MINERS VOTE TO KEEP UP STRIKE

Vote Against Settlement is Official Announcement—
Other British Labor Matters.

London, June 17.—(Canadian Associated Press)—The result of the British miners vote will not be fully known till today, but the bulk of the figures available show the ballot heavily against acceptance.

The way the dispute has been allowed to drift and the failure of the miners' leaders to offer advice or recommendations to the districts on the issue involved in the ballot are said to be causes of serious dissatisfaction in some quarters, and the consequence may be that men will now take matters into their own hands and gradually return work under their own arrangements regarding that, however, more may be known after a meeting of the miners' executive today.

The ballot appears to have been taken the most casual way. The miners' union has about 1,000,000 members, but a majority did not bother to vote.

The settlement of the dispute between the masters and men in the Lancashire cotton industry has given much satisfaction. Half a million workers were involved.

The situation in the engineering trades, however, suggests grave doubts for the future, and there are signs of trouble in several other industries over proposed actions in wages.

LATER

London, June 17.—The ballot of the miners on the question of a strike settlement favors a continuation of the strike, it was officially announced this noon.

ROCKS DOWN IN WALL STREET

New York, June 17.—(10.30)—The stock market opened on a note of gloom and pessimism, and the first half hour, however, the market again lapsed into its recent weakness. Atlantic Gulf common and preferred were especially weak, losing 1-2 to 3 points at low levels. New York Air Brake, Harvester, Standard Oil of New Jersey, and American Woolen showed losses of 1 to 1-2 points. A few drifting gains among sugar related securities soon were cancelled.

Steel and equipment led the more extensive declines of the morning. U. S. Steel fell one point to 73-3/4, its low price in several years. American and Baldwin Locomotive, General Electric and Harvester lost two to four points. Mexican Petroleum broke to 104-1/2 after rallying to 109. Louisville and Nashville receded five points and other rails were inclined to fall back. American Woolen and Sears Roebuck forfeited one to four points. Offerings of call money extending into next week at 9 1/2 per cent were without influence on the stock market.

ANCIENT LORE AND MODERN QUOTATION

(New York Evening Post.) America, says the London Daily News, is in favor of an association of nations, but "the basis of the existing league of forty-eight nations with bell, book, and candle."

"Bell, book and candle" refers to a ceremony introduced into the greater communication of the church in the eighth century. By it offenders were banned from the body of the church and cut off from communication with their fellows. The name is taken from certain gestures which occur in the rite: Cursed be they from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot. Out be they taken of the book of life. (The book is shut.)

"And as this candle is cast from the sight of men so be their souls cast from the sight of God into the deepest pit of hell." (The candle is cast on the ground.) "Amen."

The rubric adds: "And then the candle, being dashed on the ground and quenched, let the bell be rung." The bell was tolled for one dead. From that moment the person excommunicated was regarded as dead, being excluded from the sacraments, and even from divine worship.

In "King John" Shakespeare makes one of his characters say: "Bell, book, and candle shall not drive me back when gold and silver beck me to come." Bells have always played a great part in the ritual of the church, especially in medieval times. At one time the bells of the church were consecrated with great solemnity and ceremony, were sprinkled with holy water and anointed, and in some cases there was even a complete baptismal service before they were called upon to ring for all joyous and mournful occasions. There are still surviving many old church bells which show that superstitious ideas prevailed as to the power of sacred bells to dispel storms, confound evil spirits or put an end to war, famine, and plague.

In France it is still by no means unusual to ring church bells to ward off the evil effects of lightning.

The "passing bell" was rung in order to scare away evil spirits from a person who was passing away. The demons were believed to lurk in wait for the soul, ready to pounce upon it as it left the body, to its resting place. A secondary object was to announce to the neighborhood the passage of the soul, and to request all good Christians who heard the bell to pray for the departing brother or sister. By the eighteenth century, however, the custom of ringing the "passing bell" fell into disuse, and for it was substituted the tolling of the bell after death. The custom is very ancient. The Athenians used to beat on brazen kettles, at the moment of decease, to scare away the Furies.

During the celebration of mass the "sanctus bell" or "sacring bell" is rung. Before or after service the people listened to the ringing of the "pardon bell," sounded to summon men to pray for the forgiveness of their personal sins.

In former times much importance was attached to the ringing of church bells by means of changes on a peal. Four bells give twenty-four changes, eight give 40,320, and twelve permit of 479,001,600 changes. At one time there were schools for the teaching of bell-ringing, the science or art being known as "campanology."

The war damage to France has been estimated at 218,552,500,000 francs, made up as follows: Industrial damage, 38,883,000,000 francs; towns, houses, 36,893,000,000 francs; furniture and fixtures, 25,119,000,000 francs; land, live stock, agriculture, 21,672,000,000 francs; State property, 1,968,000,000 francs; colonies and Algeria, 10,000,000 francs; Public works, 2,283,000,000 francs; monetary damages, 2,960,000,000 francs; special damages, 2,095,000,000 francs; 5 per cent interest on 33 billions, November 11, 1918 to May 1, 1921, 4,125,000,000 to which is added 77,894,000,000 for military and civil pensions allowances, etc.

According to official estimates the amount still to be expended for complete restoration is 26,000,000,000 francs, pre-war value, and this figure will have to be multiplied to provide for the present high cost of material, so that it is possible that the actual expenditure will range between 80,000,000,000 and 130,000,000,000 francs.

North Carolina has had at least ten capitals, including Bath, Edenton, Brunswick, Wilmington, Newbern, Hillsboro, Smithfield, Fayette and Raleigh. The reason for so many lay in the custom prior to 1791 of transferring the seat of government to the place of residence of the governor or the temporary meeting place of the assembly. In 1791 one square mile of land was purchased for the foundation of Raleigh as the permanent seat of government. At present the city covers four square miles.

MARINE NOTES

The R. M. S. P. Chaudiere sailed from Bermuda this morning for St. John with passengers, mail and general cargo. She is expected to arrive here about Monday noon. William Thomson & Co. are the local agents.

Recent shipping advice received from New York say that chartering was fairly active during the week in the steamer market, the bulk of the fixtures being for prompt boats for coal cargoes to try Atlantic destinations. There was a limited amount of chartering for grain cargoes but very little for any other kind of business. The demand for additional tonnage continues steady, most of which is for prompt loading, but only a limited amount of tonnage is available. Rates are firmly up but only a moderate tonnage is light and is confined almost entirely to the coasting and West India trades. Rates are steady at the low basis recently quoted, but only a moderate amount of tonnage offers.

In the list of charters for the week under the head of "Miscellaneous" appears that of the "British steamer Maplecourt, 2036 tons, St. John, N. B., to the U. K., sugar, private terms; prompt." This ship is owned by the U. S. S. R. of sugar at the Atlantic sugar refinery wharf last week and sailed on Sunday, clearing for Liverpool. Nagle & Wigmore are the local agents.

"There's a Reason"

LATE SPORT NEWS

Atlantic City, N. J., June 17.—With Jack Dempsey back in his training ground today, development of the champion's speed to match that of Carpentier is the chief aim of his handlers. He will be called upon to do more boxing with smaller and lighter sparring partners. He weighed 194 pounds yesterday, according to Kearns.

Manhasset, N. Y., June 17.—Spectators were strictly excluded from the French fighter's camp today and Carpentier put in a hard day of real work under the supervision of his trainers.

Bill Brennan, of Chicago, who was defeated by Dempsey, saw Carpentier yesterday. He said:—"Carpentier seems to be in splendid condition, and he is a neat boxer and fast on his feet. He seems to pack a good punch, but it does not appear to me that he will have much of a chance against Dempsey. If the world's champion lands one of his left hooks in Carpentier's stomach, it will settle the fight then and there. From Carpentier's boxing style I would say he is not a hard man to hit."

Charles J. Harvey, manager of Plott's, English middleweight champion said:—"If Dempsey is not in better condition on July 2, than he was in the bout with Brennan, I think the Frenchman will have a fine chance to win."

Mount Clemens, Mich., June 17.—The feature of the short ship meeting here yesterday was the 213 pace, won by Maybelle Direct, from a large field. The 215 trot was taken by Carletta, the favorite, in straight heats. The 210 trot brought out a field of five high class trotters and resulted in a hard fought victory for Patrick Todd, after four heats. The 517 pace was won by Billy Sn, in three straight heats.
