IMPROVED PROSPECTS.

The Crops All Round in the States Promising Better Than Anticipated.

Washington, D.C., July 10.—The June report of the agricultural department was issued to-day. The month has been favorable to the development of winter wheat. A slight improvement is indicated, which advances the general average between two and three points, or from 62 to nearly 65. The winter wheat region, which does not include territories, new promises about 215 million bushels. The condition of the spring wheat continues higher, though the average has been reduced elightly. Indications now point to a crop of about 148 million bushels. Their means of the princess' relatives. The Empress Eugenie has been specially invited by the queen to attend the wedding, but it is doubtful whether she will be "supported" by the queen and by the Prince of Wales, and she will be given away by her majesty. There are to be ten brides maids, all nicose of the bride—the daughters of the Prince of Wales (three), of the Duke of Edinburgh (three), of Prince Christian (two) and of the Grand Duke of Hesse (two). I understand that the Crown Princess of Germany will not come to England for the wedding, and that they have refused to allow their younger daughters to act as bridesmalds. The fact is that at Berlin the match is looked upon as a flagrant mesalliance, and this view is taken by most of the princess' relatives. The Empress Eugenie has been specially invited by the queen to attend the wedding, but it is doubtful whether she will be present.

safely believe that a journal of such character as the Gazette would not publish any statements to pander to low lusts; and that the publication is justified and demanded in the interests of virtue and the highest welfare of the community. It has been too much the habit to conceal the vices of the rich and the powerful and to publish and magnify the sins of poverty. I have no heastation in stating that the vices of the industrial classes have not the means nor the time to industrial classes. The industrial classes have not the means nor the time to industrial classes. The industrial classes have not the means nor the time to industrial classes have not the means nor the time to industrial classes. The industrial classes have not the means nor the time to industrial classes, and the privilege of those who have a full purse and little to do; and it is to the rich that the words which have become a proverb here apply, that "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." It is therefore a subject of congratulation that a respectable journal has dared to assail in in , its high places and orapose it to the dight. It is a useful lesson to the churches and their pastors. They ought to be the foremost in supporting such revelations. But the church is too dependent on its rich members for the pastor to assail them. He treads on safe ground when he attacks the vices of the pastor to assail them. He treads on safe ground when he attacks the vices of the courage to support the Gazette, and its to be sincerely hoped that this attack upon the wickedness of the class that assumes airs of support virtue and purity because it is wealthy and powerful.

Whenever has read history and read it aright knows that it has ever been the vices of the highest interests of success to the decay, and ruin of nations; and the vices of the highest interests of success of the course the world with humble fishermen because he knew they would make bester apostles in a good cause than the rich and the powerful.

Hastings and the Scott Act,
Editor World: Now that Hastings has gone against the Scott act I would like to know how Messrs. Bowell and John White will vote on the Small amendment (the beer and light wine clause) if it should come up in the house again after reconsideration by the house. Taking into consideration by the house. Taking into consideration by the house. Taking into consideration by the house because their counties had voted for the Scott act, I think a fair inference is that Messrs. Bowell and White ought to vote the other way (for beer and light wine) now that their constituents have voted against the Scott act. If they cannot see their way to that they ought to resign their seats and go back for re-election. They have the example of the late Judge John Wilson of London before them. Wishing that these gentlemen will respect the wishes of the majority of their supporters.
