COUNSEL FOR ST. PIERRE IS HEARD TODAY

(Special to The Times.)

Edmundston, N. B., March 17.—The defence opened its appeal to the jury this morning, when A. T. LeBlanc, counsel for William St. Pierre, commenced summing up the grounds on which the prisoner sought to be acquitted of the charge of murdering Miss Minnie Stevens on the night of October 11, 1920. Considerable excitement was occasioned this morning when efforts were made by the crowd to storm the court house and gain entrance before the trial was opened. The excitement quickly subsided, only one getting past the constable on the door and he was later ejected.

The prisoner seemed to show the strain somewhat more than he had previously done and looked as though he had passed a restless night.

Mr. LeBlanc expressed his regret at not being able to address the jury in the French language. He outlined the case for the crown, and in an eloquent appeal set out what he said were weak spots. He said the crown showed that St. Pierre was at the top of a hill on Canada street at 8.55. The crown next showed him at the brick school house in all its theories. Council contended that the testimony of Miss Cyr, Miss Stonge and Frank Carrier refuted the testimony of Charles Magoon, who said he saw the accused near the scene of the crime. Mr. LeBlanc made a strong attack on the evidence of Magoon and quoted alleged discrepancies between his evidence at the trial and the preliminary hearing. Council contended that the body had remained on the bank the best part of the night and had been thrown in the river the next morning. He said that according to crown evidence, the girl was alive after nine o'clock; she could not have reached the scene of the crime before 9.05; Magoon said the accused at 9.10, thus giving the murderer only five minutes in which to do the deed. If St. Pierre had killed the girl, he would also have murdered Magoon to hide his crime. Council contended that more than one man did the deed.

LOCAL EVENTS OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Dominican Father Preacher at Cathedral Mass

Speaks of Irish People's Retention of the Catholic Faith—The Shamrock in Evidence.

Today, March 17, Irishmen and the sons of Irishmen all over the world are celebrating the feast of the patron saint of the Emerald Isle, St. Patrick, the apostle of Ireland. And today it is with pride that men of Irish ancestry wear in their hats a sprig of shamrock, the plant taken by St. Patrick to demonstrate the Trinity. It is worthy of note that only on this date is a British soldier allowed to wear any "unregimental" decoration, it being laid down in the army regulations that on March 17 soldiers of Irish descent will be permitted to carry a piece of shamrock on the left side of their caps.

Many of the business houses in the city today carried flags in which the green ensign with the golden harp was conspicuous. In all the Catholic churches mass was celebrated in honor of the occasion.

Dominican Preacher.

In the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception at ten o'clock high mass was celebrated by one of the Dominican priests who are in the city on missionary work. Rev. Father Shiel was celebrant; Rev. Father Mackin, deacon, and Rev. Father Fogarty, sub-deacon. His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc, Rev. Wm. M.
Duke, Rev. H. Ramage and Rev. Abbe Casagrand were in the sanctuary. The mass was sung by the male choir, under the direction of Rev. A. P. Allen, with A. S. Goudas as organist, who also played Irish airs during the service.

A sermon appropriate to the day was given by Father Mackin. He first sketched the life of Ireland's patron saint and related the events leading up to his mission with the Irish people.

St. Patrick, he said, led his people into the light of God's faith, put it down deep into the hearts of Ireland's loving children where it is today after 1,600 years, and it is safe to say that it will remain there until the end of time. We should honor this saint today. We should rejoice in and cherish the faith which teaches whence we came and where we are going. The faith which St. Patrick placed in the hearts of our forefathers taught these truths.

Ireland, he said, has stood out as an example to the world. Her universities have invited people to come from all over the world in spite of the persecutions that have been carried on against her.
From the sixteenth to the nineteenth century the people of Ireland were persecuted, but it is to their honor that they did not lose their faith. They had taken from them their language and their church, but the faith that God gave them could not be crushed out today.
A people of clean mind and clean heart, with the example of St. Patrick leading them on, they remained staunch and steadfast throughout their tribulations.

We glory in our ancestry, Father Mackin said; we glory in the great good they have accomplished; let us therefore use the faith of our forefathers to guide us in the practice of good works; let us imitate the glowing virtues of St. Patrick.

People have wondered how this holy man in his life time could have accom- plished the great work which he did.

We are told that after a life time in the service of God, a life time of zeal and holiness, he was taken down on a bed of fever from which he never rose. He will go down in history as the saintliest man, the sweetest priest and the kindest bishop that ever adorned the Church of God.

MORE ABOUT HOTEL PROJECT FOR ST. JOHN

That general interest has been manifested in the possibility of St. John as a large hotel centre is shown by communications to the St. John Board of Trade recently received from several corporations in the United States interested in hotel promotion. One of these corporations has asked for detailed information with regard to the hotel situation in general, such as possible sites and other information in connection with such a proposition. In furnishing such information a suggestion was made that those interested confer with hotel organizations and transportation interests that have been looking into the matter of building a hotel in this city.

An invitation was extended to them to pay St. John a visit and get a per- sonal idea of the situation. A reply yesterday thanked the board of trade for the information and said they would carry out the suggestion offered and hope to visit St. John very soon.

WOODEN PISTOL SCARES GIRL; THIEF LOOTS BAKE SHOP

Boston, March 17.—While Miss Annie Porter was at work in a Back Bay bake shop last night, a masked man entered the premises and pointed at the girl what the supposed was a pistol. As she fled he looted the cash drawer. In escaping the man dropped the weapon. It was made of wood.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE.

Montreal, March 17.—The local stock exchange was very quiet during the early trading this morning, and only four of the leaders put in an appearance within the first half hour. Abitibi closed 44, sagging later to 43½. Dominion Steel was unchanged at 40, as was also
