

To the Boys Who Have Been Wearing Khaki and Are About to Change Back Into Civil Life

Boys! There are a lot of you that are going back into civil life. You will need clothes and naturally you will be casting round in your mind for a good place to buy. Now you perhaps are aware that since you have been in the military service conditions and merchandise have undergone a mighty change. Fabrics of all kinds are higher and will be for a good many moons because all of the channels of manufacturing have been so long diverted that it's going to take a long time to come back to what we are pleased to call normal times. Therefore, we say to you be careful. Be wary of the cut-rate advertisement and fake schemes to get your money. Look round. Come in our store as often as you like and compare our values and prices. We want you to do that—it's the best way for you to find out just what we and others are doing. We sold 12 men this week just that way. They came in, saw our clothes, then looked round and came back as soon as they got their discharge and bought their needs from us. Price is not everything. Value is what counts, and you can buy a mighty dear suit for $18.00, and by the same token a cheap suit for $40.00, simply because the $18.00 one has only price to recommend it, while the $40.00 suit has value in the construction of the fabric and wearing surface that you cannot possibly get in the cheap grades. For your own protection buy the best your purse affords and you'll find it the only true economy in the long run. Mind you, we have suits at $18.00, $20.00, $22.00 and so on up to $50.00, $60.00 and $75.00, but we strongly recommend you to buy in the price range between $30.00 and $50.00. The same rule applies to Overcoats. Listen, Boys! We don't advertise to sell the cheapest goods in town nor the lowest prices. What we do say to you is this, that dollar for dollar you can't beat our values and before we put a price on we put the value in first. Like a good Indian we are not double-tongued, and have only one way of doing business, and that's on the square. While you have been serving our Country we have been serving the People, and in that way we have both been doing our bit and kept the Home Fires Burning. We want your trade, Boys, every dollar you can give us, but we want you satisfied, first, last, and for all time.

Faithfully yours,

GOVERNMENT IS BUSY ON DEMOBILIZATION

Labor Department Working on Plans to Place Munition Workers.

MINISTERS HARD-WORKED

Cables Busy With Work of Getting the Soldiers Back to Canada.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The government is busy on the work of demobilization and will send the men back to their homes and occupations at the earliest possible moment.

The department of labor is still working out details for turning the men and women let out of the munition plants into essential employments. The lumber firms are after all the men they can get for their camps in the woods. But no details of how discharged hands can get in touch with new employment have yet been given out. Some system of public advertisements may be adopted.

The ministers are loaded up with all kinds of work, including conferences with the provincial premiers and colleagues.

The cables are busy on the work of getting as many soldiers as possible back to Canada at the earliest possible moment. The clearing stations and hospital requirements are also pressing on the ministers and officials, both here and in Europe.

The transportation work is alone an immense undertaking, and calls for a lot of detailed organization.

WAR SUMMARY

The Day's Events Reviewed

Versailles is preparing to receive the peace conference. It will be an imposing gathering, and will be present from all the countries which declared war against Germany, including Japan, Spain, China, Italy, Greece, and Cuba. The presence of these deputations from small countries furnishes a problem for the allied states which will be difficult to adjust the voting strength. This will not depend on the size of the delegation, but on the principle of allowing each state an equal vote will not be feasible. After the allies settle the voting strength, the delegates of the enemy, including Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey, will be invited to the allied terms. Two treaties will probably embody the peace terms, one embracing the general principles and the other the particulars.

The number and size of the allied national delegations will give cause for so many diverse representations of the election platform for an American presidential candidate. It will tend to be colorless. The size and polyglot nature of the allied representations will also afford scope for German intrigues. It will be like the Hague peace conference, unless the allies will tend to guard against this development. At the Hague, the German delegates used openly to bully the allies, and the delegates of the minor powers to vote resolutions in the interest of Berlin. The same tactics will be used at Versailles. The German delegates will use the weapon that was used at the Hague, but she will have little of intrigue. The allied nations, however, will be necessary means, therefore, the German delegates will also have to use the same tactics. The German delegates will use the same tactics as at the Hague, but she will have little of intrigue. The allied nations, however, will be necessary means, therefore, the German delegates will also have to use the same tactics.

A demand has arisen from certain politicians to make the peace conference open to the press. The press of that type recall the purges of the trial of the German delegates, which will be a serious matter. The press of that type recall the purges of the trial of the German delegates, which will be a serious matter. The press of that type recall the purges of the trial of the German delegates, which will be a serious matter.

The news that the Germans are continuing to practice the same tactics as at the Hague, but she will have little of intrigue. The allied nations, however, will be necessary means, therefore, the German delegates will also have to use the same tactics.

The surrender of 20 German submarines to the British fleet yesterday, as the first instalment of 100 picked for destruction, not only for Germany, but also for the allies. With fewer than 200 of these craft, Germany attempted to control the sea from the land, nearly succeeded one time, but eventually failed. With 1000 of these craft she probably would have succeeded. The cause of her failure was not nearly towards success was the initial failure of the British Admiralty to adopt the convoy system, or rather, lack of foresight during times of peace in providing enough suitable craft for convoys. After the convoy system came into effect the submarine was doomed. It had previously failed completely in its campaign against surface warships. Its future influence on warfare, provided that a reign of universal peace does not ensue, will be as a commerce destroyer. It can be built by wholesale, according to a standardized plan, and a comparatively insignificant power, by striking a sudden blow at a nation's maritime commerce, and by effecting a complete surprise, might even win a war at its beginning, if the power under attack was an insular power like Great Britain. The finding of safe harbors against this potential danger is one task of the forthcoming peace conference.

PLAYS PICTURES AND MUSIC

Coming to Princess.
The seat sale opens this morning at the Princess for "The Lady Bountiful Minstrel," which will be the attraction next week. This is the first dramatic, operatic or minstrel organization made up entirely of young ladies, carrying their own orchestra and brass band. They provide the entire musical equipment on and off the stage, and some an interesting sight in their daily street parade. The production differs with the effervescence of fun, music, frolic, mirth, song, dancing, travesty, spectacle, for the "Lady Bountiful Minstrel" carry their own scenic equipment and fashion creations, therein having a decided advantage over all male competitors. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees at popular prices.

The "Very Idea" Coming.
Reserve seats are on sale today at the Royal Alexandra for "The Very Idea," which will be the attraction for next week by the Messrs. Anderson and Weber. "The Very Idea" is a laugh-provoking farce written around the subject of the betterment of the human race, which New York, Chicago, Boston, has staged for many months. The theme is that of a typical American childless home with a pair of friends whose philoprogenitiveness is expressed by one, and a brother-in-law who is possessed by Bernard Shaw's idea of breeding of the human race. The play is thoroughly original, and is being staged at the Royal Alexandra Theatre week of Dec. 2.

William Moore Patch's new musical play, "Take It From Me," is the work of Will B. Johnston, a well-known of the York newspaper cartoonist, who is said to have completely succeeded in transferring to the musical comedy stage a number of real characters which he elaborated and elaborated out of the dull incidents of everyday life. "Take It From Me" comes heralded as the melodically original work of the year thus far. It comes to the Royal Alexandra Theatre week of Dec. 2.

"The Better 'Ole" at Princess.
"The Better 'Ole" or a romance of Old Bill, described as a fragment from France, is to be seen shortly at the Princess. This play, by Capt. Bruce Bainsfather and Capt. Arthur Elliot, now running in New York, is one of the greatest successes seen here in years.

"The Man They Left Behind."
To watch the agents and helpers of Germany in the United States, six different service agencies, each independent of the other and each responsible to its own independent chief, were operating for the government. A chance to witness what they are doing and to see the wily German spy in action is offered in the new play, "The Man They Left Behind," a drama of absorbing elements, love, comedy, honor and mystery, which will be presented at the Grand Opera House next week.

Shea's Theatre—Vaudeville.
Next week at Shea's Theatre Blanche Ring will head the bill. A special attraction is Lois Josephine and Tyler Brooks, both musical comedy favorites. Jimmy Lucas and his company present "Wild Ravings of 1918." Mr. Lucas is a singing and dancing comedian who is clever. Two pretty young women and a man constitute the Gardner Trio, who offer a pretty dancing act. Johnny Jones and Marion Greenlee present their domestic skit, "What Did You Do?" Dave Roth's act is called "Versatility" and he sings, dances, plays the violin and piano. O'Donnell and Blair are newcomers at Shea's and have a bright sketch.

Loew's Next Week.
"Under the Yoke," featuring Theda Bara next week at Loew's Theatre and Winter Garden, is a drama of love intrigue during the Philippine insurrection. An all-star array of vaudeville favorites will introduce Zahn and Dries in song and chatter; Geo. Barbier, Carrie Thatcher and Players in "The Rose of Blood." "Clubs are Trump"; the Two Little, dash of the daintiness; Jack Arnold Trio, offering music, melodies and dances; Belle and Eva, "Fountain"; and Barry and Layton, "The All Round Boys." Loew's current war pictures and the "Mutt and Jeff" animated cartoon round off the bill.

At Shea's Hippodrome.
Theda Bara, the great emotional actress, will be featured at Shea's Hippodrome next week in the latest release, "The Rose of Blood." It is a thrilling story picturized and shown the great Theda Bara at her best. Lee Beegs and Company, in "The Old Folks at Home," have a clever sketch, while Knute Erickson and Flavia Arcaro have an excellent novelty of fering. Roth and Roberts are eccentric comedians with new songs and dances, and the Three Nelson Sisters have a wire novelty. The Dancing Cronins, Allman and Woods, black-faced comedians, and the Pathe News Bahman Show at Gayety.

At the Gayety Theatre next week Jack Singer will present his all-new "Behman Show," that sterling attraction whose title is as good as the name implies. It is truly called a big show, for it embraces not only a list of novelties, but everything that is employed in clear burlesque and refined vaudeville. The principal feature, besides its coterie of handsome girls, its sprightly soubrettes and uncouth comedians, is its excellent olio of novelties of headlines and headline acts.

At the Allen.
The attraction this week at the Allen is Mary Pickford in "Johanna Annists," which has been proclaimed by many to be one of the most famous star's best pictures. It gives Miss Pickford unlimited opportunity for her histrionic ability. The first story of "Boy Scout to the Rescue," showing the adventures of a boy scout troop, is an added attraction. Next week the famous film adaptation of week the famous film adaptation of "The Better 'Ole" will be presented at regular Allen prices.

Double Bill at Regent.
There is to be one of the best all-around shows at the Regent Theatre next week. Charlie Chaplin will appear in his second picture of the workmanlike construction, and Bert Lyell will star in "Unexpected Places." Chaplin is right there with his usual good humor and will make everybody laugh to the limit. "Unexpected Places," Mr. Lyell's feature, is an exciting up-to-the-minute love affair and concerns Dick Holloway, a newspaper reporter. To the accompaniment of lifting music these pictures will be shown.

Wallace Reid at Strand.
The reputation of Wallace Reid for versatility is enhanced with every production in which he takes part. In "The Source," his latest Paramount vehicle, in which he will be seen at the Strand today, tomorrow and Saturday, he is responsible for a role which attords the most interesting study in psychology. For the whole of next week Charlie Chaplin will be the offering in his second $1,000,000 first national picture, "Shoulder Arms."

Norma Talmadge at Madison.
Norma Talmadge is so magnetic a personality that she is always a great attraction as the star of any photoplay. In "Her Only Way," the Select picture to be shown at the Madison today, tomorrow and Saturday, she has a vehicle with a well-constructed plot and a smashing climax.

Mayor of Dieuze Sends Deep Love for Motherland
Paris, Nov. 20.—The mayor of Dieuze, Lorraine, which was entered by the French troops on Monday, sent to President Poincare a telegram in which he declared the deep love of the town for the motherland. Brooks, both musical comedy favorites. Jimmy Lucas and his company present "Wild Ravings of 1918." Mr. Lucas is a singing and dancing comedian who is clever. Two pretty young women and a man constitute the Gardner Trio, who offer a pretty dancing act. Johnny Jones and Marion Greenlee present their domestic skit, "What Did You Do?" Dave Roth's act is called "Versatility" and he sings, dances, plays the violin and piano. O'Donnell and Blair are newcomers at Shea's and have a bright sketch.

Asleep Knitting

Many people complain of involuntarily falling asleep when reading, knitting, or doing any close work. This is a sign that the eyes are working under a strain and a reliable optician should be consulted. "Luke" can give your eyes a scientific examination, and, if glasses are needed, fit you with just the correct lens.

Disease Rampant Throat
China; Missions Seek Funds

Rev. Dr. Chown, president of the Methodist general conference, and Rev. Dr. Stephenson, superintendent of the Methodist Young People's Forward Movement for Missions, are going to visit the Methodist missions in China and Japan as soon as plans, which have been awaiting the close of the war, have been completed. A critical condition is reported to the Methodist board by the missions, owing to the shortage of doctors to combat the spread of disease.

Dr. Chas. W. Service says in his report: "It is estimated that 35 to 60 per cent. of all infants die of lockjaw within two weeks of birth. In China we have malaria in all its forms. In some parts of China more than half the population are affected. Tuberculosis is rampant with mortality of about two millions per year."

"Vermin-carried diseases are everywhere, and these do not spare nursing physicians, seven of whom died from such causes."

Permits to Leave Canada Are No Longer Necessary

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—On May 24, 1917, with the object of preventing an exodus from Canada of persons likely to be affected by the M.S.A., the government passed a regulation providing that males between 18 and 45 desiring to travel must first secure a permit authorizing their departure. As this regulation imposed some hardship on the traveling public, and as the conclusion of hostilities seems to render unnecessary the further enforcement of the regulation, the government has rescinded the same, and people are now as free to leave the Dominion as they were before the outbreak of war.
