WOODLAWN.

Woodlawn, Mimico, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Royce, was the scene of a wedding when the marriage was solemnized of their eldest daughter, Clara, to Mr. Arch. Campbell. The ceremony took place at four o'clock, Rev. Dr. Caldwell, Owen Sound, a former pastor of the Methodist Church at Mimico, officiating.

The bride was brought in and given away by her father while Mendelssohn's wedding march was being played by Miss Annie C. Boyce, cousin of the bride. The bride looked charming in a gown of cream silk striped with a gown of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of cream roses, and wore a pearl brooch, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids were the Misses Dora and Verdie Boyce, sisters of the bride, who were dressed alike in pale pink velvets, and carried pink roses. Mr. F. W. Royce, Charlton, New Ontario, was best man. The bride's mother wore grey silk marquisette. The groom's gift to the bridesmaids were gold bracelets and to the best man gold cuff links. Guests were present from Owen Sound, Guelph and Toronto. The gifts were many and costly.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left for a trip to the Kawartha Lakes, the bride traveling in long navy blue coat with cream mohair hat. On their return they will reside at 68 Glendale-avenue, Toronto.

BOND—WATERS.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Waters, Elmer-avenue, prettily decorated with palms and flowers, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday afternoon last when their only daughter, Winnifred Florence, became the bride of Mr. Jas. A. Bond, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bond.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Baynes-Read of St. John's Church, Norway, the bride was given away by her father, looking lovely in a gown of soft lace over silk with wreath of orange blossoms in her hair and carrying a large bouquet of white roses and lilies, the gift of Mr. W. J. Lawrence. She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Gertrude Bond, in a lustrous gown with bouquet of pink roses and wearing a pearl brooch, the gift of the groom. Mr. Cecil Waters was best man and Mr. Ernest Bond played the wedding march and accompanied Mr. Geo. Bond who played "Oh Fair, Oh Sweet, Oh Holy."

Only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony—Mr. and Mrs. Bond left for Muskoka, the bride traveling in a bique tulle with blue silk and flowers and carrying the groom's gift, a silver mesh bag.

Throwing Money At the Clouds

Aviation Passenger Concern Loses $70,000 on One Year's Operations.—Outlook Bad.

BERLIN, June 17.—The German Aviation Company of Frankfurt-on-Main, formed to conduct a passenger service with Zeppelin dirigible balloons, has closed its first year's business, with a loss of $71,000, due largely to the cost of restoring the dirigible Deutschland, after its destruction in the Teutoburger forest last year.

This year's balance sheet promises to be even more unfavorable, the second Deutschland, the destruction of which at Düsseldorf in May will be charged against the new account, not having been insured like its predecessor. Undiscouraged, however, by the ill fortune, the company will order an additional dirigible for passenger service.

Waterloo Day

To-day is the anniversary of the battle of Waterloo. Napoleon's army of some 70,000 men was on this date, which was also, in 1815, a Sunday, drawn up at the foot of Mount St. Jean, and Wellington's men—numbering about 67,000—were hastening to meet them. The clashing of two such large bodies of determined fighting men is, fortunately, of rare occurrence, but we may be excused for taking some pride in our commemoration of the outcome of the struggle. The Duke of Wellington outgeneraled the Corsican Napoleon, and in this crowning battle broke his over-ambitious power forever. Arthur Wellesley, first Duke of Wellington, an Irishman, born in Dublin, in 1769, the same year in which Napoleon was born, learned the rudiments of warfare in the French Academy in Paris, but, but, in the earlier part of his career, rather a parliamentarian than an active soldier. Thereafter, in 1794, he was fighting in Holland and in 1796 was sent as commander-in-chief, to Calcutta. In India he achieved a reputation for strict integrity and justice, which keeps his name alive, to this day, amongst the educated natives, as all that stands for sagacity, moderation and strict integrity. In 1807 he was chief secretary for Ireland, and in the following year he began that campaign in the peninsula which culminated in 1815 at Waterloo, and, after many engagements in which superior numbers against him, and the better knowledge of his own troops, and the better knowledge of his own troops, many times nearly involved him in disaster, he finally brought the Peninsular War to a victorious issue at Waterloo. For all his stern soldierly qualities he was described as a man who won the personal affection of the nation, was, without a capable statesman, and, to quote contemporary comment, "won the heart of Britain through his high sense of duty and his perfect integrity."

Spero Refuses to Meet Carroll. Tommy Ryan, manager of Olympic Athletic Club, received word from J. J. Dermody of Buffalo, manager of the Spero, saying he would not meet Frank Carroll as he claimed he didn't realize how good a boy Carroll was. So Manager Ryan has wasted no time in getting a good man to take Spero's place. He has signed Jack Tuttle of Philadelphia. Tuttle is a better man than Spero. He got the newspaper decision over him at the Buffalo Yacht Club two weeks ago and weighs in at 136 lbs. Here are some of his recent bouts:

Young Feldman, knock-out, 2 rounds, at International Club, Buffalo. Walter Wyk, at Albany, bout stopped, 6 rounds, Tuttle getting decision. Jimmy Duffy, at Lockport, got newspaper decision, 3 rounds. Dick Carroll of Baltimore, at St. Mary's P.A., won by knock-out, 5 rounds.

Tuttle has been working out with Brennan at Buffalo, and is in the pink of condition. The rest of the card will remain as it was and will consist of Joe Trayling vs. Billy J. Harris, Herman Smith, Buffalo, vs. F. Crompton; and the main bout of 10 rounds, Honey Melody of Rochester vs. Knock-out Brennan. Hilliard Lang will be at the ringside to challenge the winner. Members can reserve their seats at office, Toronto Bowling Club, 11 Temperance-street, Phone Main 1894.

MRS. STETSON'S OPINION.

Editor Sunday World: The opinion expressed by Mrs. Stetson of New York, that Mrs. Eddy, founder of Christian Science, will rise from the dead, as did Jesus, is not troubling the Christian Scientists in the least. Mrs. Stetson is not a member of the Christian Science Church, and does not speak for the members of the church on this point. Christian Scientists do not believe, and Mrs. Eddy never taught, that she would rise from the dead, and any one who so states does so in contradiction of Mrs. Eddy's specific teaching on this subject. Mrs. Stetson's criticism of the board of directors of the mother church is wide of the mark, for the reason that these men were all specially chosen by Mrs. Eddy herself for their fitness for the work, and they know, if any one does, how Mrs. Eddy wished her work to be carried on. They have the confidence of the whole church, and their action in making arrangements for a suitable monument to be placed over the grave of Mrs. Eddy is fully endorsed by the members of the church throughout the world. C. R. Munro.

Her Triumph. "Maria," Mr. Dorkins said, with a note of scorn in his voice, "I turned a trade to-day that netted me a clean $100." "Pumph!" ejaculated his spouse, in her loftiest you-make-me-fret manner; "went out to-day to hunt up a first-class cook, and I got her, John—I GOT HER!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Bell Piano

"Permit me to say that your piano, in use at the College, has given us all the greatest satisfaction."
MARIE S. MCGILL
Directress

THE WORLD'S GREATEST HIGH WIRE ARTIST.

When Dreamland, the famous amusement park of Coney Island, was destroyed by fire a couple of weeks ago, the Sensational Howards had just opened a season's engagement there. The fire, however, broke their contract besides destroying a couple of thousand dollars' worth of their apparatus. This left them available for the first amusement park enterprise enough to go after them and pay the salary they demanded. Scarborough Beach kept the telegraph wires hot until the famous aerialists had been secured, and so the Howards will open a week's engagement in Toronto on Monday afternoon. They give two separate acts, one consisting of a series of half-breadth tricks on the high wire, and the other the sensational high-wire bicycle act, which has earned them their name. MacRae and Levering, the cycling comedians, and Dennis Bros., who do a comedy acrobatic act, will complete the free bill of four acts. The Sixty-fifth Band of Buffalo, with the scalp of the Lord's Day Alliance at their regimental belt, will stay another week, rendering a program of popular and classical music every afternoon and evening. On Wednesday there will be a fireworks display at night; and, on Thursday, Coronation Day, there will be an exhibition of Japanese daylight fireworks, which ought to powerfully appeal to the children.

Wesleyan College Gets New Professor

Rev. J. H. Robinson, M.A., B.D., to Win His Spurs on Theological Battlefield.

MONTREAL, June 17.—Another appointment has been made to the staff of the Wesleyan College, in the person of Rev. James Howard Robinson, M.A., B.D., of Union Theological Seminary, New York, who is to succeed Rev. Prof. Bland as professor in church history. The executive committee of the college, at their meeting yesterday, however, only made the appointment an "acting" one. Rev. James Howard Robinson is described as enjoying distinction as a public speaker, an excellent preacher and holding a fine academic record. His degrees were conferred this spring, and he comes to Wesleyan College with the highest endorsement.

Protecting Parisian Pre-eminence. To guard against the inroads of the foreign modistes in their attempts to imitate the designs originating in Paris, the fashion centre of the world, and to insure the perpetuity of the pre-eminence of the French creators of feminine toilets, it is now proposed to form in Paris an organization to be known as the Academie de la Mode. It is to be composed of notable representatives of the various professions that have to do with the preservation and adornment of the human body," says a consular report. "It is planned to invite to this organization actresses of renown, modistes, painters, leaders of fashion and others interested—even the physician—in order that hygienic features be not neglected."

Germany Increases State Insurance

Provides for the Aged, the Sick and Invalid—Pensions for Widows of Workmen.

BERLIN, June 17.—Important extensions to the German system of state insurance for working men, are made in a bill adopted by the Reichstag on second reading after protracted debate. The main object of the bill was to consolidate the three branches of state insurance—sick, accident and invalid—the last, including old age pensions, which have hitherto been administered under separate laws. The new law extends the obligatory sick insurance to about seven million farm laborers, lumbermen, and others earlier deprived of its benefits.

It also provides for pensioning at a moderate rate, widows and children of insured workmen and increases the provision for female workers at child birth, to allow the mothers a full opportunity for recuperation before returning to work. It is estimated that the additional cost of the three bills of insurance will be $32,000,000 per year, of which the empire is to bear $6,000,000 and the workmen and their employers, the rest.

Music Notes

The really unique musical event, which marks the closing of a strenuous season, will be the finals of the Bell Company's piano playing competition, which will be held in the Association Hall on the 27th inst. The competition is for a cash prize of $100.00, to be awarded to the most artistic pianist under sixteen years of age, studying in Toronto, and from the numerous entries and the marked interest shown, there is little doubt that on this closing evening there will not be a vacant seat in the auditorium. In order to avoid the slightest suspicion of favoritism or bias, the judges on the occasion will be Mr. J. E. A. Aldous, B.A., director of the Hamilton Conservatory of Music; Mr. H. Puddicombe, director of the Ottawa Conservatory of Music; and Professor Michael Hambourg. The plan will open at the Bell Hotel, Bureau, 146 Yonge-street, on Tuesday, the 20th inst., and those holding tickets must exchange them for reserved coupons as the latter only will be accepted at the door.

The senior pupils of Mildred K. Walker held their annual vocal recital in St. George's Hall last Tuesday evening, before an audience which completely filled the hall. The singers all acquitted themselves with credit.

Miss Vivian Yearsey in her two numbers, "Patsy" and the "Angels' Serenade," aroused great enthusiasm, and was recalled. This young singer should have a future before her on the concert platform. Miss Hazel Marshall's lovely voice was heard to great advantage in "For all eternity," with violin obligato, by Miss Agatha Geddes. Miss Josephine Bridgland in her solo, "Angel land," and in a duet with Miss Marshall, displayed a smooth contralto voice under splendid control. The Misses Irene and Winifred Edgell, two young singers, who appeared for the first time, created favorable impressions, both in their duet and solo work, and were popular with the audience. The gentlemen on the program, Messrs. Raymond E. Sinclair, Thomas G. Eard, and Percy Green, all rendered their respective numbers in splendid style and responded to encores. A pleasing variety to the program were the readings by Miss Bertha Von Brink, a talented young schoolmistress, also a pupil of Miss Walker. Many beautiful flowers were received, the ladies taking part. Miss Walker played the accompaniments for all the singers, with her accustomed skill, and Miss Agatha Geddes played two violin obligatos with great taste and expression.

An Epistle to the Mikado

The Emperor of Japan has written and published a poem congratulating King George V. on his coronation.

Dear Mik—

If you would only stop to think before you write, and

If you would give a moment's calm reflection

To things that really ARE—then it is possible you might

Refuse to join that out-at-elbows second of mankind which is burning all the murky midnight oil

That it can buy, to work all night, I know it.

And earn, besides a little very necessary The title, style and empty fame of "poet."

Believe me, Mik, 'tis hard enough to get 'em into print.

These little poems of poetry we scatter, And probably you only need the littler kind of hint.

That, with you butting in like this, the matter Assumes, at once, a harder, flintier aspect for the men

Who've competitors enough—the weary hard, old!

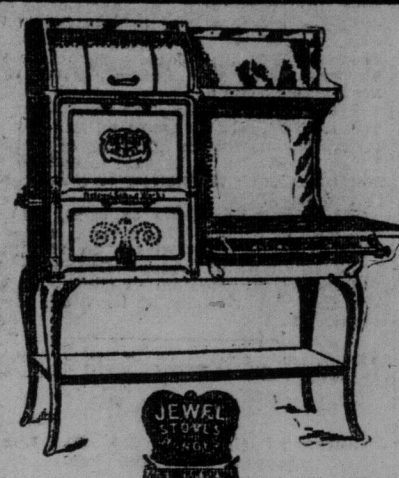

Is up against it pretty bad already, and he wants No struggle with a purple-lead Mikado.

—G. T. B.

Charles Lamb's Excuse. Leadenhall-street, London, was for many years the scene of the daily labors of Charles Lamb. This Lamb—despite his many complaints—appears to have had a fairly easy time at the East India house is evident from a story told by Algernon Black in "Macmillan's Magazine" for February, 1879. One morning he "was observed to enter the office hastily, and, in an excited manner, assumed, no doubt, for the occasion, to leave by an opposite door. He appeared no more that day.

"He stated the next morning, in explanation, that as he was passing Leadenhall Market on his way to the office he accidentally trod on a butcher's heel. 'I apologized,' said Lamb, 'to the butcher, but the latter retorted: "Yes, but your excuses won't cure my broken heel, and—me!" said he, seizing his knife. "I'll have it out of you!"

"Lamb fled from the butcher, and in dread of his pursuit dared not remain for the rest of the day at the India house. This story was accepted as a humorous excuse for taking a holiday without leave."—Chicago News.

HIGH PRICES FOR MEERSCHAUM.

The price of meerschaum, which four years ago rose 40 per cent., still remains high, but importers of the article deny that any scarcity exists. The high price is due, they say, to the growing demand in the United States, where of late years there has been a tendency among smokers to discard cigars in favor of a pipe, says The London Standard. Vienna is the great wholesale market for meerschaum, and most of the supply is brought there from Constantinople. On all hands it is complained that it is found impossible to induce the Turks to exert themselves to meet the growing demand, although there is plenty of the raw material to be had. Sales in England, curiously enough, are much smaller than formerly. It is stated by one firm of wholesale dealers that they now sell a hundred briar pipes to one meerschaum, while forty-five years ago they sold at least twelve meerschaums to one briar. Perhaps smokers in these days had more leisure in the matter of buying the dealers say that the wood is growing dearer, while its quality is growing poorer. The same firm has in its possession some display bills of 70 years ago, which proclaim the marvels of meerschaum, then a novelty. The bills, which are printed on silk, announce to "the nobility and public in general" that "this beautiful mineral—the froth of the Sea of Azoff," can now be supplied. Then follows an account of the difficulties with which meerschaum is obtained. The neighborhood of the pits is spoken of as "a wild and fearful scene, such as Shakespeare has described in his 'Lear,'" and the material is said to be "conveyed on camels for days across the immense deserts to Constantinople, where it is used by the ladies of the eastern harems to cleanse their hair."

At the present time there is a considerable amount of second-class meerschaum from which cheap pipes are manufactured, and it is owing to this fact that few serious attempts at imitation are made. Prices are said by dealers to be slightly lower than was the case four years ago, tho still much higher than before the great rise.

Her Choice.

"So you're going to be married in June."

"Yes, I preferred it to going to the coronation."
