

MR. DOOLEY

On the Bringing Up of Children

By FINLEY PETER DUNNE

"Did ye ever see a man as proud iv anything as Hogan is iv that kid iv his?" said Mr. Dooley.
"Walt till he's had liven," said Mr. Hennessy.
"Oh, iv course," said Mr. Dooley. "Ye have contimpt fr an amachoor father that has only wan offspring. An ol' professional parent like ye, that's practically done nawthin' all yer life but be a father to helpless childer, don't understand th' emotions iv th' author iv a limited edition. But Hogan don't care. So far as I am able to judge no case must they kiss, hug, or fondle their progeny."
"Many disease, such as lumbago pain in th' chest, premenstrual chilliness, neuralgic rheumatism, which are prevalent among adults, can be communicated to a child fr'm th' parent. Besides, it is bar fr th' moral nature iv th' infant. Affection fr its parents is wan iv th' mos' dangerous symptoms iv rickets. Th' parents may not be worthy iv th' love iv a thurly sturized child."
"An infant's first jooty is to th' doctor, to whom it owes its bein' an' stayin'. Childer ar-er imitative, an' if they see much iv their parents they may grow up to look like them. That wud be a groat misfortune. If parents see their childer befur they enter Harvard they ar-er fridden to teach them foolish wurds like "poppe" an' "moomma." At twelve th' child may eat a shreded biscuit. At forty th' little tot may have stewed prunes. An' so on. At no time, however, should th' child be shuffled with green peas, pork an' beans, onions, Boston baked, brown-bread, saleratus biscuit, or other food. "It's wonderful," says Hogan, "th' way they've got it rayjooed to a science. They can almost make a short baby long or a blond baby black be addin' to th' rayjooed th' amount iv potities an' casens in th' milk," he says.
"Haven't ye ever kissed yer young?" says I. "Wanst in awhile," he says. "Whin I'm thurly disinfectid I go up an' blow a kiss at him through th' window," he says.
"Well, says I, 'it may be all right,' I says, 'but if I cud have a son an' heir, without causin' talk I bet ye I'd not apply fr a permit fr'm th' health board, I bet ye I'd come together. Parents was made before children anyhow, an' they have a prine claim to be considered."
How the Present Race of Heroes Was Brought Up.
"Sure, it may be a good thing to bring him up on a sanitary plan, but I salute a dish-rag as a recent infant, but I always do it. So I put on an allurin' smile, an' says I, 'Well, little ol' goosy gon, he will give his Dooley-lums a kiss?'"
"At that minit Hogan seized me by th' collar an' thrashed me away fr'm th' cradle. 'Wad ye kill me, child?' says he. 'How?' says I. 'With a kiss,' says he. 'Am I that bad?' says I. 'Don't ye know that there ar-er nicks, robes that can be thrashed into an infant in a kiss?' says he.
"Well," says I, with indignation, 'I'm not proud iv meself an' an anti-septic American,' I says, 'but in an encounter between me an' that there young cannibal, I says, 'I'll have it th' board iv health who takes th' bigest chance,' followed by a howl fr'm th' projoir. 'He's singin',' says Hogan. 'He has lost his notes,' says I.
"The Scientific Treatment of Children.
"Whin we got down stairs Hogan gives me a lecture on th' bringin' up iv childer. As though I needed it, me-th' been consulted on bringin' up half th' childer in Archway Road. 'In th' old days,' says he, 'childer was brought up catch-as-catch-can,' he says. 'But th' different now. They're as carefully watched as a geranium in a conservatory,' he says.
"I have a book here on th' subject," he says. Here it is. Th' first thing that shud be done fr a child is to deprive it iv its parents. Th' less th' infant sees iv poppa an' moomma th' better fr him. If they ar-er so base as to want to look at th' little darlin' they shud first be examined by a competent physician to see that there is nawthin' wrong with them that they cud give th' baby. They will think take a bath iv sulphuric acid, an' havin' carefully attired themselves in a sturignoble affection an' love at wanst. In "Whin I was thurly perfumed he intrajooed me to a toothless ol' gentleman who was settin' up in a cradle atin' his right foot."

fr'm what he says, his is th' ol' perfect an' complete child that has been projoiced th' cinchery.
"I want around to see this here projoiced th' other day. Hogan met me at th' dure.
"Wipe off yer feet," says he. "Why," says I. "Baby," says he. "Mickrobes," he says.
"He thin conducted me to a basin iv water, an' instructed me to wash me hands in a preparation iv carbolic acid. Whin I was thurly perfumed he intrajooed me to a toothless ol' gentleman who was settin' up in a cradle atin' his right foot.
"Ain't he fine?" says Hogan. "Wonderful," says I. "Did ye ever see such an expression?" says he. "Niver," says I. "As Hiven is m' judge, niver," Hogan at his lair," he says. "I will," says I. "Ain't his eyes beautiful?" he says. "Aye," I says. "Ar-er they glass or only imitation?" says he.
"An' thim cunning little feet," says he. "On close inspection," says I, "yes, they ar-er." They ar-er feet. "Ye'er spring don't know it, though," he says. "He thinks that wan is a doughnut." "He's not as old as he looks," says Hogan. "He couldn't be," says I. "He looks old enough to be th' th' Supreme Court. Why, he's lost most iv his teeth," I says. "Go wan," says he; "he's just gettin' thim." He has two uppers an' two lowers, he says. "If he had a few more he'd be a sleepin'-ear," says I. "Sure," says Hogan. "Say, poppa," he says. "Gah," says Hogan. "Hear that?" says Hogan. "That's poppa. Say moomma," says he. "Gah," says th' projoir. "That's moomma," says Hogan. "See, here's mother Dooley," says he. "Blub," says th' phenomenon. "Look at that," says Hogan; "he knows ye," he says. "Well, ye know, Himesey, wan iv th' things that has me poppy in th' ward is that I make a bluff at adordin' childer. Between ye an' me, I'd as love salute a dish-rag as a recent infant, but I always do it. So I put on an allurin' smile, an' says I, 'Well, little ol' goosy gon, he will give his Dooley-lums a kiss?'"

QUIET BURGLAR
TAKES JEWELS
WORTH $10,000

Ransacks House of Louis Chalf, Dancing Teacher, While Members of Family are in Nearby Rooms.

New York, Jan. 17.—The theft of $10,000 worth of jewelry and $120 in cash on Thursday night by a robber who worked to quietness that he did not disturb two sons of the family, one reading, the other sleeping, in adjoining rooms, was reported to the police by Louis Chalf, dancing teacher, of 165 West Fifty-seventh Street.
Evidently the burglar was frightened away when a third son of the family, Hyman, entered the bedroom from the hall, and a diamond bar pin was on the window sill, a pearl necklace was found on the fire escape and a pair of pearl earrings in the courtyard.
Other evidence that he was frightened away, according to Mr. Chalf, is shown by the fact that he left more jewelry untouched than he took with him, as well as the fact that he overlooked a considerable sum of money hidden in a closet in the room in which he operated. The articles taken, which were said to have been insured for $40,000, were described as a platinum necklace set with 105 diamonds; a lavalliere, set with pear-shaped diamonds; a pearl necklace with two diamond clasps; a flexible platinum bracelet set with diamonds and a Tiffany clock.
Was to Wear Jewelry.
Mr. Chalf explained that the jewelry had been taken from the safe deposit box and placed in a bureau in preparation for Mrs. Chalf's wearing it last night to the performance of the Moscow Art Theatre.
The only clues to the burglar's identity, according to Detectives Ferguson and Walsh of the West Forty-seventh Street station, are fingerprints on the silverware left behind, and a footprint on the pillowcase. Besides working so quietly that he did not arouse the suspicion of either Edward or Samuel Chalf, who were in neighboring rooms, the intruder entered through a window which had been closed for a long time, and which a window cleaner was unable to open a few days ago. He also succeeded in mounting and attending the fire escape without attracting the attention of a large watch dog continually on guard at the bottom of the ladder.
BRYAN TO TRY AGAIN FOR THE PRESIDENCY?
Washington, Jan. 17.—(By Canadian Press)—Can William Jennings Bryan "come back" politically?
This is a question being freely asked in political circles just now. In little more than a year, the nominations for the presidency will be made and talk is rife over the available in both parties, although there is little now to indicate that President Harding will not be renominated by the Republicans.
Colonel Bryan, three times candidate for president, and secretary of state under the Wilson regime up to the time when he was practically forced out, has been in Washington in recent weeks. With his departure, there started reports, known to be well-founded, that some of his old admirers were at work to make him the presidential nominee of his party next year. Colonel Bryan, it appears, is not averse to such activity on the part of his old followers, and has not entirely given up his earlier ambition to be president.
As the Bryan followers now plan it, they would put him at the head of the ticket with an eastern conservative and perhaps a west in second place on the ticket. As they see it, Bryan would draw a great number of votes of progressive Republicans and of farmers in the Republican party who are deeply dissatisfied with the Government's course toward agriculture.
The practical difficulty of the Bryan men is that the democratic organization would make it hard for them to select anything like a majority of the delegates to the democratic national convention. Nevertheless, it cannot be denied Colonel Bryan still has millions of adherents in the United States; he is in the pink of health and condition; his brother, Charles, has been elected governor of Nebraska, and he is sure to be a factor when the democratic convention meets.
MAYOR DIES AT DANCE
Taylorsville, Ill., Jan. 18.—William Motley, forty-two years old, Mayor of Kincaid, Ill., a mining town, ten miles northwest of here, and Tony Matano, a miner, are dead as a result of a shooting fray which took place at a dance hall at Kincaid.
Mayor Motley and Town Marshal Vincini were called to the hall where a disturbance had broken out. As soon as the officials arrived, shooting be-

LEWISTON, TRULL HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION OF BILDEFORD, WALDO COUNTY GENERAL HOSPITAL OF BILDEFORD, HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION OF BILDEFORD, HOSPITAL OF YORK VILLAGES, GOOD SAMARITAN HOME OF BANGOR, HOME MISSION FOR THE DEAF, AND BANGOR ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS INSTITUTION.

These institutions received from the state, $101,768.52 in 1921 and $188,500 in 1922. An extra quarter mill of State tax would be required each year to aid these institutions in 1924 and 1925 to the same extent as the two previous years, according to the budget committee.

OPENS BAG IN SCHOOL FINDS PISTOL AND HOOTCH

Providence, R. I., Jan. 17.—Miss Mabel R. Wood of East Providence, a teacher in the public schools of this city, is a firm believer in the Eighteenth Amendment. She would not knowingly violate any of its regulations. But one of the vagaries of transferring hurriedly from one car line to another caused her to swap Boston bags with a bootlegger. Thus, innocently enough, she became a party to the transportation of liquor.
These are the circumstances that led her to carry to her schoolroom a bottle of "white mule" and a pistol. Her next act, of course, was to report the occurrence to the police, who have little hope that the man who sat next to Miss Wood on the street car will do the same.
Miss Wood and the police do hope, however, that the man will be court-martialed enough at least to mail her Boston bag, which contains examination papers of her pupils, a pair of eyeglasses and a ten-dollar bill, to her home.

Syrup Pepsin Loved By Hosts of Babies

Half a teaspoonful will make a fretful youngster happy and playful.
THE mother has her choice of many remedies for her baby's minor ills, but she should be careful which remedy she selects lest she do the child harm. What might be safe for herself may do injury to an infant. You will find that if the little one cries and doesn't want to play that its bowels are constipated. First look carefully to the diet and give the child one-half teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. You will then see results in a few hours. You will not have to force it on babies or children; they actually ask for it, it is so pleasant-tasting and free from gripping.
Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The ingredients are stated on the package. It is a mild, gentle vegetable laxative that everyone finds effective and pleasant. It is better for you and yours than purgatives, coal-tar drugs, or salt waters and powders, which may concentrate the blood and dry up the skin; or mercurial calomel, which may salivate and loosen the teeth.
Use a safe laxative like Syrup Pepsin, and especially for the children, for invalids, growing girls, nursing mothers, elderly people, and persons recently operated upon who need bowel action with the least strain. Mrs. H. Leffever of Medicine Hat, Alberta, always gives her little girl Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. May Stephen Sharpe of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., is never without it in her home. Your druggist will supply you, and it costs only a cent a dose. Try it in constipation, colic, biliousness, flatulency, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds.
TAKE DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN LAXATIVE The family remedy
