To-Day's News.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-day. Out of the conflicting stories from the Balkans it is almost impossible to sift the truth. This was markedly illustrated in last night's despatch from the Telegraph's correspondent at Uskup, dated Tuesday, reporting there had been hardly any fighting the last few days; while the Belgrade dispatches reported further Serbian victories, later advices from the Serbian capital asserting that all Bulgarians who had invaded Serbia had been driven back across the frontier. There seems to be little doubt that General Ivanoff's army is steadily retiring before the victorious Greeks. It is reported that the Bulgarians have evacuated Kavala where the Greek fleet is operating.

ATHENS, To-day. An official bulletin issued last night says the Greeks on Tuesday attacked mountain passes toward Strumitza. The Bulgarians, reinforced, perhaps from Istip, offered a vigorous resistance. The fighting was stopped by darkness, with the expectation it would be resumed on Wednesday. Later bulletins declare the Bulgarians are in headlong flight through the defiles, the Greeks having made a night frontal attack on Strumitza, forcing the Bulgarians to abandon the positions with heavy losses, including five guns and other war material.

CONSTANTINOPLE, To-day. The reply of Bulgaria to the request of the Sublime Porte, agreeing to evacuate the Marmora coast, intimates the Bulgarian delegates M. Natchovitch, ex-Foreign Minister, who arrived at Tchausha, is engaged to negotiate a settlement. The Turks will proceed with the military occupation of all the territory up to Enos and Midia in accordance with the peace protocol signed in London. The bustle of military preparations forcibly reminds one of the state affairs last autumn.

CHARLOTTETOWN, To-day. The steamer Cacoon, of the Black Diamond Line, and the schooner Sarah A. Townsend met in a collision yesterday morning off Cape Tormentine. The schooner struck the steamer amidships, coming bow on, drove a hole six feet square through the steamer's side above the waterline. The Townsend was badly broken up forward, and was, later on, beached. The crews of both vessels were uninjured.

HALIFAX, To-day. General Sir Ian Hamilton is here inspecting troops. He leaves for England on the 24th, and will then go to New Zealand on an inspection tour.

Died Suddenly.

Special to Evening Telegram. NORTH SYDNEY, To-day. David Howe, Chief Engineer of the steamer Bruce, died suddenly yesterday, while the ship was on her way from Port aux Basques to North Sydney. Howe was an Englishman but lived many years at Port aux Basques.

Wedding Bells.

At the residence of the bride's father, yesterday afternoon, Mr. A. Simpson Butler, Accountant at Slater's Dry Goods Store, was united in matrimony to Miss Kate Norris Vey, daughter of J. J. Vey, Esq., Manager of the Nail Manufacturing Company. The bride was attended by Miss Horwood and her sister, Miss Maud Vey. Messrs. C. C. Pratt and Walter Vey supported the groom. Rev. Dr. Rogers performed the ceremony. The groom's present to the bride was a necklace, and his gifts to the bridesmaids were gold watches. Following a brief reception the bridal party drove to Waterford Bridge and joined the train for Shoal Harbor, Trinity Bay, where the honeymoon will be spent. Many costly and useful presents were received.

The Regatta.

Four weeks from to-day and the Regatta will be over. From now on, crews intending to compete should lose no time in getting practice. The Amateur, Brigade, Society and Truckmen crews for the Blue Peter were out in the Doctor last evening. The Amateurs, Tradesmen and Laborers for the Shamrock also had practice. Reid's Amateurs and the C. C. C. Brigade and Juvenile crews are training hard on the harbour each evening. It was very foggy on the Lake last night. Under such conditions the experienced coxswains should not be allowed in the raceboats. Four crews of Juveniles are now practicing.

Became Suddenly Ill.

Shortly after 9 a.m. yesterday while Mr. Patrick Dempsey, of Plunket Lane, was working on Water Street, near Patrick Street, he became suddenly ill and being very weak for a while was conveyed to the Deansy. Patrick Street where he was given every care. Dr. Scully promptly attended on a telephone call and finding that the man suffered from hernia ordered him to the hospital where he was taken in the ambulance.

A Heroic Policeman.

Saves Heat Victim Who Had Tumbled into the Water.

New York, July 2.—New York and environs awoke exhausted to-day after a night of sultry oppressiveness. The mercury stood at 81 at midnight, a drop of 9 degrees from yesterday's maximum, but began to mount again shortly after sunrise.

Unable to sleep on account of the heat, William Huntton, middle-aged, left his bed in an East Side hotel during the night and sought comfort on the river front, where he toppled off into the mouth of one of the huge sewers which empty into the East River. Policeman Wm. J. Cowden found him struggling in the muck against being drawn into the sewer by the intake with the tide. The officer plunged in and both men were in danger, when a second officer threw them a rope.

If your child has an impression of the chest use equal parts of STAFFORD'S LINIMENT and SWEET OIL, warm slightly and apply to the chest on a piece of thick flannel.—June 30, 11.

From Village To City.

Amazing America is always giving us something extraordinary to talk about. Its latest product in this line is the city of North Battleford, Saskatchewan.

We in this country think that such places as Middleborough have sprouted remarkably quickly. Compared to the mushroom growths of America, however, Middleborough is a veritable laggard. Only eight years ago, in 1905, North Battleford was a village. In 1910 it attained the dignity of a town, and now legislation has been passed creating her a fully-fledged city.

Railways and grain are the good ships that have carried to North Battleford her prosperity. Sixteen million bushels of grain were grown last year, showing an increase of 60 per cent. on the year before, and the local farmers are still far from being satisfied.

Arrangements are at present being made by Commissioner Neill for the changing of the new city's name, and it is anticipated that the campaign in connection with the fresh title will include the offering of prizes totaling $5,000.

A Nice Bloody Fight in Spain.

"Attention.—The attention of tourists and lovers of sport is called to the bull fight to be given in Santander, the capital of the province of Santander, on the Bay of Biscay, Northern Spain, on the twenty-first day of June. This will be the greatest bull fight in history, and it is probable that there will never be another on so grand a scale. Instead of the usual six bulls, the customary number, no less than eighteen bulls will be killed. Six bull-fighters, all numbered among the most famous in Spain, with their suites, have been engaged, and it will be an all-star engagement from beginning to end. The bull fight will occupy the entire day commencing early in the morning and ending only at sundown, with an intermission of two hours for luncheon. The prospects are of the brightest for the full success of this great undertaking, and Spaniards and visitors to this country will see a festival such as has never before been presented, and scarcely will be repeated."

The small bills supply additional details regarding this great sporting event. It is predicted that no less than fifty, and probably as many as a hundred horses will be killed before the day's festivities are over. As the six matadors are the nimblest and most expert in Spain, it is hardly to be hoped that any of them will be slain, although that is, of course, quite possible. Among their host of picadors and assistants, however, it is almost certain that some will fall before the vengeance of the bulls. Even an ordinary bull fight is not quite complete without the death or wounding of a picador, and this "greatest bull fight in history" should, to be a "full success," be marked by several human sacrifices.

Wide-awake people sell STAFFORD'S LINIMENT in preference to any others because they can testify to its quality and goodness.—June 30, 11.

TOURIST TRAFFIC.—A large contingent of tourists arrived from New York on the Stephens to-day, including representatives of the "American Magazine" and other well-known publications. The weather conditions which are only as warm as they are getting in New York at present.
