WE contend that there is no other hat store on the continent that has such a large and varied assortment of men's hats as what we have in our show cases.

Take, too, the fact that we are sole Canadian agents for the Dunlop of New York and Henry Heath of London. Summer and late spring designs are in for both these makers. Hats by Stetson, Christy, Melville, Tress, Hillgate and Dineen

AMATEUR BASEBALL.

At the Boys' Union field, west end senior boys' team defeated the intermediate Conquerors by a score of 20 to 16. Batteries, Glocking and McCarthy; Odea and Miles. The team is expected to turn out Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock for practice.

The Boys' Union team were defeated by St. Paul's team on St. Paul's grounds by 7 to 5. The feat was McKinnis' pitching for St. Paul's.

The Bohemians defeated the Live Stock at Diamond Park by 10 to 2. The Excelsiors defeated the Orioles by 10 to 8. The feature was the pitching of Nye. The winners lined up as follows: McQuarter c, Nye p, Stonehouse lb, A. Moore 2b, Cunningham ss, Baker 3b, F. Moore rf, J. Johnson c, Nolan lf.

The Dukes were defeated by the Willows at Bayville Park. The score: The White Sox (West End Y.M.C.A.) defeated the Centennials at Harris' Diamond Park. The game was very one-sided after the first innings. The only outstanding feature was the base running of Kyle and Adams of the Sox, each man having five runs to his credit. The Centennials used three pitchers, the best one being Leavack. Herbert also pitched good ball for the Sox. The batting of the White Sox was terrific.

The line up of the Live Stock A.A. Club against the Night Owls at 10 a.m. to-day will be: Gray lf, Marchina cf, Wilson cf, Carter 3b, Sullivan 2b, Crossley 1b, Lindgren A. Adams p, Morrison th. A game of interest among the fans of the west end will take place this morning at 10 o'clock between the best club, the Club and the Night Owls. This game will certainly settle a lot of betting.

A game was played between the Davenport and Chalmers, resulting in a win for the former by 7-3. Clark and Dillon were the battery for the winners, and the young pitcher was master at all times, nine men going down to his delivery. Umpire White gave entire satisfaction.

THE SIMPSON COMPANY, LIMITED

H. H. FUDGER, Pres. THE ROBERT J. WOOD, Man. MONDAY, May 25.

THE CAUSE OF IT ALL

PERHAPS people have wondered why steel frame construction is so noisy. Passing the new Simpson building their ears have been assailed by a loud, clamorous and insistent burst of rapping, sharp and rapid, like nothing in the world so much as the rattle of a maxim gun in action. Not nerve wracking exactly—it is two big a sound to imitate—but dominating, stern, harsh, the sound of energy, the sound of applied force, the sound of determination. If ever determination had a voice it is found in the compressed air riveting machine, or the "gun," as the men call it. This instrument is made as true as a gun, the cylinder being bored as carefully as a gun barrel. A plunger or piston fits exactly into the barrel and the air escaping from the valve in the handle beats upon this piston with a pressure of ninety pounds to the square inch. The plunger in turn strikes upon the header, a cap of steel which sits into the muzzle of the gun loose save for the wire which holds it from dropping out when the gun is withdrawn from the rivet. The header is placed against the red hot end of the rivet, the dolly is braced against the opposite side and pressing the valve the head riveter turns on the air. Instantly the clamor you hear in the street below and over half the down town district. The plunger strikes the header and the header beats upon the rivet. The air escapes through little holes in the barrel and the plunger bounces back, thus covering the vents. Again the air gathers and again the plunger shoots upon the header and communicates the force to the slowly cooling rivet. Like a nail between two hammers it clinches, rounds and welds to the girder. In a few seconds the work is done—all because some ingenious American invented this compressed air gun to take the place of sledge hammers and all the toil, time and extra scaffolding paraphernalia that used to be involved.
