people get a chance to decide their fate in 1913.

Your Fall Cough.

FOLKS ARE NOT GOING TO FALL

All over themselves to use STAR TEA just because we say so. We are not foolish enough to expect it.

There's a reason why, however, for the ever-increasing popularity and favour of STAR—'tis the goodness of the tea; the quality is there; the flavour is there; the tea is fresh—in short, STAR TEA IS GOOD TEA. 40c. lb.

The Book Agent.

BY H. L. RANN.

The book agent is a human offense with a vocabulary which is a cross between a graphophone record and a class day oration. He earns a precarious living by persuading people that they ought to have something in the library besides a bust of Shakespeare and the family photograph album.

The book agent wanders from place to place, and meets a great many people who remember him without any particular enthusiasm whenever the monthly installment falls due. He changes boarding houses rapidly and thus cultivates a very volatile appetite, which cannot be curbed by anything which is put on the table.

The first act of a successful book agent is to get into the house without the aid of a jimmy. This is usually accomplished by referring the lady of the house to some neighbor who is a social rival and who has just contracted to pay $2 down and the balance in thirty monthly reminders, with several alluring pictures of French nobility thrown in.

The book agent times his visits with so much accuracy that he is always catching the mistress of the house in curl papers and a discouraged kimono. When a book agent is in good form, he can hold a woman under his magic spell until an omelet of salt-rising bread has been burned to a crisp.

The modern book agent deals mostly in bindings and French classics. They are getting out some very spicy bindings, but the classics are usually several laps ahead. The classics are always illustrated so as to conform to the pure food law, and can be read in any home by people whose eye teeth have been operated upon.

The book agent shows up to best advantage when he goes six rounds with a business man who takes "Lalla Rookh" for a new brand of coffee and who is looking for an illustrated edition of Byron's poems, with their original, unexpurgated fervor. This is one reason why so many book agents go insane.
