

five, the weather having cleared, drove out with her, the Duke of Roxburghe, and Leopold ; Lady Ely, the Duke, General Ponsonby, and Mr. Yorke in the second carriage, and Lord Haddington on horseback in his uniform. We drove to and through Dunbar, escorted by the East Lothian Yeomanry. The town was beautifully decorated and admirably kept. There were triumphal arches, and many very kind inscriptions. We turned into the park in front of the house, formerly occupied by the Lord Lauderdale of that day, facing the old Castle of Dunbar (of which very little remains) to which Queen Mary was carried as a prisoner by Bothwell after the murder of Darnley, and where lies the harbour—a very small one. Thence past the old watch-tower hill, called Knockenhair, where some gipsies—in fact, the “gipsy queen”—from Norwood had encamped ; and where we saw several women, very dark and rather handsome and well dressed, standing close to the wall.

On through the small villages of Belhaven and West Barns by the paper mills, a large and rather handsome building, turning from the high road to the west lodge of Biel, Lady Mary Nisbet Hamil-
