On Tuesday evening the Lecture Room of Bridge St. Church was crowded with delegates and friends of the Woman's Missionary Society. Rev. John Learoyd presided. An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Dr. Carman, to which Mrs. Whiston, of Halifax, responded on behalf of the Society.

A valuable paper, "One Church for the Mission Field," prepared by Mrs. Graham, of Exeter, was read by Mrs. Detlor, after which Miss Cartmell gave an interesting account of the Girls' School at Tokyo, and the progress of evangelistic work in that place.

A large audience assembled in the Bridge St. Church on Wednesday evening, to hear the principal address of the Convention. Rev. Jos. Young in the chair. Miss May Donely sang, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," after which Mrs. Kennard Chandler, of Ocean Grove, N. J., was introduced. She gave an earnest, stimulating address as she pictured scenes in heathen lands witnessed by herself, and referred to the apparently weak instrumentality which God was making so powerful—namely, woman carrying the Gospel to her sister, shut in otherwise from its blessed light, and closed with an urgent appeal for a larger membership and more generous subscriptions to this Society.

Mrs. W. E. Ross, Montreal, sang with pleasing effect, "Forever with the Lord," and after a collection the meeting closed with the benediction.
