day Was the Greatest Success This Week at the Pavillon. Ye Olde Englyshe Fayre continues to excite a good deal of interest. The receipts have increased daily and it is probable that to-day will be the biggest of all. The concert to-night, in which solos will be sung liss Minnie Gaylord, Miss Jardine son, Mr. E. W. Schuch and others,

Thomson, Mr. E. W. Schuch and others, will be a great event.

Ye Maypole Inn and the other places of refreshment did great business yesterday. The damsels of Ye Well of St. Keyne, who wear poke bonnets and pretty old-fashioned blue costumes, dispose of a great deal of lemonade. The shops of needlework and toys are popular as ever. And the dusky and beautiful gypsy maids are telling fortunes busily.

Scenery for Sale.

The question is, What will be done with the house-fronts that have been used in the booths? These are painted with great care and were built at great expense. It would be a pity if this scenery should be destroyed, and here is a splendid chance for managers of fairs or theatres. These thatched cottages might be used to great effect on the stage, and there are a good many of them to choose from. It is probable that they could be purchased at considerably less than they cost. Theatre managers out of town who find it difficult to get scenery painted will probably purchase the stock.

Lády Burns, wife of the chairman of the Cunard Company, named the steamer. The Compania is one of two liners that have been ordered from the same shipbuilders for the service of the Cunard Company, and it is expected that she will be completed in time to make her first trip to New York in April next, immediately prior to the opening of the Chicago Exhibition. The Great Eastern was 6692 feet long by 83 feet broad. The Compania is but 92 feet shorter and 8 feet narrower, and will when fully loaded with cargo, passengers and stores, have a displacement of a least 3000 tons greater than that of any ship—merchant vessel or main of-war—now in existence.
