To the Editor of The Register:

Sir-On an occasion like this, the Irish race in the collritish provinces have a filial duty incombent upon them, to raise their voices firmly whenever a group of us can be brought together, that the priceless heritage of responsible government as we know it here in this Dominion, be no longer withheld from Ireland. This is a fitting time for Irish people and in truth I despise such. It is such national organizations to have it de- trimmers as these that are unfortunclared publicly thee the only way to ately selected betimes to tell us of satisfy the just demands of the Irish Irish patriotism and make Irishmen people is to give to Ireland the Cau- and their sons in love with the memadian system. At the late Queen's Jubilee in London, and at the hanquet in the Imperial institute, presided over by the Prince of Wales, now King Edward, the Prenter of Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, seated at the Prince's right hand, declared in his address that "Canada was logal because she was Never in my remembrance was there such a significant public utterance, so splendidly enunciated, vindicating the principle of self-government or Home Rule, than this by the Premier of Canada. But let this be dore in time. The receptions of the Irish delegation-Messrs. Redmond, McHogh and O'Donnell-at Ottawa and Montreal, were of a very natisfactory character, and an honor to the Irish people of both cities. Montreal was ever forward in contributing liberally to any genuino Jelah national movement. And at Ottawa the reception to the delegates was very characteristic. The lunch-President of the St. Patrick's Literary Society, to which much celat was added by the presence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, and his colleague, the Hen. W. R. The tact and good sense displayed were of a happy character, and reflected much credit on the President of the Irish unational organization. The Irish everywhere felt, and I myself felt it, that the Irish of Getawa and Montreal, honored all of us by honoring, so happily as they did, the Irish

Working on constitutional lires, Mr. Redmond and his lieutenants had the best of 'evidence — the coraportment of the people of his race at Oltawa and Montreal - that the sympathy for Breland in Canada was heartily with them. But to append to this constitu-"tional struggle the ultimata ratio of an appeal to armed force in case of expediency, and commit the Irish In Canada to this movement, would the to injure our cause in Canada, It would place the friends of Irish au-Honomy in Canada, some of whom, ifrom their social position and valuatile family and party connections, would be of the greatest service in aiding the Irish cause, in a false position. Therefore, we, the Irish of Canada, are in this instance the best Judges of how best we can serve the Irish cause; and not to leave oursolves at the mercy of a bigoted and grejudiced press, ever ready to howl their bigotry, and to raise the cry of disloyalty against any prominent men who publicly exerts himself in we not seen this recently in the case of Mr. D'Aicy Scott, the President of the Ottawa St Patrick's Literary Society, and of Sir Wilfrid Laurier for attending a luncheon in honor of the Irish delegates?

In these St. Patrick celebrations nothing seems more crying for improvement than the selection of public speakers, and many a time have we been pained by the ablect truckling stuff, puffed up as Irish oratory. as one peruses it afterwards in the public dailles. Surcly these public speakers are misplaced. And to think that these selections are and have been made by patriotic organizations. When I hear a man whose father was an Irishman claiming to be a native American or New Yorker, I regard such a person with contempt, plies by editors to the question, born in England, whose father is an ply always was, if the father is an Wero Ireland a Protestant nation, there is not the slightest doubt that England could not hold Ireland 24 hours unless upon conditions that now exist in Canada. Any other condition the Protestant Irishman would not tolerate. The whole history of the past confirms this. But Ireland is in a servile condition, because of its religion and its adherence to its system. Who, then, but the Catholic clergy is it that, more than another. should hold up their hands, and raise their voices that Ireland should have her natural rights? The concession of responsible government to Ircland, as it obtains in Canada, would infallibly raise the status of the Irish race universally.

The Penal Laws and Their Effects. Editor Catholic Register:

Sir-In your last issue your reply to strictures of Saturday Night re Catholics and crime was forcible and conclusive. Probably you gave it a consideration far beyond its worth, as I do not imagine that paper is thought to be anything more than a record and critic of passing events. The sedate and more carefully written papers are not now indulging in this once profitable crusade against the Catholic Irish. Their writers fear | with the editor of Saturday Night historic records, as they very often His record in speeches such as that receive with wonderful force. I think. Ross Robertson's meetings in the I may safely say had the editor of Saturday Night consulted history he would have found sufficient therein to enable him to palliate at least a portion of those petty crimes o ably described by you, Mr. Editor. It is fully admitted that laws of a country in accordance with their character elevate or debase the governed. And, sir, if the people are oppressed and governed with penal codes for generations, how can they be expected to clevate themselves with only partial relief in a generation or two? Education being a great lever for the elevation of man what were Catholic Ireland's opportunities under the code? This is one example of the code: If a Catholic schoolmaster taught any person, Protestant or Catholic, any species of literature or science, such teacher was for the crime of teaching punishable by banishment, and it he returned from banishment he was subject to be hanged as a felon. I quote this from several of a like nature and certainly not less atrocious. Domestic happiness under this beautiful code was fostered in this way: If a Catholic wife declared herself a Protestant she was immediately entitled to a separate maintenance and the custody of all the children. This is but a mere glance at this brutal code. Edmond Burke, speaking of this code, says, "It was a machine of wise and claborate contrivance and as well fitted for the oppression, im-

of man." This possibly may be considered ancient history and its effects outlived. But let us come down to almost our own day and generation. The Rev. Javor of the Irisi national idea. Have Sidney Smith, rector of Londesborough, speaking at a meeting held in the rectory to oppose Catholic emancipation, said: "We preach to our congregations, sir, that a troe is known by its fruits. By the fruits it produces I will judge your system. What has it done for Ireland? New When the "Costigan Resolu- Zealand is emerging. Canada is favoring 7rish Home Rule, emerging; Iteland is not emerging. she is still ruled in darkness, her 1883, Gladstone became irritated, and children sale under no law live in the no doubt the majority of the House. very shadow of death. Has your system of exclusion made Ireland rich? M. P. for East Toreth division of Has it made Ireland happy? Has it Liverpool, interrogated the First made Ireland loyal? they would range themselves under the hostile lanner of any invader for your destruction and your distress? Is it liberty when men breathe und more among the bayonets of Engtheir liberty anything but a tissue of prorders, burnings, bangings, famine and disease as never existed in the annuls of the world before? This is the system which I am sure with very different intentions and different riens of its effects you are met here to uphold."

It was the cruel treatment of Catholic Ireland that caused gifted Protestant Irishmen like Burke, Swift, Grattan, Curran and Goldsmith to rise in defence of their Catholic fellow-countrymen. One instance will suffice to show how law was respected in Ireland. May, 1841, O'Connell was arrested and the prosecutton ended by sending him with eight others to Richmond Prison. On the following September the judgment was reversed. It was whilst the appeal was before the Lords that Lord Denman uttered these immortal

"If such practices as have taken place in the present instance in Ireland should continue the trial by Jury would become a mockery, a delusion and a snare."

Here, Mr. Editor, was a people denied the right of trial by jury. the right to sit in Parliament, the right to vote, the right to educate their children; and notwithstanding those cruel enactments they are to-day the most law-abiding and the most moral people in the world This can be accounted for in one way, and that is in the great moral teaching of the Catholic Church. And assuredly had it not been for the powerful effects of that religion the Irish people must have gone back to barbarism.

If writers will insist on regating their readers with the shortcomings of Irish Catholics why not make publie that which had a powerful influence to foster and create crime? Give the public a knowledge of the laws that governed Ireland by publishing the penal code. Historians like Mc-Intosh, Hallam, Agnes Strickland, Lingard and many others have made an attempt to vindicate the Irish Catholic character. But those histories appear to be as scarce in the editors' santum as they are in our public schools.

Sir, this brings up a grave question which should not be slightly gisased over or a conclusion arrived at by quoting a few statistics. But should the descendants of the persecuted Irish possess certain shortcomings they are in free Canada superior to the influences not their own making. That which is too often the reverso I think can with safety free the editor of Saturday Night-that of bigotry-as I do not think there room for it in one possessing such an abundance of real good nature, and it would be repugnant to his manly heart, I know the man. Two Letters from Mr. Walker Explaining the Severity of His Case and the Permanency of His Cure by Using

DR. OHASE'S OINTMENT.

Some people seem to think that it is too much to claim that Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure every form of niles, but facts go to prove the truth of this claim. These are interesting letters from one who has suffered much and been cured:

In November, 1901, Mr. Sherwood Walker, a fireman on the Canada Atlantic Railway, living at Madawaska, Ont., writes: "I am a great sufferer from bleeding piles. Sometimes the protruding piles come down, causing much misery and uncasiness, and at other times I am subject to bleeding piles, and they bleed to such, an extent as to make me quite weak. II Dr. Chase's Ointment will curè this awful ailment you will have my everlasting gratitude."

On March 1, 1902, we received the following letter from Mr. Walker, which speaks volumes for Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles of the most distressing form. He writes: "According to my promise, I now take pleasure in writing to you. If you remember, you sent me a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for bleeding piles some three months ago. I used it faithfull, and can say that it has entirely cured me of bleeding piles.

"I would have written sooner, but I wanted to be able to tell you that it was a permanent cure. This you can use for the benefit of other suffering people. There are several people here who have been cured of very severe cases of protruding piles by using this great cintment." So far as we know there is no other preparation extent which is so successful in curing piles of the most aggravated kind as Dr. Chase's Ointment. Its soothing, healing powers are marvelous, and its cures thorough and permanent. Catholic Higher Education.

(Editorial in The Globe.)

Citirens of all creeds, will appreclate and sympathize with the energetic effort that is being made to improve and extend the facilities for the higher education of the Catholic youth of Ontario. St Michael's, Toronto, has done good work of this character, but the buildings are inadequate, and it is proposed to make very extensive alterations and additions, so as to accommodate two jundred more resident students and a hundred more non-residents. By this means not only will the usefulness of the college be augmented, but the various courses offered by the University of Toronto will be rendered more available to Catholic young

ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

The twentieth annual meeting of the shareholders of this company was held at the head office in Hamilton, Tuesday, the 4th inst. Lieut-Colonel Kerns, Vice-President, was appointed Chairman and David Dexter Secretary. REPORT OF DIRECTORS.

The directors presented their annual report, as follows:-Your directors have the honor to present the report and financial statement of the company for the year which closed on December 31, 1901, duly vouched for by the auditors.

The new business of the year consisted of 1,793 applications for insurance, aggregating $2,479,500, of which 1,704 applications, for $2,385,768.50, were accepted; applications for $93,731.50 were rejected or held for further information

As in previous years, the income of the company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the company have been increased by $178,584.66, and have now reached $1,449,925 58, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security for policyholders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $2,319,925.58, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, $1.290.849.94, showing a surplus of $1,029,075.64. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital the surplus to policyholders was Policies on 56 lives became claims through death, to the amount of $126,-745, of which $5,000 was reinsured in other companies, a rate of mortality

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the company's funds in first-class bonds, mortrage securities and loans on the company's policies amply secured by reserves. Our investments have yielded results better than the average results of insurance companies doing business in Canada. Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business.

The field officers and agents of the company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful in the company's service.

The assurances carried by the company now amount to $13,058,777.61, upon which the company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus, as above shown.

The work of the current year, now well under way, has produced results even better than for the same period last year, leading to the belief that me like advantage may be maintained throughout the year.
