Human Security and National Security can be mutually re-enforcing. Some reflection should be made on tendencies within the international system including, the unwillingness of the U.S.A. to commit ground troops and risk military lives, as well as the growing tendency to address problems through informal coalitions rather than international institutions.

Dr. Dean Oliver
Canadian War Museum

The Honourable Jean-Jacques Blais,
P.C., Pearson Peacekeeping Centre

Mr. Geoffrey Pearson
United Nations Association in Canada

Mr. David Mitton

Mr. Steven Wallace
Canadian International Development
Agency

Prof. Maya Shatzmuller
McGill University

Prof. Metta Spencer
Science for Peace

Dr. Douglas Bland
Queen's University

Prof. Heike Viand
McGill University

Prof. Donna Winslow
University of Ottawa

Mr. Giles Gherson or Mike Trickey
Southam News/Ottawa Citizen

Prof. Claude Emanuelli
University of Ottawa

Mr. Chris Hynes

Prof. Ernie Regehr
Project Ploughshares

Mr. Christian Geiser
Université du Québec à Montréal

Dr. John Polanyi
University of Toronto

General Michel Maisonneuve
Department of National Defence

Dr. David Malone
International Peace Academy

Mr. Marcus Gee
The Globe and Mail

Mr. Michael Small
Department of Foreign Affairs and
International Trade

Mr. Steven Lee
Centre for Foreign Policy
Development

Mr. Don Huber
Department of Foreign Affairs and
International Trade

Prof. Errol Mendes
Human Rights Research and
Education Centre

Mr. John Currie
University of Ottawa

Mr. Robin Hay
Human Rights Research and
Education Centre

Mr. Bob Miller
Parliamentary Centre