Winter Recreations are now the talk of Winter Recreations are now the talk of Winter Recreations are now the talk of the day. Soon the stone and besom will be in motion and Toronto's 400 curlers will en-joy themselves on the ice. The snow has come and the frost is in its wake. Although the 100 rinks to compete with the Yankees in the International tourney in January will be selected from the 100 clubs, members of the Ontario branch, Toronto could nicely supply the number. To show their numeri-cal as well as scientific power, Toronto curl-ers will play the visiting brithers, 100 rinks a side, after the International match. The members of Moss Park Curling Club have been made with the management of the baseball grounds, east of the Don, for curling every Monday and Friday evenings during the winter. The 'whole grounds are being put in good order for flooding as son as Jack Frost permits. They will be beautifully illuminated with electric light. This will make the largest rink in the Dominion. The regular monthly meeting of Moss Park Curling Club will be held in the waiting rooms at the baseball grounds next Thursday at 7.30 p.m. All old members of the club as well as those wishing to join are cordially in-vited to be present.
