

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. LETHYLL BLAIR, Canifton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

A Sure Thing.

All Canadian Government Annuities are payable for life no matter how long the Annuitant may live, but the Guaranteed Annuity, that is an Annuity which for a slightly increased payment is guaranteed to be paid for 5, 10, 15 or 20 years as may be desired should the Annuitant die before the period mentioned had expired, enables a purchaser to provide for the contingency that someone may be dependent upon him at the time the Annuity falls due. For example, a man 75 years of age recently purchased an Immediate Annuity of $300 to be guaranteed for ten years for which he paid $2,643. If he should die at, say, 80, the $300 a year will be paid to his heirs for the remaining five years, but in any case he will receive the Annuity as long as he lives should he live to be one hundred or more. This means in other words that the sum of $300 is guaranteed to be paid whether he lives or dies. The $2,643 had been invested at 6 per cent, and was yielding an income of $158.58; so that his income is now almost double that which he form-

If You Want to Rise.

If you want to rise in the world, you must raise something. If you want to rise in business, raise the business you are in. Don't imagine that when you have given your life to the lifting up of a business, the house will try to keep you down. A house cannot rise and keep down the man who raised it any more than a man can rise out of the water and keep down the life preserver that raised him.

No man can do a dollar's worth of work for a dollar. When you are working for nothing but a dollar, your work will not pan out at more than fifty cents. To do a dollar's worth of work you must work for a dollar and something more. You must work for the love of the business, or for the love of something—for something more than the dollar. A mere hireling never does more than fifty cents' worth of work for a dollar, because he has nothing to work for but the dollar. He may meet the requirements as to quantity, but never as to quality. So long as a man thinks of himself as a hireling, he will never hitch his wagon to anything but a pay envelope.

A large employer said the other day that he never distributes his pay envelopes without putting in them an inspirational leaflet—just a bit of printed matter to encourage his men, to spur their ambition, to incite them to higher endeavor. Men need something more than money. They need an encouraging word. They need antidotes for the blues. They need stout backbone braces. They need a friendly handshake, a handshake with a grip in it that helps a man get a new grip on himself.—The Young Man in Business.

Hair Beautifier. Refined Women the World Over Use It.

Every woman knows that there is nothing so good for hair and scalp trouble as Parisian Sage. If Parisian Sage is used two or three times a week it will keep the scalp nice and clean and remove dandruff. It makes the hair lustrous and fluffy, and keeps it from falling out. We urge every woman who loves radiant and fascinating hair to go to T. B. Taylor & Sons to-day and get a large 50 cent bottle of Parisian Sage. They guarantee it to cure dandruff, falling hair and itching scalp, or money back.

The Lure of Dress.

From the Baltimore American.
If parents would only impress upon their daughters the fact that the possession of personal charm calls for little in dress other than a refined taste, they would do much for the correction of the 'wrong ideas of young girls, which ideas breed discontent and cause dress to become infatuation—often with a tragical sequel. Yet the mothers in many instances have no ideas of taste themselves. They do not know how to get the best color compliments from the simplest materials, to fashion attire so that it will really enhance the personal attractiveness of their daughters. So they see these daughters with or without their consent—in most cases at first under parental protest—resort to cheap beautifiers and to taudry attire. The time comes when the girl is no longer satisfied with merely pretentious attire—she must have actual quality. Her tastes have developed in the direction of her desires and she finds herself engulfed in the maelstrom of unsatisfied vanity. It is not necessary to follow the story to the end, its end is sad enough. It is the end of the lure of vanity.

These girls need several things. They need most of all to be taught that beauty resides in simplicity, sincerity and artlessness. They need to be taught to avoid that which takes the bloom out of their complexions. They need to be taught that character lies at the base of attractiveness. They need to be taught that dress and adornment in excess are detractions from charm. They need to be taught in a word to make the most of their truer personality as well as the most of their personal attractiveness.

Names in Electricity.

Electricity is the one branch of science that honors the great names in its fundamental terminology. Andre Marie Ampere was the French physicist who first measured the current and for whom the unit is named. The ohm bears the name of George S. Ohm, a German man of science who discovered the law on which the unit of electrical resistance is based. The volt is named for the Italian Volta, the greatest electrical authority of the eighteenth century, who was the first man to construct a rude electric battery. The farad, the unit of electrical capacity, is named in honor of the English physicist, Faraday; the coulomb, the unit of quantity, for the French physicist Colomb; and the unit of power, for James Watt, the Scotch inventor, who improved the steam engine.

To his many discoveries Thomas A. Edison has added the secret of longevity. "A man is just beginning to live at 65," says Mr. Edison. "Eat as much as you want, forget your troubles and never carry your business to bed with you. If you have a good carrier's appetite, take a good carrier's exercise to work it off." By conforming with this simple rule of living, Mr. Edison hopes to live to the ripe old age of 150.

A GOOD NAME IS TO BE PRIZED.—There have been imitations of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil which may have been injurious to its good name, but it so, the injury has only been temporary. Goodness must always come to the front and throw into the shadow that which is worthless. So it has been with Electric Oil: no imitation can maintain itself against the genuine article. m

The fact that it is possible now to telephone from New York to Denver, a distance of 2,611 miles, is a hopeful sign. Soon it will be possible to speak to any part of the continent, and then telephoning across the ocean will be introduced. Science is doing much to wipe out distance. With a network of wires stretching around the world we shall be able ere long to call up anybody anywhere, and to hear the voice of the far-away friend or relative. Dr. Graham Bell laid in Brantford the foundations for a revolution, the consequences of which are tremendous.

CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes: "For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box.
