MARY ANDERSON, CO-AUTHOR OF "THE GARDEN OF ALLAH," TODAY

Mary Anderson, it is pretty well queenly and classic beauty for which understood by the literary and theatrical world, has been the inspiration ry the man of her choice, speaks volumes for the exquisite beauty of her character. So entirely has do-mesticity swallowed her up that she is absolutely nothing more than a memory to the past generation.

Mary Anderson was born in California, but she was early brought to Louisville, where she attended the Ursuline Convent and the Academy of the Presentation. It is said of her that she was extremely idle and most unsuccessful at school, but Sistter Agnes, her instructor, tells how good she was at reading and recitations, and that she would often recite in such a tragic way that she frightened the youngsters with whom she associated in those days. Mary seems to have there was nothing to suggest the years. Not content with giving recitations, and power behind the throne so to say, in the writing of the dramatic version of Robert Hichens' "Garden of Allah," which comes to the Princess Theatre next week. Allah," which comes to the Princess Theatre next week..

Mr. Hitchen went to New York and superintended the staging of this notable production, and in an interview the celebrated English novelist acknowledged that the play would never have been written had it not been for Mary Anderson.

The fact that "Our Mary," who was perhaps the most feted, admired and superintended the stage in the cellar of the Sultzer home, where the Sultzer boys had riggd up a stage for her to act upon. Mary would always play the heroine, or she would not play at all—even in those days—and in the little dramas that the children got up she usually got her way and played "leads."

It is interesting to think of this wonderful woman's enthusiasm for the stage in those days and how entirely perhaps the most feted, admired and stage in those days and how entirely beloved actress on the American stage she has banished all thought of the ment. Everything will be sent to you in a perfectly plain package so that in your own room, away from all prying eyes, you may plan to reduce your weight at once. Miss Guinan wants to help all who are burdened with superfluous fat, and thereby make life really worth while.

Write her at once, and learn the anguish she felt when her girlish beauty started to develop to abnormal proportions. Read of the tears she wept when that monster "fat" made her realize that she must give up her profession and fade into oblivion. Learn how she experimented, how she tried everything and, finally, with patient effort and determination she on the boards since the days of her youth. One can understand a failure causing a woman to leave the youth. One can understand a land youth. One can understand a land causing a woman to leave the stage than to have to go back to the stage and play "Old Woman." That man is indeed blessed who can recall the can be vision of "Our Mary" when she played in the perfection of her womanhood and beauty.

DUCHESS AND NEGRO ON BIG GAME HUNT

No Women Will Accompany Neapolitan Peeress on Trip to Wilds.

HALF-YEAR IN AFRICA

Tho Her Husband and Her King Wish She Would Stay at Home.

Special Correspondence of The World NAPLES, Sept. 20.—The Duchess of Aosta, who with the Duke of Aosta, has just been in Germany for wedding of her nephew, exex-King Manuel of Portugal, with Princess Victoria Augusta of Hohenzollern, is now making her preparations to quit civilization for six or seven months, and go hunting again in the African jungles.

It is believed that she will go without any female companion at all. Since her last trip she has industriously studied the different African dialects with her negro boy protege and declares herself able to penetrate into the wildersen less retained. and declares herself able to penetrate into the wilderness alone with him.

She will take along only such baggage as the boy can carry on his back. Her dress will consist of leather breeches and a rough shooting coat, with which she will wear heavy top boots of strong leather, made especially for tramping in the forests.

The duchess is going after big game and intends to do some exploring also, following the tracks of some of the following the tracks of some of the following the tracks of some of the famous explorers thru the Congo. She will not explain her plans in detail even to her family, declaring that she does not know them herself in detail. She fully intends, however, to penetrate far into the equatorial district and to fraternize with the natives. No letters are the expected from her forms letters are to be expected from her for months and she does not intend to months and she does not intend to have any reach her from her family. The duchess, who is in her forty-third year, has twice before left her husband and children to explore Africa; first in 1908 and again in 1910. The last time she was gone nearly a year and brought back to Naples such a collection of trophies as to give her a record for big game shooting as good as some of the famous masculine hunters of the world.

She inherits her sportsmanship from her mother, the aged Countess of Paris, having been in her day the best woman shot in Europe, and an absolutely intrepid hunter. Even today she is happiest when dressed in her shooting costume and practically wears it all the time. Then the Duchess of Aosta's eldest brother, the Duke of Orleans, has a good reputation as explorer and huntsman, as well as her second brother, the Duke of Montpepsier.

of Montpensier.

These African journeys which are necessarily full of danger, however carefully the Duchess may consider herself protected, are violently opposed by her husband and the king. In undertaking them the duchess acts in direct consultion to their week. peated remonstrances. But otherwise, she has always had full liberty to leave Italy whenever she pleased.

A GOOD TRIP

A Tate Electric Driven From Toronto to Hamilton.

The representatives of the Tate Electrics, Limited, of Walkerville, Ontario, trics, Limited, of Walkerville, Ontario, adopted a novel method of delivery to their agent, Charles L. Ennis, 284 King street east, at Hamilton, of one of their 1,000-pound delivery wagons, by driving same under its own power from their Toronto showrooms. The route selected was over the Dundas road out of Toronto, thru Cooksville, then via Oakville and Middle road to Burlington and Lake shore road into Hamilton.

The distance traveled was 54 miles over rough and sandy roads, with numerous hills and grades. The average running time was 9½ miles per hour, and the cost of operation at Hamilton current rates was approximately 1-2 cent per mile. mately 1-3 cent per mile.

The car delivered to Mr. Ennis was one of Tate's standard 1,000-pound delivery wagons, with worm gear drive, being provided with their regular equipment. The trip of the Tate car equipment. The trip of the Tate car was interesting, due to the fact that an erroneous impression usually prevails that electric cars are only serviceable for short runs in cities under ideal conditions, but the Tate cars are capable of operating under all conditions, at a cost per ton mile extremely low, compared with other methods of hauling, and together with the extreme simplicity of their construction assures the user of low maintenance cost. The Tate electrics manufacture a complete line of both electric and commercial cars, and are a distinctively Canadian product, being manufactured in Canada and backed by Canadian capital.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—A somewhat pathetic story about Caruso is printed in the Cri de Paris to the effect that the great tenor is no longer the idol of the public he once was. According to local gossip in operatic circles Caruso falled to draw a house for his performance in La Boheme at Covent Garden, London, and so small was the advance booking that at the eleventh hour the ticket speculators presented an enormous petition to Mme. Melba urging her to sing with Caruso, wise all the poor ticket speculators would be ruined.

The story goes that Melba arranges with the Covent Garden directors to sing with Caruso and so saved the day for the ticket sellers, who reaped large profits. The story adds that to console him in his dressing room:

"No, Caruso is no longer the first tenor of the world. Now he is only a poor baritone."

"There are no enemas or flushing of the colon, no harmful massaging, no sweating garments to wear, no immerging yourself in hot baths with the tub filled with obesity water or epsom salts, nor does it include any medical concoction of any doctor, and it has nothing to do with any drug store prescription to have filled. There is no formula to carry out, no soaps to rub on the skin; neither is it a religious faith cure or Christian Science stunt. It is not a vibratory electric massage treatment, mental suggestion—no, and it is not a belt or machanical device of any kind.

"I have tried many such fakes. I tried drugs, pills, capsules, harmful concoctions to rub on the body. I have tried sweating and taking Turkish baths, exersising, physical culture and everything kinown to science without result, and known to science without result, and without losing weight. As I was about to despair and give up in disgust all further offorts to reduce my enormous weight, which was two hundred and four pounds, I, by lucky accident, learned of the most simple, harmless, rapid, safest far reducing treatment on earth. I stried to on myself with astonishing results, My friends stood aghast in amazement, night and the grace and the most fascinating appearance. My fat just rolled away. After the first three days I noticed it beginning to leave me. My reduction grew greater and greater until finally, I was almost appealed with delight when I realized the stupendous success of my efforts and when I awoke to the fact that I had reduced 70 pounds of my faw winkle, and the glory of my new figure and the grace and beauty of my curves gave me the admiration of the world. I enjoyed the triumph of my life and the success of my whole career when my manager, Mr. Shubert, on account of my glorious new figure, made me the star of the "Passing Show," and mind you, this very same manager had said I was doomed to oblivion just a short time before when I tipped the scales at two hundred and four pounds. be sent free to all who wish to reduce their weight any number of pounds."

It is simply astonishing the furore this new treatment is causing among the intimate friends of Miss Guinan to whom she has given it. A letter from the world's most famous dancer, La Petite Adelaide, says: "Dear Miss Guinan: Let me congratulate you upon the high excellence of your remarkable new obesity treatment, which I find reduces me as rapidly as I desire. Sincerely, Adelaide." Other letters of praise and gratitude are pouring in to Miss Guigan from all parts of the country from those who have reduced with her successful treatment. Louise Brunelle, the Quaker maid, one of the earth's greatest beauties, states she lost 10 pounds the first week with this astonishing new treatment. It is said this remarkable treatment is not unlike the treatment used by the court ladies and famous actresses of the Old World, who have been using a similar remedy throughout Europe, and the remarkable thing is that Texas Guinan is the first to introduce it in America. Her, free book, which is now ready for distribution, should be requested by all who desire quick reduction. It is written in a fascinating style. It explains how, by her treatment. Texas Guinan, who is acknowledged America's most successful star, reduced her own weight seventy pounds, and conquered the monster FAT.
