THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 31, 1896.

"Canadian Constitutional Law."

This is the title of a pamphlet of 184 pages recently published by Mr. J. Travis.

The author's aim seems to have been to produce a work that can be digested by the lay as well as the legal reader.

Ever since the know-nothing days of some thirty years ago, when the houses of German and Irish residents in American cities were wrecked because the occupants were Irish and German, the Irish vote has gone solidly with the democrats.

The most regrettable part of the dispute which arose in the four-rod race at the amateur regatta on Tuesday is the fact that a large amount of money was put up on the race, and that men are going around shouting about the foul and the decision of the referee.

The University question. The Christian Guardian of this week has an article on university education.

Should the federation scheme fall from that case, the blame must rest on those who zeal for University college was not controlled by patriotism and not on the government.

Now the Guardian, we take it, has made a great mistake if it imagines that the government is going to take upon itself the formation and formulation of the scheme in question.

As a city contemporary which has sought a fair wind in many quarters and found it none, is now trying to raise a Mowat v. Blake boom.

The Canadian Pacific intend monopolizing the passenger traffic between Toronto and Ottawa.

England's Feet Lament. His figure is bent, says a recent writer describing Timpaney, and yet it bears its 75 years lightly.

As a city contemporary which has sought a fair wind in many quarters and found it none, is now trying to raise a Mowat v. Blake boom.

Honor to a Journalist. The new premier of Nova Scotia, Hon. W. S. Fielding, is in the best sense of the expression, a "self-made man."

Stanley Africanus is reported as of the opinion that Gen. Gordon is all right at Khartoum, because if he cannot stand a fight he has practical routes by which to run away.

Sword Exercises at the Fair. Sir: Now that the list of prizes to be awarded at the Industrial exhibition is being made out, I would like to see an extra price given for horseman, sword exercise and prizes granted as you choose it.

The racing associations and jockey clubs seem honestly anxious to reform horse racing, and to this end they have begun a system of punishment of those convicted of improper practices that ought to be and in the comparative cleaning of the turf.

The punishment is a very effective one, namely, the ruling off of all horse owners or jockeys caught in any kind of dishonesty in regard to a horse, and the further disqualification of any horse that has been dishonestly run.

more than 50 per cent. of all paperism is due to excessive drinking.

What Toronto's well-known good Samaritan says: "I have been troubled with dyspepsia and liver complaint for over 20 years, and I have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me any good."
