LIQUOR CARBONIS DETERGENS

Alcoholic Solution

Constitue ents of COAL TAR

Extractfrom the Lancet, Dec. 22, 1866.

Ing. Carbonis Detergens— We are very sceptical of the value of .ew reme.les, and it was in a spirit facepticism that we tried the liq. carbonis detergens. It is represented to be a concentrated alcoholic solution of the constituents of coal tar, and to contain all the active ingredients of the tar, to wit, benzine, napthaline, and phenicacid. The addition of water, with agitation, makes a durable emulsion, in which the tar remains in a state of fine suspension, almost equivalent to solution. Our therapeutical experience of the oreparation is very satisfactory indeed. In our hands it has been a most effective agent in the case of various skin diseases, especially of the chronic eczematous class; and one case of psoriasis which had resisted all other kinds of treatment speedily got well under the application of the liq. carbonis detergens. We esteem it a very valuable addition to our list of skin remedies, and worthy of a very extended trial by the profession. In the above classes of disease, and invarious others, such as tetid ulcers, etc., the preparation is put into the form of soap. [Extractfrom the Lancet, Dec. 22, 1866.
