

INDEX OF FIRST LINES.

	Page.
The gentle rain with showers of crystal drops	56
The old world rang with its cries of wrong	50
The rose that opens all her heart	61
The silver trumpets pealed from Heaven	41
The three lone graves showe green	38
The weird medallions on the carven bed	28
The year is dead	32
These are thy fancies, gentle Melancholy	13
There are ninety and nine	34
They told her, in her darkest hour, of bliss	56
Through the fringed gates of sleep, the
Thy friendship like a lovely dream	63
'Tis Love, Love, Love	26
True love is born of Pain	14
angel Pain	18
We acquiesce in all that is	14
We do not chide sweet Nature, when her face	54
We nothing know but that we are, and long	55
We sing a golden land where the rose's laden bough	47
What trembling hope, what speculative joy	55
While Earth upon her trembling axis swings	51
Who has not felt, some still, hot afternoon	17
Wind-witches wailing upon the lone sea	23
With hopeless love no longer burning	62
Ye glorious skies and sunsets	29
Young Love had been all day a-fooling	64