It is proposed to making the opening concert more of a social gathering than heretofore, and the officers are perfecting arrangements to entertain a few of their friends in the mess. All members of the regiment attending the concert are ordered to be in uniform, and will be dmitted free as in the past.

Last evening when the weekly "office" was held was a busy night, as indeed every Wednesday has been this month. there being quite a small rush of recruits present, showing that the stricter discipline and smart appearance of the regient is having its effect on the public mind, which is a source of much ouragement to the commanding officer nd his energetic staff. Already one c pany officer is considering the prospe of refusing recruits, having only two more vacancies. All recruits are pu through a strict scrutiny by the re nental doctor as to heighth, neasurement, soundness of wind, limb and eyesight, before being handed over to the commanding officer to take the bath of allegiance. The effect of all this on the physique and morale of the regient is becoming more apparent every day, and is thoroughly appreciated by the better class of men. There are now practically no dead heads or paper soldiers, and by present appearance the regiment will be up to full strength beore the regular drill season commences in January.
