Asleep are the ranks of the dead;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the one, the Blue,
Under the other, the Gray.

These, in the robings of glory,
Those in the gloom of defeat;
All with the battle-blood gory.
In the dusk of eternity meet;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the laurel, the Blue,
Under the willow, the Gray. From the silence of sorrowful hours

The desolate mourners go,
Lovingly laden with flowers,
Alike for the friend and the foe;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day; Under the roses, the Blue; Under the lilies, the Gray.

So, with an equal splendor. The morning sun-rays fall,
With a touch impartially tender,
On the blossoms blooming for all;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Broidered with gold, the Blue,
Mellowed with gold, the Gray.

So, when the summer calleth On forest and field of grain, With an equal murmur falleth The cooling drip of the rain; Under the sod and the de Watting the judgment day; Wet with the rain, the Blue; Wet with the rain, the Gray.

Sadly, but not with upbraiding,
The generous deed was done;
In the storm of the years that are fading,
No braver battle was won;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the blossoms, the Blue;
Under the garlands, the Gray.

No more shall the war-cry sever, or the winding rivers be red;

Or the winding rivers be red;

They banish our anger forever,

When they laurel the graves of our dead

Under the sod and the dew,

Waiting the judgment day;

Love and tears for the Blue;

Tears and love for the Gray.

The movement in Brides' general trade this week has been much sembly in 1901. Besides clearing the The sorting trade is now more active, orders so far have been large. The Northwest business shows a larger increase than that of other parts of the country. The conditions of trade are sound, and the prospects indicate further expansion. There have been complaints about payments on maturing paper not being up to expectations in some cases, and quite a few renewals have had to be made.

In London this week there has beer more activity in general jobbing trade circles. The crop conditions are very promising and retailers have been buying more freely. Values of staple goods are firmly held owing to the fact that in many lines the manufacurers are asking higher prices. There is more activity in wholesale rade at Toronto now than experienced or some weeks. The hot weather has led a good expansion in the demand from the retailers for assorting stocks, and it is expected that the movement in that direction will continue for a month more at the least The increasing firmness in cotton and woolen goods is helping along the demand for these goods for the fall, and orders for them are considerably ahead of this time last year. The outlook is for continued expansion in the demand for domestic staples the next few months. Failures have been few in number and generally unimportant. Country remittances have been moderately good. Crop conditions are much improved as a result of rain the past week. Money is still firm, but as most of the large chartered banks end their year today, and have been accumulating reserves to make a strong showing in their annual statements, it is expected that money will be rather easier next week. At Quebec, business in general during the past week has been good, and warmer weather is causing demand for light wear. Shoe manufacturers important additions, amplifications and amendments are made to the articles larger factories, in fine lines. More amendments are made to the articles to the Confession of Faith. The dead are Prento Del Mio and Frank Loparto, both of Newark. Frank Topse, a laborer, was pinned under the wreck and it was necessary to cut off his right arm in order to release him and save him from being scalded to death.

It clear to the assembly, and especial-by did he wish to say to the brethren of the press, "That this revision does not mean that the Presbyterian Church has changed her base one inch, but it does mean that she has broadened and strengthened her foundations. Her divine society shall never be interpreted so as to mean fatalism."

Small panic. At Montreal the trade week was somewhat interrupted by the combination of Victoria Day and the rush of spring business is now over, but wholesalers reports a good demand for the season, with collections prompt. Trade continues good at Quebec, with collections satisfactory. Wholesale trade at Toronto is fairly active, hardware, and metals in fair demand, groceries and teas selling and it was necessary and it was necessary and it was necessary right arm in order to release him and save him from being scalded to death.
